Mater Dei High School

Santa Ana, California 92707

Advisor: Mrs. Tanya Dhuyvetter
Editor-In-Chief: Michele Steinmetz

To Cardinal Timothy Manning on the occasion of his retirement as Archbishop of Los Angeles, the Mater Dei family sends its love and prayers.

Cardinal Manning has been a shepard in our Church for nearly four decades in an era of incredible growth and change. His vision was instrumental in the building of Mater Dei High School. He has loved, prayed for, and supported us throughout.

Of all the blessings for which we can thank him, none is greater than his leadership and encouragement in our devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. From Mater Dei's naming to the present moment, he has been for us her son in service.

Our prayer is that Mary will companion His Eminence in these, his golden years, ad multos annos. We are confident that because of his love and faith, in this glorious evening of his life, he will hear her Son speaking softly, "Well done."

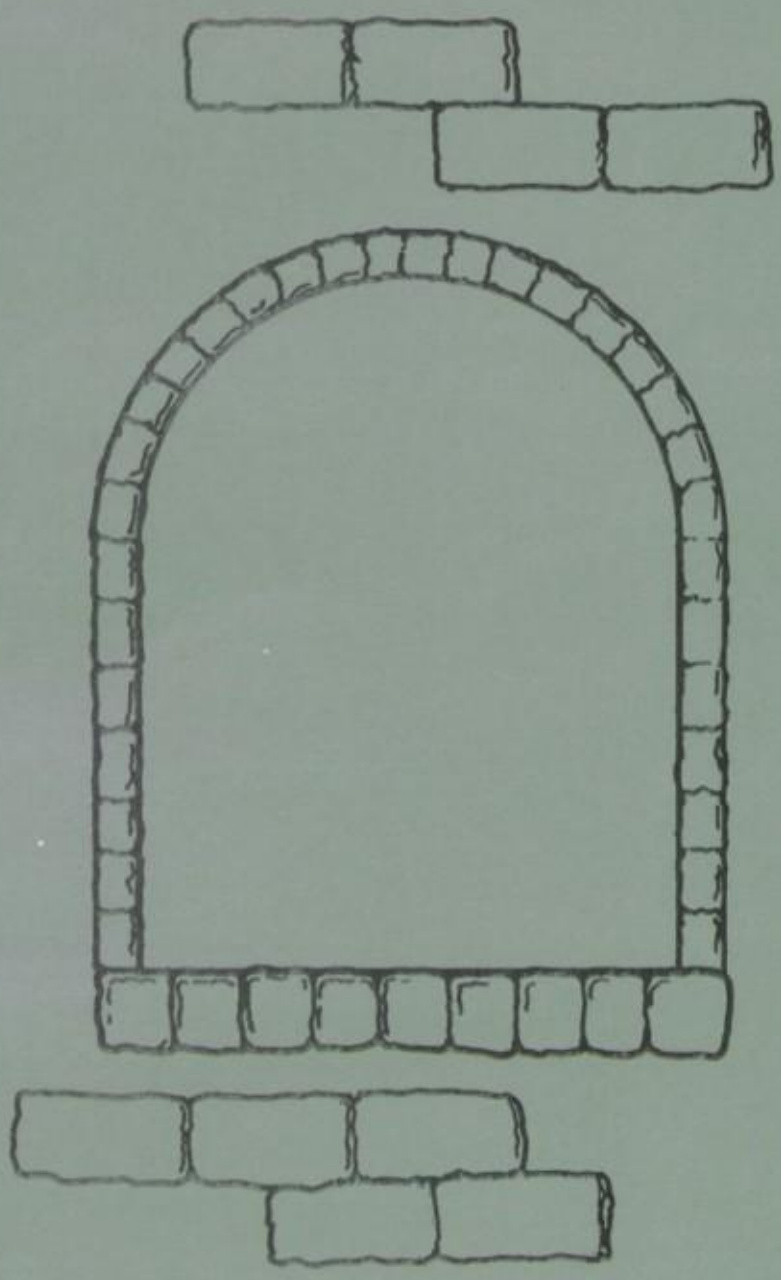
Let The Festivities Begin!



As the beach towels were put away and the suntan lotion retired for the winter, the sounds of school were just around the corner. With this came the excitement of seeing school friends again. By the time the orientation days came to a close, everyone was caught up on the summer news. Students shared their travel stories, relating the incidents that a trip to Mexico or Europe offered.

Along with the new classes, many new activities took place within the first quarter of the school year. Such activities were designed to welcome both the new and returning faculty and staff, as well as the students. The year got off to a great start for the students with the traditional Welcome Dance. Students from all levels danced to the sounds of Scotty the d.j. as bubbles floated through the air. A sense of great expectation was felt by all.

The combination of school spirit and great action resulted in tremendous turnouts at the many sporting events. The football teams were supported even more by the Spirit Weeks on all grade levels. These spirit weeks provided special activities during the lunch periods which enabled everyone to get involved. Each week was ended by a fun-filled rally which got the crowds ready for that evening's exciting game. The classes also got a chance to get together at their picnics which were held at Mile Square Park. They spent the afternoon playing volleyball, softball, and football.

With all of these activities taking place it was hard not to be busy. It was clear to all that this would be a year of Regal memories.

Ascending The Throne . . .

1. Lunch hour proves to be a time for sharing the day's latest gossip, catching up on studying, and devouring lunch. With her friends, Michelle Dougherty takes a break to flash her pretty smile. 2. As soon as the final bell of the day sounds, students rush frantically out of their classrooms and go wild in the corridors. One of these students shows his excitement of making it through another day and celebrates with a gymnastic leap around a pole. 3. Senior-Freshman section reps enjoy participating in the Freshman Spirit Week activities. Rep Christy Jewett and freshman Joe ham it up during Hawaiian Holidays week. 4. Best pals Alicia Alcarez and Tanya Downey convey the enthusiasm that is indicative of their spirited senior class. Four years of friendship makes for a very strong bond — one that will last beyond high school.

1. In an animated recapping of this past weekend's activities, Kathy Harrington uses hand gestures to get the point across. Mondays are filled with news! 2. The combination of school work, jobs, and social life leaves many students exhausted by week's end. John Anderson finds time for a quick afternoon siesta. 3. The Welcome Dance provides an opportunity to join together and to start the new year off with a fun memory. Popping bubbles to the beat of the music, Holly Laninghan and Tina Tracey start the school year off with a bang. 4. Assisting each other before tests, students help to share the burden of studying. Mike Frayne explains a complicated chemistry problem to Robert Radar.

Mater Dei Sports . . .

Excellent coaches and dedicated athletes combine to make superior athletic teams. Mater Dei is one of the few Orange County schools that excels not only in one sport, but in all.

Long before the books were opened in September, the athletes were out on the practice fields and courts preparing for the season. As school began, many hours were spent in intense training after school and on weekends. After exhaustive days, athletes returned home to hit the books and prepare for their classes. It was obvious that they were able to achieve a balance between athletics and academics while working hard at both.

Many of the athletes will attest to the fact that their success would not have been as great if it had not been for the support of their loyal fans and booster clubs. An integral part of Mater Dei athletics, the booster clubs were supportive not only with their avid cheering in the stands, but also in raising money to help with team needs. They and the fans did their best to make the season as prosperous as possible for the athletes.

Of the many things that sports taught the athletes, perhaps the most important was how to face the challenges of everyday life, and to come out as a winner. These athletes are truly winners no matter what the scoreboard reflects.

Taking part in the freshman spirit week, Sr. Benilda displays her Hawaiian roots.

We Are A Royal Breed.

The theme chosen for the 1985-86 Crown was Royalty. This was selected because it truly represented Mater Dei's honor, glory & love. Mater Dei is one of the most prestigious Catholic high schools on the West Coast. People outside of our school feel that we are true Monarchs as well as servants to the community. We are the largest coed Catholic high school west of the Mississippi with an enrollment of 2,300 students.

Mater Dei offers a wide variety of clubs and activities in order to reach everyone enrolled. The philosophy of the school is to serve others and celebrate in its rewards. Some of the opportunities offered to the students to reach out to others were provided through the C.Y.M. office. Various programs were set up to help in local soup kitchens and convalescent hospitals. Trips were also made to Tijuana in order to bring food and clothing to the poverty stricken area.

Student Government helps to add a social light to the campus. Various committees organized dances, flower and candy sales, and blood drives. They met with high schools from the area in order to become closer with the activities of the city of Santa Ana. Coming from many different cities in Orange County made it more difficult to be a part of the community, but through these meetings with other schools Mater Dei students had a second home.

The faculty was always doing its best to help the students in anyway possible. The scholarship counselors were there to answer important questions about college and classes for the next year. The Concern offices were also very helpful with listening to students when they needed soomeone outside of Mater Dei to talk to. With all of the aid from the staff, it made school life much more rewarding.

Those outside of the Mater Dei Family recognize this school as one of the best in the state. It is truly a Royal Kingdom.

1. During seventh period, lucky seniors remain on campus to review the day's events and to enjoy the freedom that their senior status allows. Some students prefer to leave, but Jeff Kulik and friends stay to enjoy each other's company before heading off to home or their jobs. 2. On October 6, the quad was the site for the first family celebration of the school year. Two masses, at 7:30 and 9:30, were followed by pancake breakfasts; this gave families the opportunity to start the year off in prayer and unity. 3. A new addition to the campus is the welcome gate next to the main office. This year showed a great change in the appearance of the campus with the addition of gates and new buildings.

1. Senior/Freshmen section rep., Dave Evans shows his spirit by dressing up during the Freshmen Spirit week. Fired up for the big game, Brian Keen echoes Dave's feelings. 2. Seniors add last minute touches to their Homecoming float. They dubbed the name "the All-Niter" on their rendition of a pirate ship. 3. Many sophomores take the opportunity of having an elective and put it to good use by taking a typing class. 4. "Ecstatic" describes Patty Noguera at the Welcome Dance. Being the first all school dance, new aquaintances are made and old ones stregthened 5. After a long day at the yearbook seminar, Rosemarie Camanyag, Theresa Frome, Veronica Wolston, Jody Brausch, and Beth Hickey enjoy a relaxing lunch. After all, they deserve a break.

Caring Youth Members

One of the most populated as ell as popular clubs on campus known as CYM, which is the obreviation for Campus Youth linistry. The club is open to ev- y student and is involved in any Mater Dei functions. YM is responsible for the class etreats, the Tijuana trips, and he fabulous meetings attended nce a month by the club mem- ers.

This year CYM was headed by r. Martin. When asked about is thoughts and feeling toward ow he thought this year's roup went, Fr. Martin said, Under Fr. Hayes' direction YM was really revitalized in he last few years. I just had to ick up where he left off. It's een a great year! I can't tell you ow special it's been for me to be ble to work with so many stu- ents one-to-one especially in ounseling. And I'm very leased with how well the ser- ice program got going under Ms. Colleen Marie O'Connor, ow popular the Mater Dei ponsored service events have roven with Miss Colleen Ann O'Connor - I finally figured out way to tell the two of them part! - and how successful our etreats and overall counseling rograms have been. A lot of redit has to go to the adminis- ration for their support and to he entire CYM staff for their vonderful work ... and of ourse, to our tremendous stu- lents."

"I still have dreams. CYM has antastic potential. I want every ingle student to feel part of the ministry program. I know Mater Dei can impact the entire diocese when we get everyone working and praying together."

1. Displaying his latest wardrobe addition, this little boy is complimented by his new friends. Diana Shelton, Matt Sinacori, and Susan Fettig helped to distribute food and clothing at the city dump where many Mexican families live. 2. Playing with the children of Tijuana, Denise Bergh learns of those less fortunate than she. Denise is one of the many who benefits from the sharing involved with CYM. 3. Showing us great leadership throughout the year, these prominant CYM leaders help to make a special and giving year. (l-r) Colleen M. O'Connor, Colleen A. O'Connor, Mike Fernandez, Lynn Fichtenmayer, and Fr. Martin. 4. Hiding with his new friend, Brian Schaefgan rests inside an old bulldozer for a quick break. Tijuana trips are always a rewarding experience.

Smile And Serve

Interact is a club dedicated to community service. Sponsored by the Santa Ana Rotary, the club provided a variety of volunteer services, throughout the surrounding communities, with a smile.

Having just completed its seventh year in operation, the club had reached even higher heights than imagined. This year's moderator, Mr. Phil Thornburgh, was seen during both lunch periods helping to get the students to visit the Interact bakesale.

This year's success was do to the students involvement in both bakesales and working in a booth at the annual Fiesta. The money raised helped to pay for the club's participation in the Interact Congress of Southern California.

Making a difference in others' lives through service is why the Interact Club exists and will continue to do so when there's anyone who could benefit from the club.

1. Selling as many cookies as they can, Pat Amelotte, Debbie Layton, and Mollie Meyer try to raise money to help with club costs. Having a bake sale was one of the many service projects. 2. Listening to Rob Finn, Mr. Phil Thornburgh lends a reassuring hand. Once a student at Mater Dei, Mr. Thornburhh knows what it means to be involved in a club with a caring moderator. 3. Looking for the perfect cookies-the one with the most chocolate chips-is almost a perfected art with some students. Bake sales during lunch time seem to give the Den a run for its money.

"To Serve Man"

To Serve Man could have been he basic theme for Mater Dei's hristian Service Program. The proram, which was launched for the rst time this year, got off to a great art. Sophomores and juniors were equired to fulfill a certain number f service hours to graduate.

The students volunteered for varous activities in the community hich dealt with helping hands. Beides meeting the required hours, ey gained a greater insight into hat Mater Dei is all about, being a hristian.

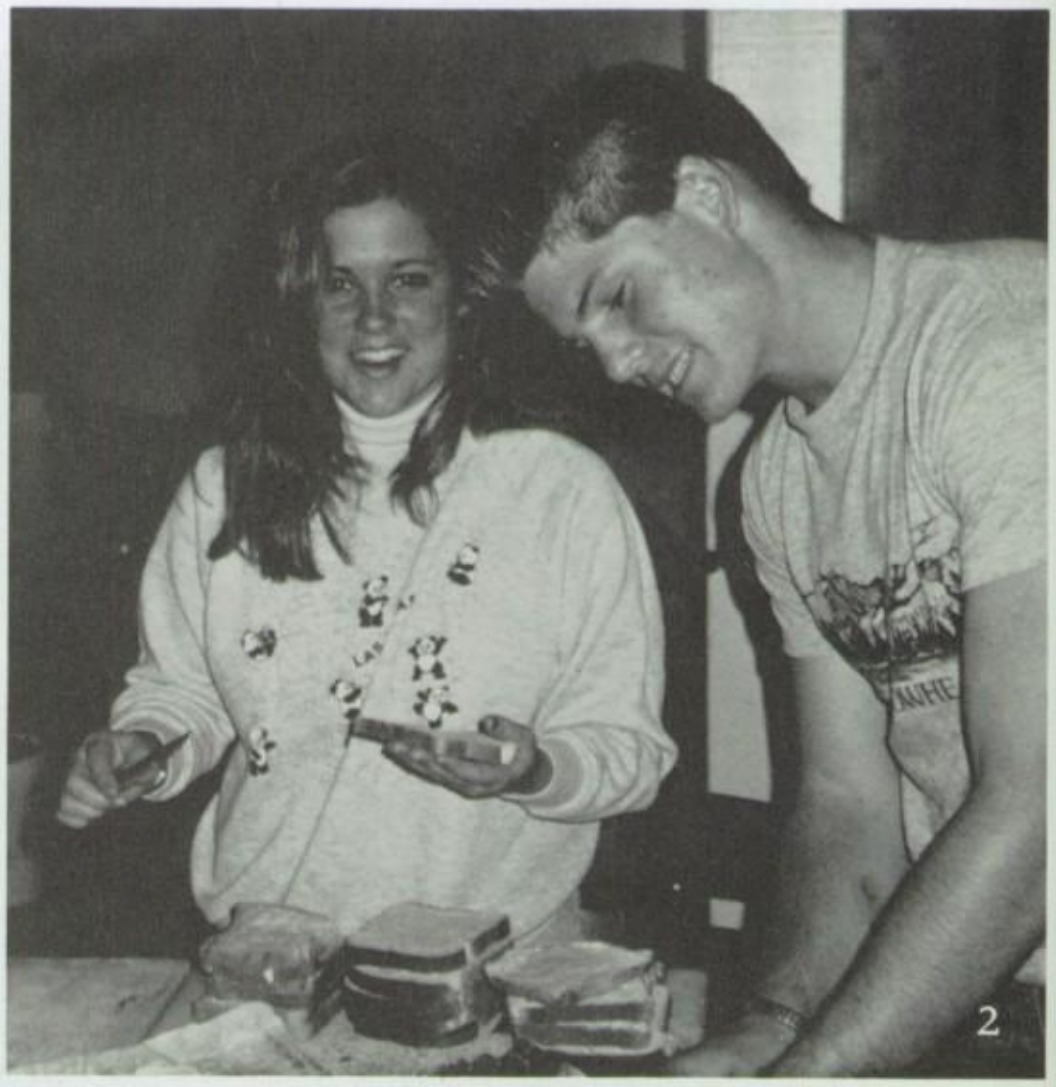
The students who participated in he Christian Service Program offered their time as tutors for other udents at Mater Dei and as canystripers at local hospitals. Others pent time with the elderly at retirement homes. This truly involved ommitment and love.

Along with these activities were ack team services to St. John's Hospital through the Jimmy Stewart National Relay Marathon and a Special Olympics Day for the mentally and physically handicapped.

These group involvement programs brought a good response from the students. Because of this, they were able to balance their time between their extracurricular activities and the Christian Service Program.

Probably the most popular of these programs were the trips made to Tijuana, the Community Worker, and the Santa Ana Soup Kitchen. The students who took part in the trips to Tijuana collected food and clothing for the underpriviledged families. The Soup Kitchen and Community Worker aided the hungry by providing them meals.

From fulfilling the service hours the students experienced what true brotherhood is all about.



1. Cleaning up after a day's work at the Santa Ana Soup Kitchen, Monica Leveque puts away one of the huge soup pots. Determination and lots of love are the priorities of Mater Dei. 2. Much preparation goes into the distribution of food at the Community Worker. Lori Parker and Gene West help feed the hungry. 3. One of the most popular aspects of Tijuana trips are the children. Angie Smith, Alex Gonzalez, and Ben Weink console this boy with graham crackers and a smile.

1. The children in Tijuana enjoy receiving sweet treats from the students. Andrea Grady, Julie Smith, Greg Brown, Kerrin Brennan and Jill Madden show what love and sharing are all about. 2. Time and love go into every serving at the Soup Kitchen. Many of Mater Dei's students contribute their time to help the community. 3. Distribution of food to the underpriviledged is one of the most popular forms of Christian Service. Tom Macauly shows the Christian spirit by helping the poor.

R.O.T.C. An Experience In Leadership

Although thirteen is usually onsidered an unlucky number or most people, this year was he thirteenth year at Mater Dei or the Junior Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corp (A.F.J-R.O.T.C.) and it has been successful. The Squadron are anked among the top ten per-ent of all high school squad-ons.

Equally impressive is the list f full engineering scholarships o any university which offers .O.T.C. Three of the senior ca-ets have already received these cholarships and about five ore are waiting to hear.

The cadets are instructed by ieutenant Colonel Robert Leis nd Senior Master Sergeant Mi-hael Timons. Lt. Col. Leis has erved twenty-one years active ir force duty and this is his fifth ear at Mater Dei. Sgt. Timons erved thirty years of active air orce duty and is the initiator of Mater Dei R.O.T.C.

This year has been a produc-ve year for the cadets. In addi-on to the classroom activities vhich consist of sixty-percent cademics and forty-percent eadership in military subjects, he squadron has had many out-ide activities. In November, inety cadets visited the subma-ine training base in San Diego. n January, the third annual nilitary ball was held at the El Toro Marine Base. The cadets looking quite dapper in their honorary uniforms danced until midnight to hits of the past and present. In March, Lt. Col. Leis, parents and twenty-seven cadets supported a helicopter production company by directing traffic as well as civilians. In the month of May were two very important events. The first of the two was the Spring Review, which was a contest of superiority in marching between the two freshman flights and the sophomore, junior, and senior flights. The second event was the Annual Dining Out. This is an awards banquet to commend the outstanding cadets of the past year.

Other events which have taken place this year are: two pancake breakfasts, a jog-a-thon, and a car wash which raised four hundred dollars for the refirbishing of the Statue of Liberty.

As the year comes to a close the cadets will be looking forward to the oncoming, voluntary vacation to Hawaii. While on this trip they will visit the Hawaii Air Base and learn many valuable experiences that they will use in years to come.

In their journey towards excellence in aerospace engineering and academic performance the cadets never forget their motto: "Let's care enough to be the very best."

1. David Craig, David Evans, and Paula Therian model the latest in military attire for fall. 2. Lt. Col Leis and S.M. Sgt Timons instruct the cadets. Together they have served fifty-one years of active duty and eighteen years at MD. 3. While helping out at the O.C. Airport for a helicopter company Col. Leis got a ride in a helicopter. 4. Throughout the year many guest speakers come to talk to the cadets. The cadets always enjoy these talks.

With Open Arms

The results of their actions are vious, but they are seldom en. They are the Welcoming ommittee. They are a major iving force behind the Mon- ch morale, since they prepare e stadiums for the rousing owds that flood into the stands ery game-night.

But their preparations begin ng before the game does. They ork after school until the game gins making posters that are prominent during the games. ter, they will also hang these gns before the crowds arrive, ong with roping off areas of ats for certain groups such as e band.

During the game itself, the Welcoming Committee are at the gates punching ASB cards and checking tickets. They are also found at the entrance of the stadium helping people to find their seats.

The Welcoming Committee are seldom seen and even less often thanked. Their efforts are often taken for granted, yet they are a vital part of Mater Dei's fighting spirit and enthusiastic support of their teams.

Film At Eleven

New to this year is Mater Dei's Audio-Visual Technical Crew. Under the guidance and direction of Mr. Michael Berringer, the Crew handle all aspects of the maintenance of the audio-visual equipment. They are the ones that students are so glad to see, because they indicate that a class will be a "cultural happening": either a film, video or other fun alternate to lecturing or worksheets. The A.-V. Tech Crew not only take care of the audio-visual equipment, but also of keeping this equipment in good, working order, such as the carts, projectors and screens. Along with the upkeep of the equipment, the A.-V. Tech Crew clean and repair films.

But the Audio-Visual Technical Crew is not all technical. Another one of their many duties is the re-shelving of library books, a service that is beneficial to the students that use the library and helpful to the librarians since it frees them to attend to more important matters. Along with their other chores, they still find time to research films. Due to the careful coordination of Mr. Berringer, Mater Dei is not all textbooks and lectures, with a big help from his Crew.

1. Mater Dei's '85-'86 Audio-Visual Technical Crew: Gina Schriefer, Mr. Michael Berringer, Michele Nardacci, Chris McCanna, Joseph Kennedy, and Bill Massey. Not pictured: Eric Fieldstein, Tom Leonard, and Rabel Sikaffy. 2. Gina Schriefer and Michele Nardacci take a lunch break after an exhausting morning of delivering equipment. 3. Mr. Berringer, the hand that guides the Crew, is a vital part of the faculty, since he is the heart and soul of the Audio-Visual department.

Lights! Camera! Action!

Lights, Camera, Action!! Mat-r Dei television crew is an up nd rising club. Initiated and eaded by Fr. Harris, "MDTV" s quickly become more and nore noticeable on the Mater Dei campus.

The equipment necessary to o filming has been funded by a rant to the Diocese of Orange rom Westinghouse. Most of the arishes are linked by microvave satellite dishes.

The crew films Mater Dei dra-na plays, sporting events, and pecial masses. MDTV also ilms for the Diocese such hings as educational programs nd liturgies in both English nd Spanish. The filming for the Diocese will increase as the network grows. Presently, there are two channels but are in hopes of four. This goal is being negogiated with the Cable Company of Santa Ana.

Fr. Harris feels that being a part of MDTV gives students opportunities to learn video production. The students involved say that MDTV is an exciting experience as well as something that they will be able to use in the future.

1. Although it is unusual to see these students in front of the camera. that deserve a lot of credit for all of their hard work.

Let's Debate

What club meets four times a month and progresses toward National Competition? The answer . . . the Debate Club. With its eighteen members and dedicated advisor, Mr. Cou, the debate club has had one of its best years yet.

Being in the debate club takes a lot of self-sacrifice and mental work. The students are given topics and have to research them for all different points of view. The members must have good writing skills in order to present their topics with knowledge of their subject. Delivery skills are also very important so that they can present the topics with clarity.

The Debate Club covers contemporary topics such as toxic waste, abortion, disease prevention, and drug abuse. Each speech is three minutes long, and judged on delivery, eye contact, and content.

Debate Club helps to build an open mind and teaches you to respect others' opinions. According to Mr. Cou, "The club teaches you to deal with people easier."

1. The Debate Club moderater, Mr. Cou is very enthusiastic about the team. 2 & 3. The Debate Club members have supported each other at every debate.

Giving Blood To Give Life

One semi-annual event that has become a major senior activity, is the blood drive.

The first drive of the year, was held on November 19. Together with the Red Cross, the Health and Safety Commissioners set a goal for the drive. The goal set for November, was an estimate of 120 units. "Unfortunately, due to the many cases of flu and the football game against Servite, we weren't able to collect as much as we had originally planned to." said Mrs. La Rosa. A total of 97 people came in to donate, but only a total of 75 units were collected.

The second drive which was held in April, did a bit better. The total amount of donations for this drive was 95 units. 115 units either came in or signed up to donate, but many were refused for a number of reasons.

This was not one of the better years for the blood drives, because so many things went wrong with each of them. The second drive, which is usually the stronger of the two, had to be cut off because of a lack of Red Cross staff. The Red Cross did not send enough people to help with the drive, so many people were turned away because of this. Currently, Mrs. La Rosa is working to devise a plan so that we can take in as much blood as people are willing to donate.

The amount of people that the commissioners try to schedule for each drive is 170. "With so many people out sick for the first drive, we really missed our goal." said commissioner Mike Motherway. The Health and Safety Commissioners this year were Mike Motherway and Amy Haupert.

Even though there weren't as many donors as two years ago when we made a school record, the drives can both be considered successes. It's really not a matter of how much we donate, it's the fact that even one unit of blood can save a person's life.

1. Barbie Erhard glances over just before she gets her blood pressure taken. Prospective donors went through several small tests before they donated. 2. Comforting their friend as he donates blood, this group of seniors show that everything will be alright. 3. "Say Ahhh", says this Red Cross volunteer to Mike Reed as he gets his temperature taken. Although we had a slight lack of volunteers for the second drive, the ones who did come really did a great job. 4. After giving blood, many students found themselves slightly weak. Michele Murdock manages to find a smile after all, she's doing this for a good cause.

You Lumen-ated Our Year!

Sometime in the past year, you may have wondered what goes on in Mrs. Gray's classroom at 7th period. Well, what does go on? The answer is, ten students and one busy teacher all rushing to write, edit, and produce the eight page Lumen.

The Lumen goes out monthly, to all the teachers, parents, students and alumni of Mater Dei. It contains a letter from Father Harris, feature articles, articles on up-coming events, notes from Mrs. Dominguez and a teacher of the month column. It also includes a calendar of events and activities for the month. Since it's format was changed last year, the Lumen has added a staff of students, mostly seniors to work on the writing. Although the staff is mostly seniors, two juniors are currently on it, also.

The seniors who take the class are using it as an elective, some had the period off, but wanted something extra.

A few of the students who are in the class are thinking of having careers in the journalistic field. One student commented that, "the class is really a good experience for anyone who is interested in a writing career, because it gives you a chance to see what working on a newspaper is like."

Mrs. Gray, who came in the middle of last year has done an excellent job revising not only the Lumen itself, but also the class format. "Having to come in at the middle of last year was a hard job, but this year everything went really smoothly and the staff was great."

A closing comment came from Mrs. Marie Witkay, who is the Alumni Director. "Mrs. Gray and the staff did the best job this year with this format, Their performance was terrific, they really came through!"

A Special Day Of Love . . . And Winners!

On Saturday, March 22, 1986, later Dei High School was the te for the Orange County Spe- al Olympics. Over 200 volun- ers — including students, par- ts, and faculty — showed up help approximately 100 ath- tes from ten different schools Orange County. The Special lympics was a chance for the later Dei students to share emselves with some very spe- al people.

The athletes participated in any events such as; running, isbee throw, softball throw, nd long jump. Every partici- nt received an award for their reat effort. Much practice and reparation went into each of e participants performance nd the results were successful.

Thanks to Del Taco, a free nch of burritos, chips, and inks was provided for both the hletes and the volunteers. dohr Farms donated milk and e-cream as well.

All in all, not only was the day ery successful and exciting, it as an experience not to be for- otten by either the athletes or e volunteers.

VERY SPECIAL THANKS TO:
MISS BECKY ALLEC
MRS. SUSAN DIAZ
MR. BRUCE ROLLINSON

1. Standing proud, these three winners share a moment of glory. Not only were the athletes proud of themselves, they were proud of each other. 2. Posing with her new friends, Kirsten Whitney was one of the many student volunteers. All of the students who volunteered had to attend group meetings to prepare for the meet. 3. After helping with the flag ceremony, Staicia Diaz, a participant, posed with Lisa Warner, Tara DeMarco, and Jill Anderson. Many sophomores were involved in the Special Olympics and look forward to helping in the years ahead. 4. Helping a participant rise above the crowd, Ben Weink stood a head above everyone else. The students involvement helped to make the day quite a success.

"I'd never worked with them (retarded people) before and it was scary at first, but then I discovered how much love they had to share. Those kids are so wonderful. It was great watching them win!" — Brenda Buechler

"It was a meaningful experience that I'll never forget." — Beth Hickey

"All the love that was shared made it a truly special day for all of the people involved." — Rosemarie Camanyag

To Be A Part Of The Action

To be a part of the drama club there is only one requirement, to want to be a part of the action. Whether it's helping design sets or costumes, applying make-up, or acting in the play itself your considered a member. The members though varied in every way imaginable, have one very strong bond; the theater. It links the group together and helps keep them united.

As the school year progresses more and more friends are made through different activities and functions. During the school plays put on each year by the drama club new friendships are formed among the cast and crew members. People who have never seen each other before suddenly become close because they're both sent out on a wild goose chase looking for muslin of beaver brown semi-gloss wall paint.

Exchanging clothes, shoes, accessories and strange looks are all a part of the backstage world. Nothing could be too outrageous or weird during the preparation of a performance. And though not all practices are run as seriously as others, the performances themselves are done as professionally as the club can manage.

Commitment was the key to the success of the plays Get Smart and Meet Me in St. Louis. Everyone involved committed both their time and effort to see the plays succeed.

Feeling great about the job their doing, R) Pauline O'Hara (President, Drama ub), Jason Alkire (President Thespian ub), Dede Maher (Second Vice-presint Drama Club), Mike Reed (Vice esident, Thespian Club), and Andrea lbert (Secretary/Historian) know that anks to their dedication, the club is nning smoothly. (Not pictured, Dean- Morris, first Vice President, Drama ub) 2. Listening intensley to the fine tors rehearsing for a play, Mrs. Seely iles as she thinks about her role as rector. The drama productions put on ch year are planned by Mrs. Seely who viously enjoys working closely with e students. 3. Trying to show their true ent-posing for pictures- the drama ub shows it's many facets. To the slub embers, "hamming it up" is an unrced duty . . . they love it.

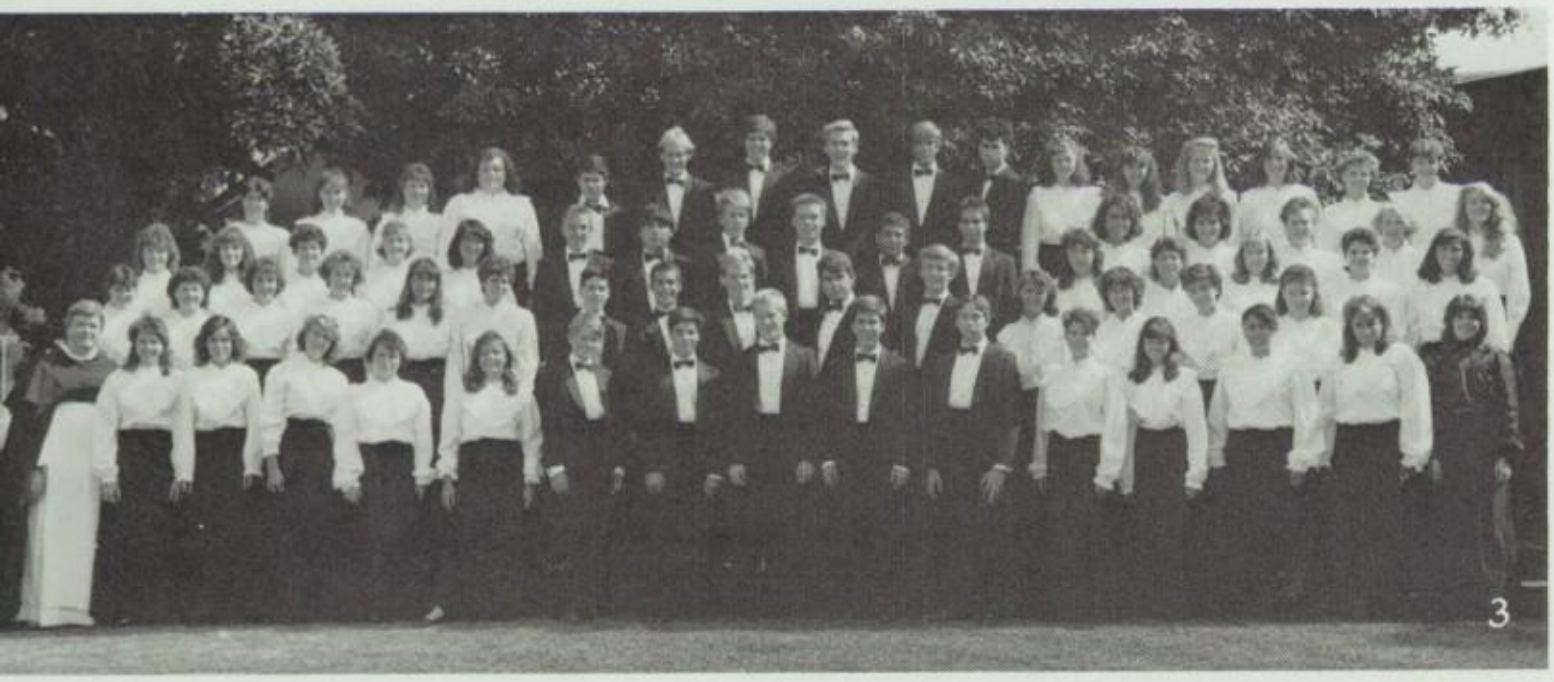
. Under the direction of Mrs. Patty Merino, the Freshman Choir is: Tara Luppel, Rochelle Silva, Tracy Rhodes, Donna McKinney, Tery Byrne, Julie Cline, Jeanette Reed, Debra Frericks, Valerie Morehouse, Lisa Ort, Felicia Hill, Nora McAndrew, Becky Anderson, Alice Tipp, Bernadette Schenkelberg, Mary Ann Szyskowski, Carolyn Olds, Amber Domoslai, Margie Vanek, Laura Whitley, Eleanor Mendoza, Tessa Gatlin, Beth Schmitz, Adriana Araizo and Sara Brodie. 2. All of the assorted Choirs, as all of Mater Dei, bid fond farewell to Fr. Joseph, who is easily one of the best things ever to happen to this school. The music and direction which he has brought to Mater Dei will forever be a hallmark to his dedication and loving care. 3. At the site of one of their many performances, the Concert Choir shows that much good can come from hard work determination to do a good job.

He Who Sings

The Choir. They sing at school masses, right? Well, that's true, but that's only scratching the surface of all they do. Besides the different masses, they perform at many other functions, such as the Homecoming half-time show, the Spring Musical, the various Parent Programs, the Dinner Theatre as well as their many festivals.

Freshman Choir consists of freshman girls (the freshman boys are assigned directly to Concert Choir). Here, music appreciation and the basics of singing are taught. Performance is emphasized during their joint participation with the Concert Choir. As the year goes on, this participation increases.

Concert Choir is the next "step" on the choir ladder. This is the group of experienced singers as well as the freshman boys. Singing with the Freshman Choir, the Concert Choir performs at seasonal events such as the Christmas Fairs. Performances at the Dorothy Pavilion in the Roger Wagner Choral and competitions in the American Heritage Festival and the Six Flags Festivals were but a few items on their schedules.



1. The 1986 Chamber Choir with Fr. Joseph: Bob Dominguez, John Anderson, Arthur Perez, Jim Roy, Jamie Austin, Margie Hoban, Kelly Walker, Diane Sweeney, Jacque DeCoursey, Shirley Munoz, Joelle Casteix, Amy Espenship. 2. Being the busiest time of the year, the Christmas Season kept the assorted choirs on the run. Mrs. Merino's skill on the piano was a definite added asset to the choirs' performances. 3. Prays Twice

hamber Choir is the sub-section of oncert Choir where the best of the best culled and cultivated. Superior sing-g, however is not the only require-ent. There is a need for voices that end and singers who will work hard. he twelve members are still in Concert hoir and do all the same things as Con-rt Choir, so they really do double-duty. eing one of the top choirs in the area, ey are constantly in demand. For ex-mple, in the Christmas season, they ave performances at least once every ght and sometimes twice.

The Choral Department is busied by many other events as well. They are often on tour — such as with annual trips to San Francisco and their excursion to the '86 Expo in Canada. The Dinner Theatre production of Man of La Mancha took talent from all groups. They were also the featured choir at the National Catholic Education Association convention in Anaheim.

Yes, the Choir does sing at the masses, but they do a lot more.

Jazzing!

Long hours of practice, dedi-ation, and devotion were the ey elements which distin-uished the Mater Dei Jazz En-emble as one of the most talent-d groups on campus. Com-osed of thirteen dedicated Monarchs, these students vorked under the superior direc-ion of Father Joseph O'Brien nd under the excellent choreog-aphy of Miss Gail Milby. The asis of the Jazz Ensemble was ard work and dedication put orth to remember the many ongs and steps contained in heir routines and performances. As an after-school class, the Jazz nsemble proved to have a very uccessful and meaningful year, nd contributed a lot of pride nd enthusiasm to the spirit of Mater Dei.

1. Taking a break from the routine, Miss Gail Milby explains a step to the group. 2. Concentrating on the music of his Jazz Ensemble, Fr. Joseph O'Brien sings along. 3. For Whom The Bells Toll

Composed of only twelve dedicated students, the Mater Dei Handbell Choir can best be remembered by their beautiful arrangements of handbells played during the Christmas season, and various performances throughout the school year. Who could be behind the scenes of this fabulous group?? None other than Fr. Joseph O'Brien who has contributed greatly to the success and direction of the Handbell Choirs beautiful chimes. Many hours of hard work were put in to the performances featured at such occasions as award banquets and graduation. The seventy-three bell choir had a lot of pride in their performances this year and most likely their tradition will continue on throughout the years.

. Ringing away, these dedicated Hand-ell students practice for an upcoming oncert. 2. Patiently directing his award-vinning choir, Fr. Joseph O'Brien keeps p the beat. 3. Back row: Tim Phelan, rendan Manson, Monica Perry, Mi-hael Anderson, Fr. Joseph O'Brien, Jim Roy, Christine Roth, John Anderson, Arthur Perez. Middle row: Shannon Goebel, Carole Arlt. Bottom: Michelle Lodyga, Amy Lee. 4. This senior takes time during her graduation to assist the Handbell Choir in its musical selections.

Royalty Is Found All Over The World

Royalty is found all over the world and in each country there is a different word for it. At Mater Dei many languages are spoken either fluently or just to practice the few words one knows. Among the languages represented, Mater Dei, teaches five for the college foreign language requirement. The languages spoken are French, German, Italian, Latin, and Spanish, most of which will be helpful in one's future.

Each language has developed its own club to practice a little of the culture that has been taught in class. The clubs provide each student with the background of the language as well as a bit about the countries and its history.

The German club was very active this year. They had a bake sale to raise money and worked at the Mater Dei Octoberfest. They also went for dinner at the Bavarian Chalet and had a movie night. The club members became close friends as they learned quite a bit about German culture.

The other clubs were quite busy also. Dinners at nice restaurants were planned. On field trip day, most of the clubs visited either a museum or took the day to celebrate a cultural happinging. The whole idea of clubs is not only a learning experience but social as well.

1. French Club officers Susan Hall, Denise Bergh, and Marianne Dougherty have put in a lot of themselves into their club. 2. Spanish Club members have had an exciting year with a grand finale of a trip to Olvera Street. 3. Spanish Club officers: Debbie Young, Maria Martinez, and Liz Fertelic.

1. Latin Club members: Maureen Daly, Lisa Ybarra, Laura Dietrich, Brenda Schreiber, Theres Drass, Mike Frayne, Noel Orlando, Gina Fettig, and Gabrielle Lengua.

2. Latin Club members have enjoyed each others' company.

3. German Club officers Tina Cashin and Paula Breitweiser. 4. Members of the German Club enjoy a good German dinner together. 5. Members of the German club are very enthusiastic. 6. At German Camp Theresa Baumgartner, Paula Breitweiser, and Tina Cashin enjoy themselves.

The Home Economics Department Proudly Presents:

Dining With Designers

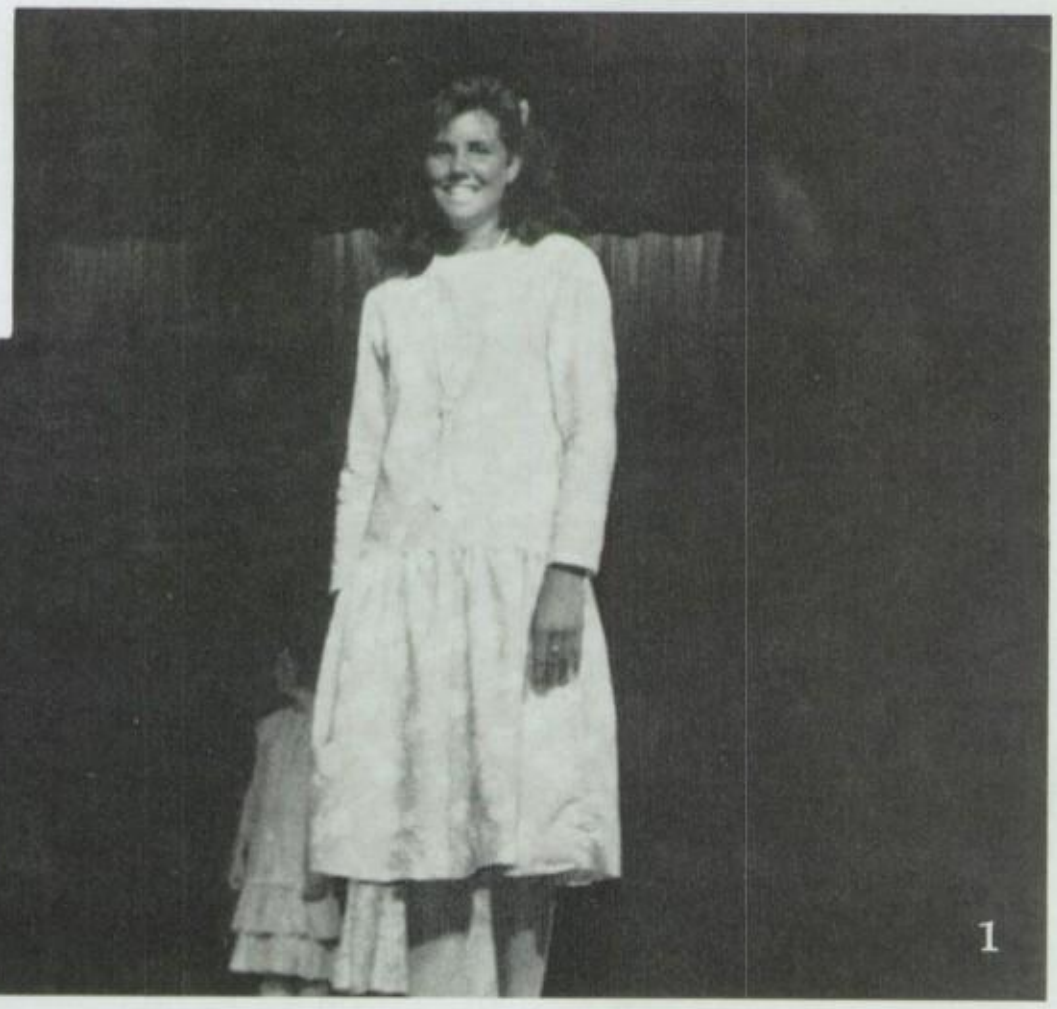
Going Places"

Whether they're "going to work" or "going on vacation", the home economics department is more than fashion-plate wardrobes. Other destinations of vogue dressware include "Dinner," "church," "party," "concert" and an authentic "California Beach Bar-be-que".

The Clothing Class worked on their creations throughout the year, adapting various patterns and designs to fit their own vision of fashion. From their blue-prints for articles of clothing from pants to from dresses, the student seamstresses cut, sew and stitch their masterpieces, all to be displayed during the Fashion Show.

At 7:30 pm on May 13, the Dinner Fashion Show entertained 230 guests. The clothing class was not the only participant in the show. The foods class spent the previous weeks working on the hor d'ourves. They put forth much effort, considering they had the Fiesta and the Bar-be-que to work on also.

Both groups, the Clothing and Foods Classes worked together to create an evening of high fashion clothing and first rate cuisine.



Flashing a big smile, Polly Watson walks down the ramp modeling her new creation. The fashion show gives students a chance to show off their talents. 2. It is always fun to experience modeling clothes. This student moves gracefully on the ramp. 3. Not only a mere fashion show, the Home Economics Department joint effort provides refreshments as well as personal contact with the designers. 4. Stepping out in style is no problem for clothing students, as demonstrated by their ability to create tasteful as well as beautiful wardrobes.

Start Of Something Big!!

This was the first year for the Girls Athletic Board, which was headed by Miss Allec. The board was made up of fourteen girls, representatives from each of the girls sports, who helped to make it such a success. The purpose of the board was to unify the teams and promote an awareness between the teams as to what is happening in the other sports. When asked about it, Miss Allec said, "I want the girls to get more out of it than just playing a sport." The girls support each other by going to different teams' games and cheering them on.

The girls attended meetings every week and sponsored many activities for the school. They put on the very successful Special Olympics which turned out to be a very rich and rewarding experience for all involved. They also put on a Thanksgiving mass for all the athletes to give them something to do as a whole group. At Christmas time, the board packed boxed dinners and gave them to the servicemen and their families.

The board members are good examples of leaders for the school. They put in much of their time and a lot of effort into making the first year of the Girls' Athletic Board a great success, and they did!

If Everybody Had An Ocean . . .

Surfing has been associated ith California for many dec- les. The laid back atmosphere the beach and its surround- gs has lured many a tourist ar after year. The cool water d the warm sand has a mysti- l hold on both the young and d.

Surfing can also be associated ith Mater Dei thanks to a small group of dedicated students. Thanks to this group, the Surf Club is still treading water.

This group, which is composed of both male and female students, gets up early Saturday mornings and heads for the closest waves. More often then not, only the surfers who have the drive and determination it takes to become good at the sport show up to participate in this early morning activity. However, sometimes, one will see an avid observer asleep on the sand.

Although not every surfer is going to be a future Cheyne Horan or Tommy Curren as long as the surfer tries and has fun, that's all that counts. Not all surfers in the club are great and not all members in the club are surfers, but the club has fun and that's all that matters.

Some people who don't live near the beach might not understand a surfer's ideal wave, or motivation, or perfect board, but as the Beach Boys said, "If everybody had an ocean . . ."

1. Gaining enough speed, Brett Munson slashes the lip of the wave. Practice is essential to improve all surfing skills. 2. Enjoying the waves, Duane Roughen grabs his rail, going for air. Style and uniqueness helps to identify a surfer. 3. Going backside, Vince Sherf rips an off the lid. Dedication during spare time helps any surfer improve. 4. Trying to keep the club going are: (l-r) Vice-President, Joey Ybarra; Secretary-Treasurer, Patty Reyes; and President, Mike Gibbs. Having been part of the club since their freshman year, the club has become an important part of their Mater Dei life.

A Newly Discovered World

Down below, in the deep blue sea, there exists another world. A world where schools have nothing to do with books or tests, and where you don't have to worry about watering your plants. This other world is found in our ocean and the members of the Scuba Club had the chance to explore it.

This year the club participated in both beach and boat dives up and down the coast. The local beaches such as Huntington, Newport, Laguna, and Seal Beach had a lot to offer the Scuba Club. In addition to local dives, the club also had dives off Catalina and a lucky few went to Hawaii to dive.

Once the members had discovered this new world of fish and life under the sea, the club was offering them not only something to do in their spare time, but it was offering them excitement which was not to be found anywhere except down below in their newly discovered world.

The club was started by Mr. Russell Terry and taken over by Mr. Mark Van Ness. The club consists of both male and female certified divers and snorklers. Once a small club, The Scuba Club is growing and expanding every year.

1. Growing larger each year, the Scuba Club expands to accomodate all of its new members. President Steve Morehouse was happy to see the club attract so many members. 2. Learning all about life under the sea, Lee Kenny investigates new and exciting realms. Many different plants and creatures exist down below.

Air Guitar: A Musical Explosion

BOOM!! This is the sound of a Mater Dei senior breaking out of s shell during the annual Air Guitar Concert. Air Guitar was an cellent opportunity for students to show others their real interests d personality.

The evening began with an explosive opening by WASP, followed 7 Seconds and Bananarama. After Bananarama came a captivat- g performance by Unity. Following, Twisted Sister revved up the dience and created an excitable atmosphere. A second Bananarama ok over the stage with Oingo Boingo right behind. Oingo Boingo's illiant special effects and dancing created an intense feeling of citement. GrandMaster Flash was an entertaining show of the ng lost trend of breakdancing, while Bruce Springsteen made an trance along with Little Steven. The Alarms 68 guns got the dience moving, and the incredible antics and comedy of the Blues rothers continued on the mood. The amazing performance and ncing of the Untouchables brought the audience to their feet and ptured second place. Not long afterward, the Beach Boys landed stage with their upbeat brand of music, while Sheila E. got the dience dancing and energized before the finale done by the fired- band of Ratt, which captured first place.

All in all the Air Guitar was a powerful musical explosion and an cellent opportunity for seniors to express their many hidden tal- ts and individuality.

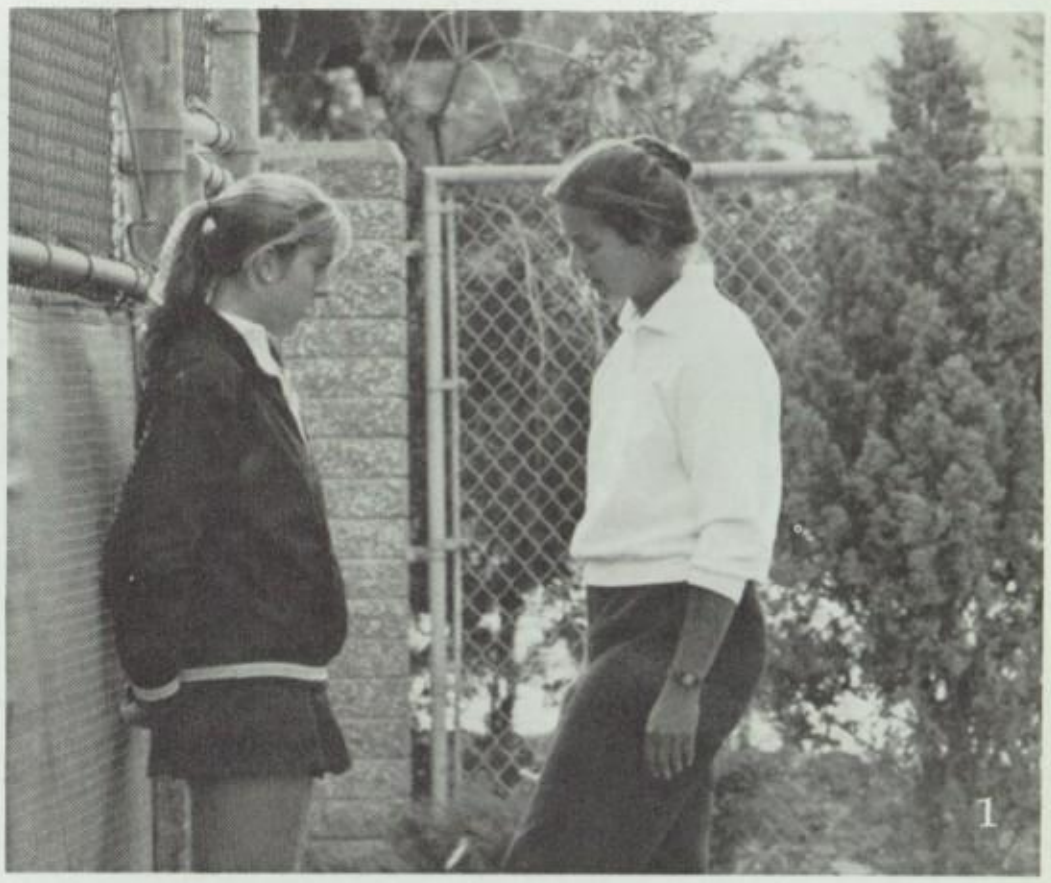
Lady Athletes

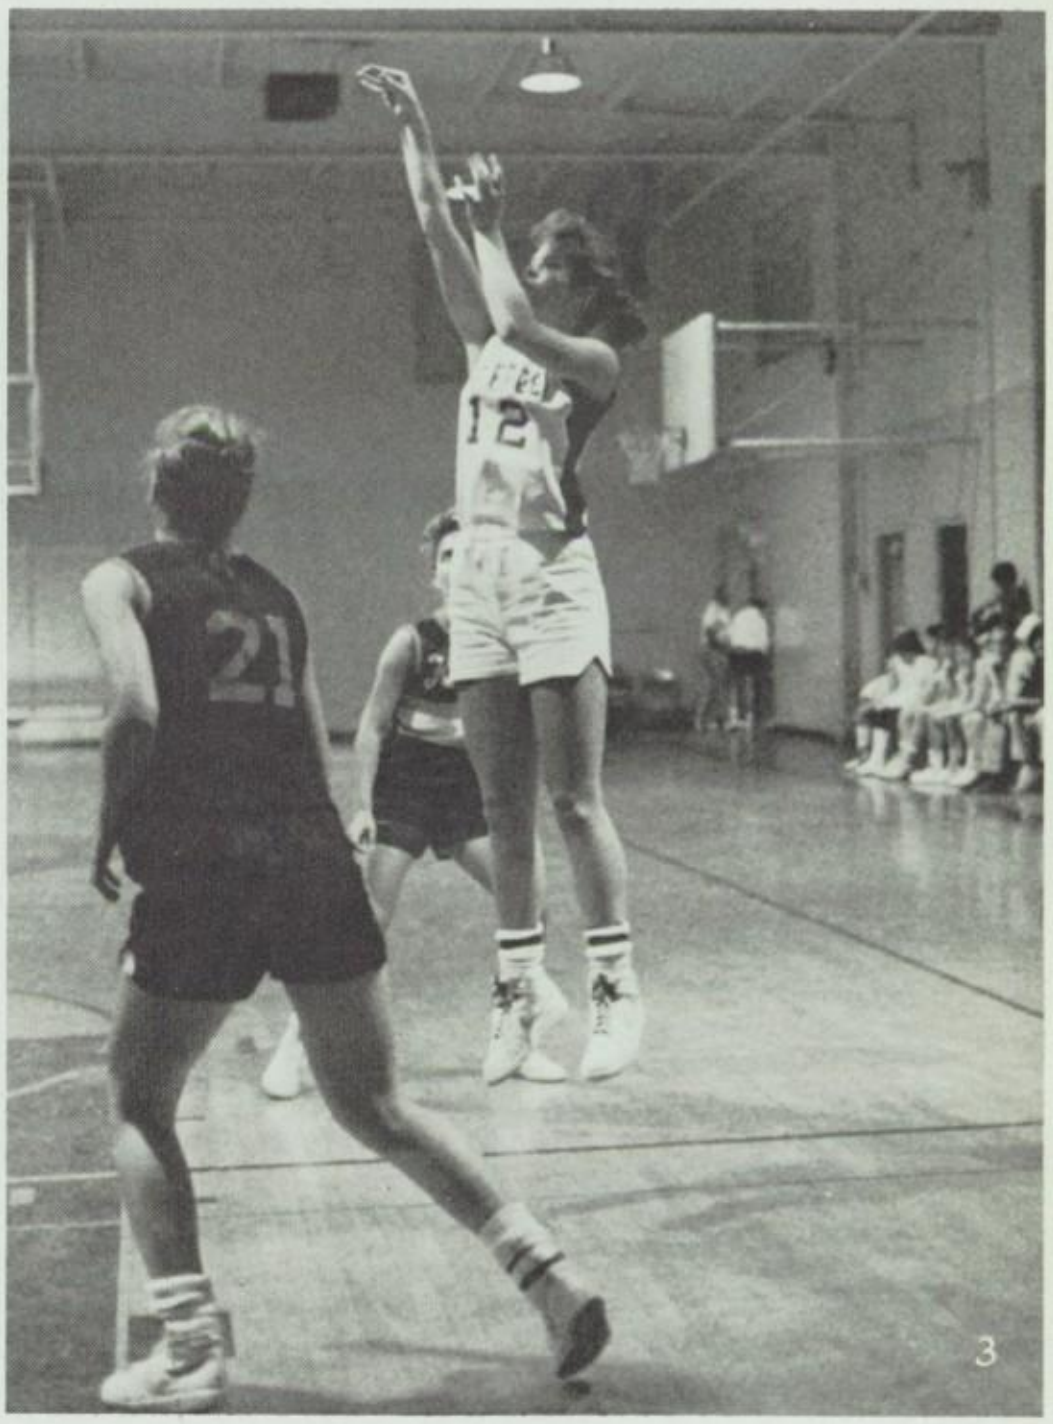
GAA or Girls Athletic Associ-tion as it is more commonly known, is a group of girls from every sport at Mater Dei. GAA gives the girls an opportunity to get out together and take a break from practices and schoolwork for some fun.

Miss Allec, the groups moder-tor, started off the year with the annual ice cream social. It was the first chance for all the girls to get together and meet. Next was the GAA dance which turned out to be a big success with it's Hawaiian theme carried throughout the quad.

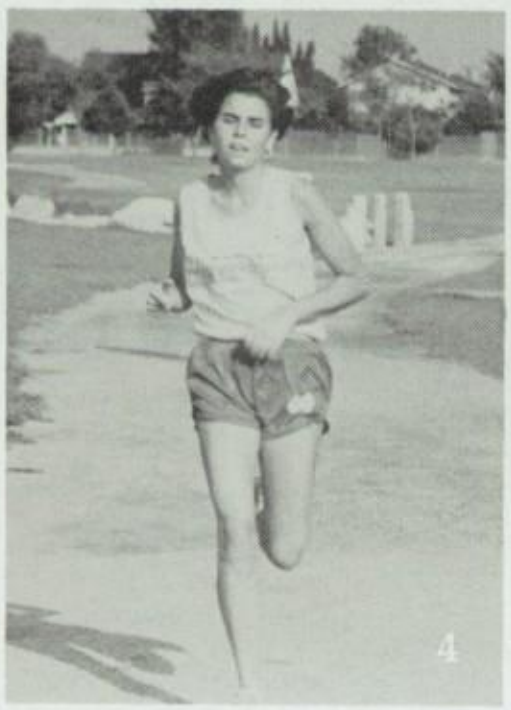
This year Miss Allec and the girls decided to try something new. They sponsored the Special Olympics out on our track. It was a tremendous success thanks to the careful planning of Miss Allec and the GAA officers. The meet was an inspiration to many of the students at Mater Dei, and will hopefully be continued through the years.

GAA is an important part for many of the girls at Mater Dei. It offers them a friendly and relaxed atmosphere where they can get together and enjoy each others company without any pressures.





. Giving advice for the next match, Miss llec instructs Shannon LaVelle with er tennis. Shannon was the number one ingles player for the girls runner-up IF team. 2. Rounding first base, Wendy obinson tries to stretch her hit into a ouble. The softball team enjoyed an-ther successful season. 3. Sophomore, net Resing displays her patented jump hot scoring two points. The Lady Mon-rchs reigned over the Angelus League nce again this year. 4. Sprinting up to he finish line, Christine Hery shows her thletic skill and excellent form.



Student Trainers . . .
Repair With Care

remendous dedication and interest in athletic training the qualities needed to be a dent trainer. After all, it's not y to stay long hours after ool and on the weekends, tinuously throughout the r. However, the student ners received the satisfaction knowing that they were a key he success of our sports pro-m. They prevented and treat-injuries which could have od in the way of Mater Dei victories.

Under the direction of Lynn Ingram, the Certified Athletic Trainer, the student trainers were organized into a special team of their own. The five student trainers consisted of seniors, Mary Dillingham, Chris Bersenyi, and Ann Grootegood; sophomore, Kim Smith; and freshman, Andrea Pasquerola. In regards to her student trainers, Lynn said, "There is no way I could have made it without them. They devoted a lot of their time to help me." Together they spent many hours taping athletes to prepare them for their practices and games, giving treatments for injuries, and assisting Lynn in many other ways.

However, Lynn can take the credit for making everything run smoothly. Her student trainers found her easy to work with, very helpful, and above all, a friend to them. Ann Grootegood described her as "Excellent . . . She took us out on the field and taught us everything!"

Student trainers have the opportunity to get first hand experience while working directly with the coaches and athletes. All the work pays off, and Kim Smith summed it up by saying, "It feels good, especially when the team wins, to know that you were a part of the win."

Behind The Scenes

Behind the scenes at many athletic events, stat girls work diligently to record the statistics of the game. Coaches and players rely on these facts and figures to find the strengths and weaknesses of the team. From rebounds, to touchdowns, to goals, the stat girls keep an accurate account of the vital details of the game.

Not only do they keep track of useful data, but they also give a lot of support to their team. On some occasions, stat girls even brought cookies for the team. Advantages of being a stat girl include having the option of wearing a different uniform on game days, and the privilege of having "front row seats" at the games.

When asked what they enjoyed most about being a stat girl, Michelle Buechler and Dawn Nosek liked the "opportunity to be more involved in the athletic program." Water Polo stat girl, Leann Vanderhorst, pointed out that, "It's fun to be involved in water polo because you get the chance to make new friends and visit other places." Varsity Basketball stat girl, Chris Wiper, shared the views of most stat girls when she said, "A lot of dedication is needed, but overall it's a worthwhile experience."

A Word's Worth . . .

A beautiful sunrise, a strong eling, a close friend, all put into ords. Poetry is beauty verbal-ed. Appreciation of such beauty inherent in everyone, but the bility to put it into words is rare, ndeed. This ability is shown by Mater Dei's literary magazine.
The Literary Magazine is a col-ction of creative writings contriuted by students, then distrib-ted to the student body. Edited y Mr. Hatcher, it exemplifies a ast untapped source of poetic reative talent. Presented here is any works received, but, unforunately, many fine works could

I sit there remembering about the past and I wonder why the good times couldn't last.
We had to grow up and go away
but we hope to meet again
some very special day.
So now it's time to pack up and say good-bye stop living in the past and stop the tears I cry.
It's time to stop living in the past,
Just cherish the memories and make them last.
It's time to move on to see what the future brings and time to start looking for life's many wonderful things.

— Anne Kelly

After the song comes the singer
And from deep within
The believer.
Through the dreams of the night
the peace of freedom.

Bring from the past the future.
The love to begin the beginning.
And the freedom of sky
to the eagle.

Bring forth an answer to the dreamer.
Look through my eyes to the dreams of the soul.
The dreams that are truly the reality of one.

— Brett Monge

To Rapunzel

All my fondest dreams,
In your face appeared
Made real and realized
Ever furthered and yet neared.
E'en though I never hear from you,
Can I still assume,
Love abounds, no more than friends
Ending only with our ends?
Verily, I'll be your knight,
Err'nt and ever true;
Never will I long be gone,
Going always back to you.
Eyes of yours hold dreams of mine.
Rest next to me; forever will you shine!

— Sir Anthony

The crystal rays of sun come down nothing disturbing their path.
The stillness of the day broken not by words.
Leaves be still on their branches thoughts combing the air.
No one walks together,
  no one walks alone.
The silence of the heat bores hard into the dirt.
Further along in this dryness a drop of water clings to a spout catching the sun's rays.
The dust stirs little around this drop of sunlight.

A Thousand Pictures!

Adolescence

A time to learn, a time to grow
A time to love, a time to know
That growing up we all must do
It's nothing old, it's nothing new

A time of joy, a time of fears
A time to shine, a time of tears
To show that we can always care
For the ones with our love we share

A time of heartaches and of praise
A time of joyous hearts to raise
A time to know that we can say
"Here comes another sunny day"

Frustration Confusion
Pain–
Tired, sweaty faces smile weakly too exhausted to speak.
Legs and arms move with uncertainty, then gain grace
and speed.
Bodies moving in one motion finally glide across the floor looking effortless, feeling difficult.
Final stretch–

Time

As the ripples of time fade out,
They twist the patterns on the shore.
And those touched even slightly
Are changed forever more.

— Chrissy Senecal

The Winds Of Change

Riding on the winds of change
Watching time play its game
Witness events that come and go
Nothing ever remains the same

A separation of two best friends
A feeling of love in which two hearts mend
Watching the sunset on a near by shore
The death and sadness in a world raged war

With every passing second
We discover something new Changing our lives, our world
And our one-way view

Big wheels turn along the winds of change
Riding time as it blows away
Witness events that come and go
Only a memory left to show

What A Touch Of Flair!

They add class and flair to chool functions. They supply he community with profession- l quality music. They tour the ountry — as well as Canada and Europe. They are Mater Dei Marching Band.

Being among the top five per ent of bands, Mater Dei is con- tantly in demand. They have ours to San Diego annually and ave been to Hawaii and Can- da. During the summer of '86, he Band's ten-day trip to Eur- pe — including stops in Ger- nany, France, Switzerland and taly — was highlighted by per- orming for Pope John Paul II at t. Peter's Square. After the per- ormance the Pope personally reeted each member of the Band. Plans for the next summer rip constitutes a tour to Ireland nd England in '87.

Closer to home, the Band pro- ided invaluable service for the ommunity. Events such as the pecial Olympics, The Bishop's ress Luncheon and various sea- onal functions keep the Band nore than busy. They were se- ected for the opening ceremo- ies of the National Catholic ducation Association Conven- on held in Anaheim and have erformed at Rams and Char- ers' half-time field shows.

Most importantly, the Band erforms for the school. Football ames, rallies, school Masses nd the Senior Class Musical are nly a few examples. They also lay for special events, such as he blessing and dedication of he new building and the round-breaking ceremonies for he new school.

Hard work and dedication ave a lot to do with the high emand for Mater Dei's Band. reparation for Marching be- ins in the summer when the ifferent sections of the band have weekly practices. During the last two weeks in August the Band goes through what is affectionately called "Hell Week." Everybody practices marching and playing from nine in the morning to five in the evening in chalked off sections of Fountain Valley's Recreation Center.

Once school begins, the Band is hard at work rehearsing after school. In the three-month period between October and December they have six competitions, not to mention nine football games and the CIF game. Finally, they compete in the Tournament of Champions, which is, in the words of the Band's director, Mr. Corrigan, "The CIF of Marching Bands." Recently, they've taken first place.

The Band, through the hard work of the members and the steadfast direction of Mr. Corrigan, continues to produce the finest field shows which are used for the good of the school and community.

The Sight And Sound Of Mater Dei

The pagentry corp began at ID in the early 1960's. It in-udes 160 musicians, fifty drill am girls and twenty-four tall ag members. They have per-rmed all over the Western nited States, Canada, and Eur-pe. Some of their past perfor-ances include the Rose Parade Pasadena, CA, the King Ka-ehameha Parade in Honolulu, awaii and half-time and pre-me shows for the LA Rams, n Diego Charges, CA Angels d the LA Dodgers.

During the summer of 85', the rp performed for Pope John ul II in St. Peter's Square, in ome. The Pope personally eeted each person. They also erformed many concerts in ermany, Switzerland and Italy. ne of this years finales was the nta Ana X-mas Parade.

The pagentry corp is under e direction of Mr. Michael rrigan, who is an alumni of D and has been at MD for the st sixteen years. The assistant rector is Mr. Chris Merino, ho is also a MD alumni.

To be in the pagentry corp is a ll-time job. The first semester of school the corp marches and the second semester the corp works on concerts and solos. The school year begins for them the last two weeks in August. The whole corp practices from nine in the morning until five or later at night, at the Fountain Valley Recreation Center. After school starts they practice for an hour and a half everyday after-school.

During the second semester the pagentry corp members work on solos and the Spring Concert.

This year's pagentry corp was very successful on the field. The half-time competition won the highest field score in the Tour-nament of Champions, which is analogous to the CIF finals in sporting competitions.

One of the last events the pa-gentry corp attended this year was the NCEA which took place at the Anaheim Convention Center. They were asked to per-form the opening ceremonies

The Power Of Love

Under the direction of Miss Milowicki and through the leadership of head leader Barbie Larkin and assistant leader Patty Regan the twenty-four enthusiastic girls have finished a very successful year.

In the fall the tall flags combine their efforts with the band and drill team to perform the pre-game and half-time show at the home football games. The Pageantry Corps also perform in parades and field competitions, as well as providing the half-time entertainment for both the Chargers and the Rams football teams.

The team started their competition season placing first at the Azusa tournament. With a great deal of commitment and dedication the team went on to win three sweepstakes, nine first place, four second place and three third place awards. One of the most exciting events of the year was at the Katella Competition where the team won two sweepstakes trophies in one day. Miss Milowicki has stated that, "the team shares the good times as well as the bad which has bought them closer together like a family." The tall flag team has progressed together developing cooperation, patience, love and the importance of doing their best which has made this a positive and successful year. Congratulations to the hardworking team who so excellently promoted the spirit of Mater Dei, Honor, Glory and Love.

Something new for them is year was their seventh peri-d prop team. Seventh period is comprised of all new members, and until this year, they did not compete during dance season. Their prop team did very well this year by trophying their very first time in competition. All of the Monarchettes were very proud of their new members. Their dance season was very successful — they trophied at every competition. Their successful season this year will not end in June, they will be competing June 20-21 in Waikiki, Hawaii at the Hawaii Aloha Drill Team Competition.

One of the most important people to the Monarchettes is their irreplaceable director Miss Gail Milby. She has been directing the drill team at Mater Dei for fourteen years. She has led the Monarchettes to victory every season. This past field season, the drill team was awarded the honor of best overall choreography.

The Monarchettes are truly a spirited and hard working group of young ladies that bring enjoyment to thousands of fans each year.

Watch Out, Here We Come!

Commitment and determination was the key to success for the Mater Dei Songleaders. Many hours were spent choreographing routines and polishing up techniques.

It's not an easy task being a songleader. Many a times have come up when they have had to contend with the frustrations of trying to raise the spirits of an unenthusiastic crowd.

Their dedication, however, has shown through. After winning many awards at competitions, the songleaders climbed to the top. The win was at the Miss Drill Team USA competition where they captured first place. To top off their year, they will be performing in Japan this summer ... truly an experience the songleaders will never forget!

The year was filled with excitement and enthusiasm for the songleaders. The close friendships along with the experiences they have shared is what makes being a songleader so memorable. Their theme will carry on and the songleaders will be anxiously saying, "Watch out, here we come!" as they head to Japan to perform.

Cheering To Victory

The Varsity Cheerleaders have nce again given us a year filled ith excitement and enthusi- m. The long hours that they ve put into their routines owed how much dedication ey had into raising our spirits. Undoubtedly, this year would ot have been complete without e eighteen member squad.

Under the supervision of oderator, Mr. John Merino and coach Mr. Paul Marks, the cheerleaders worked their way to the top. They won first place at the National High School Cheerleading competition which was held at UCI. They then moved on and placed third out of squads from all over the country at the National Cheerleading Championships held in Orlando, Florida. The Varsity Cheerleaders also captured first place at the Miss Drill Team USA competition held in Santa Monica.

All this winning did not come easily. Since the summer, the cheerleaders have put in a tremendous amount of time into making this year's squads one of the best. Because of their commitment and vivacity, they have formed the squad into one the finest in the country.

There was still more work for these cheerleaders after winning trophies. They faithfully attended every football and basketball game where they showed what true spirit is all about.

The cheerleaders put life and spirit into Mater Dei. They are the ones who enhance the tradition of being a Monarch.

Things never get boring for M.D. s. The cheerleaders keep the action ng as they perform in front of thou- ds of people. 2. The cheerleaders are ays ready to rally the crowds spirit. 3. king a short break, Lona Theis flashes mile for the camera.

WE'RE IN CONTROL

The Soph-Frosh cheerleaders ad another year filled with en- nusiasm and spirit. Under the vatchful eye of their moderator Mr. Merino, these girls practiced nany hours preparing winning outines and exciting stunts. All his work eventually paid off. They won first place for their division at the National High School Cheerleading Championships which was held at UCI. They then went on to the National Cheerleading Competitions in Orlando, Florida.

This past season the squad performed at both the freshmen and sophomore games including rallies. Because of their dedication and commitment, they have shown that the Monarch spirit lives on.

The Spirit Lives On

The spirit lives on as the Varsity Cheerleaders finished another winning year. After collecting trophy after trophy at numerous competitions, the cheerleaders headed to the National Cheerleading Championships, held in Orlando, Florida from February 20-23rd.

It took a lot of hard work and determination on the cheerleaders' part to get their routines as sharp and perfect as they could. The competition from the other schools across the country was tough. Gone is the old "rah rah" form of cheerleading. Today cheerleading could be considered a sport in itself. The squad must be ready to perform difficult gymnastic moves. Backflips, trampoline jumps, and aerial stunts made up a large part of their exciting routines.

This hard work finally paid off for the Varsity Cheerleaders. The Monarchs captured third place out of squads from all over the country and gained national exposure.

Their dedication to excell as a top cheerleading squad has made them one of the finest in the country.

Imperious Leaders . . . Gallant Results

Leadership, Dedication, school spirit, pride — all of these things combine to make a class officer. The responsibilities of a class officer extend far beyond the weekly class meetings.

These leaders are busy throughout the year, planning all of their class' activities. These include spirit weeks, class picnics, bake sales, and seasonal dances. The Senior Class had the responsibility of arranging and organizing the Homecoming Dance and the Junior Class handled the preparations for the Prom.

The purpose of the class officers is to provide student leadership for the classes. They also serve as a link between the administration and the students. Along with the section reps, they did their best to meet the needs of all people involved. Through their hard work, the guidance of Mrs. La Rosa, and good communication, they were victorious in all of their undertakings.

The House Of Commons
Is Not To Be Forgotten

An important, yet overlooked, section of our student government belongs the House of Commons, or section representatives. The representatives are there for each member of the student body. They are there to represent the members of parliament, or the A.S.B. officers, in making sure information dealing with school and class activities is relayed to the students.

Along with the class officers, the representatives work to raise funds for class activities by sponsoring bake sales, dances, and car washes. Aiding with the building of homecoming floats, movie nights, Christmas decorations, and the organization of the class sponsored dances are important parts of their duties.

Within the ten minutes each morning that their job duties require, they must read the school announcements as well as any special class announcements. Many times volunteers are needed to work school activities and fundraisers and it is the representatives' job to find the people needed. With the extra help of the students and the section representatives, the officers have an easier time making their class number one.

The Aristocratic Monarchs

Student Body President Michael McGlinn

There are many responsibilities rested on the shoulders of the student body president. They involve many hours of dedicated service and love for one's school. Mike McGlinn has been an exceptional president who has not only met his responsibilities but he has exceded beyond the call of duty.

Mike represented the school at many conferences, fund raisers, and rallies. He was very active in the group which faught to save the Santa Ana Bowl. Along with playing football, Mike was very busy at all times keeping in contact with the faculty and students. He was a vital participant in the planning and running of Liberty Week. This week consisted of activities which raised money for the Statue of Liberty Fund. Mike strived to do his best in every task that he handled. This, along with pride in his work made him a very productive president. He was indeed a key factor in making the 1985-86 school year a grandeur event.

"Student Council would have meant nothing to me if it weren't for the support and friendship I received during this year. It gave me some of the most memorable experiences of my eighteen year old life. I would like to thank Mrs. LaRosa, Mr. Merino, the faculty, the rest of the student council, and of course the rest of the student body for all of the cooperation they gave me this year."
Michael McGlinn

Student Body Vice President Tiffany Felix

Many people think of the vice president's job as being easy and carefree. Tiffany Felix proved that it was anything but that. As vice president Tiffany helped to make the morning and afternoon announcements. It was because of this that she earned the nickname of "the girl with the golden voice". She also oversaw many of the activities that were run by the Social Committee such as the Carnation Sale and Candy Cane Sale, the Faculty/A.S.B. Picnic, and the Welcome and Co-Ed Dances. She was a major factor in the success of each of these events.

Tiffany also helped with the magazine drive in October. She helped to make it one of the most successful ever. She was also able to go to different grade schools to talk to the eighth graders about the various aspects of Materi Dei. She was able to share the experiences of her four years at Mater Dei. She too was very involved in the planning of Liberty Week and the Special Olympics.

"My years at Matei Dei have taught me to be a high achiever and go after the goals that I want. Student Council was one of those goals and after three years of preparation I was able to fulfill that goal and feel confident in the job that I had done." Tiffany Felix.

Student Body Secretary Marie Ann Dougherty

The main objective for a secretary is to organize and that is exactly what Marie Ann Dougherty did. Marie Ann was in charge of preparing the agenda for all A.S.B. meetings and keeping records of all that was discussed. She attended both the weekly meetings of the Executive Board, which consisted of the A.S.B. officers and Commissioners, and the monthly full house meetings. Along with recording the meetings Marie Ann was to make sure that everyone was doing their job. She also made all of the corispondance with other high schools that was vital to the Mater Dei Student Council.

Marie Ann attended the C.A.S.C. Conference in August with the other three officers. The conference lasted for one week and allowed all of those in attendance to learn more about the importance of student council and ways to create a productive school year. "C.A.S.C. as well as student council, was a really great experience. I was able to meet many new people from both public and private schools and see the differences and likenesses between them. It broadened my horizons on people and the importance of student council." Marie Ann Dougherty.

Student Body Treasurer Wendy Werve

Responsibility and a good head for figures are the two main ingredients for a treasurer. As A.S.B. Treasurer Wendy Werve was responsible for keeping account of all funds for student council. Wendy took in the money from bake sales, dance bid sales, and other fund raisers and made sure that the money was desposited safely. As well as dealing with the money matters she also helped to get crews to serve refreshments at the Welcome and Co-Ed Dances. Wendy was also an instrumental link in the Special Olympics that was run by the G.A.A. in March. She also helped with the organizing of Liberty Week. Along with setting up this week Wendy had the very important job of collecting and keeping track of all of the money that was to be sent to the Statue of Liberty Fund. Mater Dei was the first private school west of the Mississippi to have a fund raiser for this cause.

"I really enjoyed working with and meeting many people- I can honestly say that being on Student Council has helped make my Mater Dei experience a great one so far, and I hope that it continues in my senior year." Wendy Werve.

3 COMMISSIONERS

Knights Of The Round Table

As the "workforce" of the Student Council, the commissioners strived to prove that they could be relied upon in all situations. These ten committees were responsible for many different and vital aspects of Mater Dei. They were guided by the sure direction of Mrs. Carol Ann LaRosa. Each committee collaborated with the A.S.B. officers to plan dances, school fundraisers, and many other activities.

Along with the group-planned activities, each committee, headed by Finola Halloran ities. The Councilgram Committee, healed by Finola Halloran and Michelle Runyan, was in charge of congratulating various faculty members and students who had won awards or who had gained recognition. For example, faculty members who win awards for classroom decorating are given Councilgrams.

The latest news was brought to the students through the many bulletin boards around campus. Steered by Marie d'Hulst and Jeff Schunk, the Bulletin Board Committee stretched their creativity and talents to make the display of news both excitinq and informative.

In charge of creating all of the colorful posters were Linda Basse and Susie Atencio. They dealt with the perils of windy days and dried paints. Their work was appreciated by all and did much to bolster team spirit. They were also responsible for getting all important messages printed in the Lumen and the daily bulletin.

A special committee was devised to record all of the events of the year for the purposes of composing a senior slide show and an annual scrapbook. This Historian Committee, led by Collin Kenney and Debbie Young, was always ready to record on film moments that were special to the seniors.

The Election Committee, with leaders Maria Martinez and Joe Atkinson, was the committee responsible for counting the votes of all elections. They organized elections, drew up the ballots, and counted all of the votes for each election. This was no easy task, considering the number of students at Mater Dei!

Commandeered by Mike Motherway and Amy Haupert, the Health and Safety Committee assumed the tasks of running the fall and spring blood drives. Primarily, they were responsible for signing up donors, preparing the gym for the drive, and working throughout the day to assist students and the Red Cross.

Mike Kelly and Erin Breen served as Athletic Commissioners. Their jobs lay in the area of providing lunchtime activities. They were able to organize a lunch time disc jockey for the listening pleasure of the students.

The dangerous, yet important, task of the Building and Grounds Commissioners was performed by Mark Zavodnik and Mike O'Connor. They kept the school marquis up to da this is not only important for at Mater Dei, but it also kee the community informed.

Helping to keep the school e thusiastic, the Spirit Commi sioners Todd Harris and Ma reen O'Brien sold many spi ribbons and helped to pai posters. Led by these two, t cheerleaders provided great e tertainment at pep assemblies

The Social Activities Commi tee was steered by Miche Steinmetz, Karen Croteau a Jeff Gibson. This committ handled carnation sales and ca dy cane sales. They were also r sponsible for planning the Fa ulty-A.S.B. Picnic, Welcom Dance, and Co-ed Dance. In a dition, the committee also org nized a Christmas luncheo with Sant Ana High School Student Council.

These committees put in lon hours in their separate task however, they banned togeth in a common interest: scho unity.

1. The publicity committee works hard to create original posters to support all of the athletic teams. 2. Homecoming means the annual Carnation Day. Jeff Gibson and Scott Howley work diligently to separate the flowers into the correct sections so that everyone will receive their special carnations.

1. Finding Princess Ingrid (Alycia Grenesko) a little more than the "sweet, freckle-faced kid" he knew five years ago, Agent 86 has his hands full. It would take CONTROL's top agent to guard both the Princess and the powerful device, the Inthermo ... unfortunately Maxwell Smart was all that was available. 2. Taking letters is all part of Miss Finch (Dede Maher)'s job as secretary to the Chief (Brian McClure). But the Chief had better beware! Underneath that innocent exterior lurks the evil heart of a KAOS agent.

From The Desk Of Control
Re:

Project Inthermo

Attention all agents. Attention all agents. Operation Inthermo — better known to the public as "Get Smart" — has been activated as of April 11 and 12. Our base of operations is Valley Auditorium in Santa Ana. Code Red ... and gray.

As per the directives issued by the Chief himself, Agent 86, also known as Maxwell Smart to close friends (played by Matt Champagne), will be assisted by various CONTROL agents. The alluring 99 (Pauline O'Hara), the whining 44 (Mike Reed), and the secretive 13 (Lee Bognor), will all play important "roles".

Even the Chief (Brian McClure) will be coming out from behind his desk to help foil KAOS. Unfortunately, there will be many representatives from that evil organization of crime. To name a few, there will be the three Wong sisters — Mary Wong (Traci Cradit), Betsy Wong (Kelly McDaniel), and Shirley Wong (Kerry McDaniel); the dangerous Garth (David Clarke); and the two undercover, two-faced spies: Professor Zalinka, the scientist (Diane Sweeney) and Miss Finch, the secretary (Dede Maher). Not only will common KAOS be trying to trap our valiant agents, the insidious Mr. Big (Michael Burghart) will be directing (second only to Mrs. Seeley) the operation.

But don't be deceived. The agents you see are merely the front-line field agents. They, however, are not the only ones on the job. There will be a special agent detail crew who have worked long and hard to see that the mission is a success. They keep a low profile and stay in the background, but to be sure, without their efforts the operation would be a complete disaster.

Your mission, should you choose to accept it, will be to keep KAOS away from the powerfully destructive device known only as the "Inthermo". This product of Professor Dante (Joe Nutter)'s hard work and dedication must be kept out of evil hands.

Your secondary mission will be to protect the Scandanavian Princess Ingrid (Alycia Grenesko). The NATO meeting taking place in Scandinavia could be disastrous for our nation should the Princess fall into the evil clutches of KAOS. You will be subjected to every danger imaginable ("And loving it!" "Shut up, 86!").

Your life, as well as the fate of the free world, will be on the line. So ... let's be careful out there. And try to keep 86 out of trouble.

The Regal Crowning

Tradition. Anticipation. Ex-ement. Prestige. It's all a part Mater Dei. But when you add 00 exhuberant fans to Eddie est Field, five floats, a queen iting to be crowned, and 92 xious football players ready to e on Pius X, you've got your-f the 1985 Homecoming me. The night's festivities be-n with the game ball being esented by a parachuter who nded on the field after jump-g from a plane hundreds of et above the stadium. Thus, e game began.

At the end of the first quarter, e Monarchs had a 10-0 lead er Pius X due to Gary Coston's -yard field goal. By the end of e game, Coston had made ree field goals of 51, 49, and 25 rds. Other standouts of the me included Mike Kelly, Tim nider, and Mike O'Connor, no made an exciting intercep-n. Todd Marinovich and Matt ence made a good team as they mpleted 3 after 3 successive sses. The game ended in a 16-6 ctory for the Monarchs.

Halftime added to the excite-ent of the evening. Fireworks, oats, and the crowning of the omecoming queen were the ghlights of the halftime enter-nment. The different floats at were displayed represented ch class and their particular eme. Accompanying them ere some past Homecoming ueens and the tradifional omecoming float. The queen r 1985 was Lisa Oberly. Her urt included senior attendants aria Martinez and Tiffany oover, junior attendant Kelly einhardt, and sophomore at-ndant Erin Kelly. Each girl was corted by their father and pre-nted to the crowd. The impres-ve fireworks display began er the queen was crowned.

The excitement that presided er the night had been mount-g for quite a while. Prepara-ons for Homecoming had start-when nominations for the ueen and her court were initiat-. The hustle and bustle of each ass was really put into motion hen construction began on the oats. Carnations distributed in ctions on Homecoming morn-g signified the beginning of an exciting day. The students' spirit was really pumped up for the game when rallies were put on for all the classes. All of these events stirred up the anticipation for the exciting evening.

The Monarchs' victory and the halftime events left the fans with a feeling of restful euphoria. But the feeling of anticipation had not quite died. After all, Homecoming Dance was yet to come . . .

1. Establishing his reputation as a tremendous kicker was one of the many things Gary Coston accomplished during the season. Gary added to the excitement of Homecoming by kicking three field goals. 2. Singing the Alma Mater at the ending of every game is tradition at Mater Dei. A Night Under The Stars

The tension mounted as November 9th got closer and closer. Sometimes, though, things didn't work out between couples, and the option of taking an outsider was a relieving one. After all the confusion of buying a knock-out dress, corsages, and bids, Homecoming night finally arrived.

After dining at the Jolly Roger or perhaps Bobby Magees, Mater Dei couples headed over to the Anaheim Convention Center, while Disneyland tourists eagerly waved at them from buses in the next lane. The couples soon made their grand entrance and began to do some dancing and socializing. (Or maybe just to see, and be seen!)

But the night wasn't over yet! "Stand By Me" was an appropriate theme as many couples waited in long lines to get their pictures taken to show off to their many family, friends, and relatives. Pictures were a fantastic way to remember the evening, and they were free - so why not!?

After the dance had ended at 12:00, popular destinations included the local parties, beaches, and anywhere else they had a chance to show off their extravagent clothing. Some couples decided to get away from it all, and finish the evening off in a more quiet atmosphere.

After the evening had winded down, kids began arriving home in the early morning. They slowly snuck in the front door and climbed into bed (hoping mom and dad wouldn't hear them), and fell asleep for the next day or so. "It was a night I'll never forget!!" exclaimed one student.

Photographs captured the memories of Homecoming night to be treasured for the years to come. 2. This hot group took their time out to be photographed. Erin Kelly, Jennifer Sallinger, Carolyn Miller, Pat Munoz, Claudine Moreno, and Tisi Wardell showed the crowds just what it meant to look marvelous. 3. Secluded from the outer world, Gina Ingram and Mike McGlinn enjoy a quiet moment alone. Being close with that special someone was a perfect way to end the evening. 4. Standing out from the crowd, Mike Thomas shows his individuality. The Fair's Started ROSE [her arm about Esther]. The fireworks will be going off oon - rockets and pinwheels, nd Roman candles - the big ance will be starting - and we'll e sitting alone in a little New ork flat!"

ESTHER [half wailing]. "Oh, ose!" Bursts into tears and sobs n Rose's shoulder.

Once the curtain went up on riday, December 6, 1985, these nes were imbedded in Holly Iezmalhalch and Pauline O'Hara's brains. After many veeks of long tedious rehearsals, vhich went late into the night, nd many red burrito runs, this ast was psyched for an exciting erformance.

The dedication and perserver- nce shown by the cast even nough they were not only ex- austed, but hadn't seen their amilies in weeks, was stagger- ng. "We worked together as a eam and I think it really howed in our performance." aid cast member Gail Goetsch. Working on the play helps you ut a lot . . . it helps you out of he house, it helps you out of hores . . ." was a famous exclai- nation of Mike Reed, who was lso a part of the cast.

The story is centered on a ypical run-of-the-mill family iving in St. Louis in 1904; just efore the opening of the World's Fair. While the Smith family, along with every other family in St. Louis, eagerly wait- ed the start of the World's Fair, one of the biggest moments in the history of St. Louis, Mr. Smith (Chris Kane) had other plans. He was going to pack up the family and move them to New York. That's where the fun (and trouble) begins.

The Daughters; Rose (Holly Hezmalhalch), Esther (Pauline O'Hara), Agnes (Anna McMurphy), and Tootie (Deanna Morris) do everything to remain in St. Louis. They tried dropping water bombs on their father's boss and even had Tootie bite the boss on the ankle. Eventually the girls go too far and their father loses his job all together. This story deals with family togetherness, love, and of course, a happy ending.

When asked her opinion on the play, Mrs. Seeley said, "Meet Me In St. Louis is a good example of what intelligent teenagers are able to accomplish working together. They were truly successful and delightful." While working on the play both cast and crew grew closer together and in some cases, formed new friendships. All in all, for all involved, it took quite a while to recover from their play experiences.

1. Knowing that Grandpa (Brian McClure) is one of the only people that he could still "borrow" a dollar from, Lon (Matt Crowley) butters him up. However, Grandpa is no fool, he knows he'll never see it again. 2. The make-up crew: (l-r) top; Christina Gonzales, Patty Reyes (head), Irene Izaguirre, Vince Mendoza, Kelly Daley, Bottom; Katie Schuman, and Buffy Wingert. 3. Hugging the play's mascot, Deanna Morris flashes a million dollar smile. The mascot was a major prop used throughout the play. 4. Picking up a chicken heart, Rose (Holly Hezmalhalch) makes a disgusted face as Esther (Pauline O'Hara) and Ida (Margie Hoban) look on. Swallowing the chicken heart is part of an old wife's tale which the girls had heard. 5. Walking passed an irrate Mrs. Waughop (Gail Goetsch), the Conductor (Joe Nutter) plans on pulling the plug on the Smith girls' fun. After all, the girls had just derailed his trolley. 6. Showing off their perfect smiles, Holly Hezmalhalch and Dede Maher pose for a quick picture showing off their hats. Though the backstage was usually quite hectic, it was filled with excitement. 7. The cast: (l-r) back; Mike Burghart, Chris Kane, Mike Reed, Gail Goetsch, Joe Nutter, Deniece Folga, Brian McClure, Bob Dominguez, Jason Alkier, Dede Maher, Matt Crowley, Margie Hoban, front; Andrea Gilbert, Deanna Morris, Pauline O'Hara, Holly Hezmalhalch, and Anna McMurphy.

Decorate The Halls With Bows And Holly

People passing, children aughing, greeting smile after mile. The air of Christmastime urrounds us all. Everyone is exited by the red and green lights f Christmas vacation at the end f the long and seemingly endess tunnel of schoolwork. Often roving to be as exciting as vacaion itself, the week before has ome to be known as Christmas pirit Week.

The week begins, technically, ome time before it actually akes place, with the members of he student council meeting to iscuss what activities to plan nd how to decorate the campus. Then on the weekend before he last week of school, the student body is invited to help decorate. On Monday morning, the rest of the school returns to find the campus prepared for a week-long Christmas celebration. This year, decorations included the twelve days of Christmas, a tribute to last year's seasonal fundraiser hit, "Do They Know it's Christmas?" by Band Aid, and the traditional Nativity scene in the quad. To add to the Christmas spirit, carols were broadcast over the loud-speaker before section.

As has always been the way, Christmas is a time of giving. But at Mater Dei, students carried the giving beyond their closely-knit groups of family and friends and gave to people they didn't know. A food and gift drive was organized by the student council for the needy of Tijuana. Students brought in canned goods, non-perishable items and unwrapped gifts to section which were later distributed to the needy of Tijana. In the spirit of celebrating our Lord's birth, we help those who cannot help themselves.

The high point of the week is, of course, the Christmas mass. One of the two major masses of the school year, the Christmas mass is a special, unifying celebration. It is preceded by months of training by the choral groups, band, and the handbell choir. The results were nothing less than fantastic.

The entire feeling behind Christmas Spirit Week was of fellowship and sharing. The true feeling of family showed through the students and faculty and staff as they exchanged gifts and more material things. Just as advent is a period of waiting for the birth of Christ, so, too, was Christmas Spirit Week a time for rejoicing and awaiting the time away from school that lies ahead.

1. Students such as Christy Jewett, Kevin Trotter, and Susan Taylor spent painstaking hours making decorations for the campus. Working with friends makes it easier. 2. Hanging the garland around the grotto is definitely a team effort, as Karen Croteau found out. 3. As a result of many hours of hard work and preparation, the Christmas mass was a beautiful ceremony celebrating Christ's coming. 4. Tree trimming is their specialty! Maria Martinez, Finola Halloran and Erin Breen put the finishing touches on the Christmas Tree.

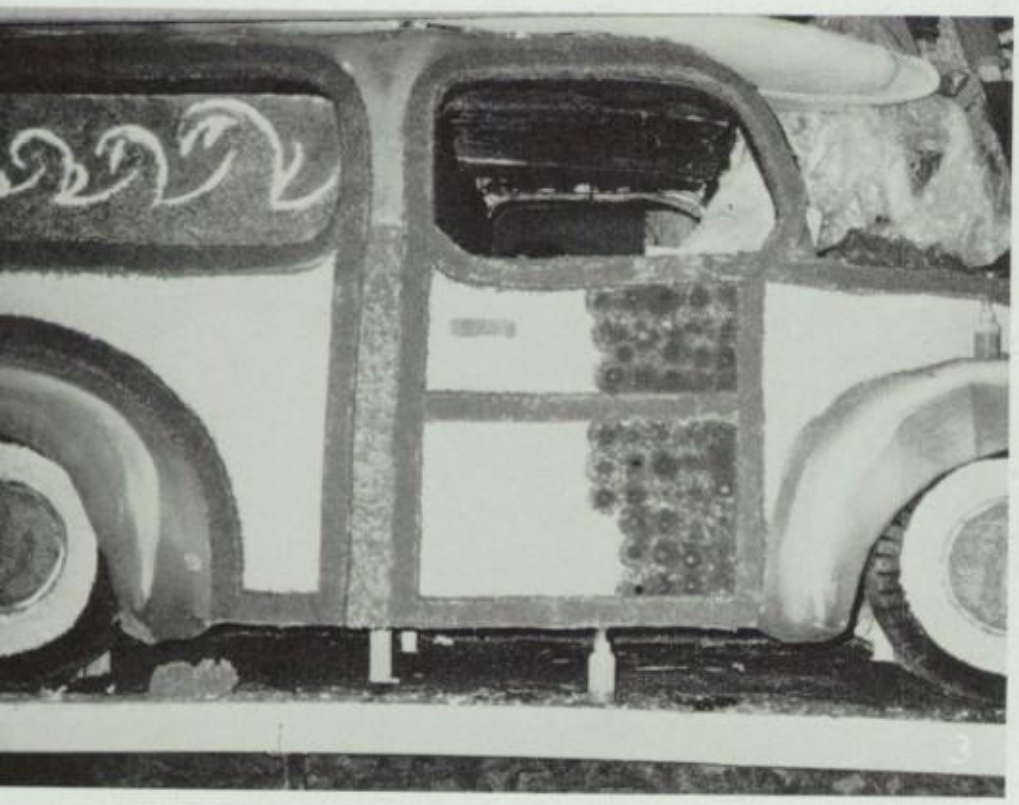
Rose Parade "Floats" To Success



Success for Santa Ana's Floats in the Rose Parade is always due to the hard work and sacrifice put in by local high school students during their Christmas vacations. Four schools who participate annually in this event are, Mater Dei, Saddleback, Santa Ana, and Santa Ana Valley High Schools.

Many long hours are put into designing and adding the final touches to the float. The float began as an idea early in 1985, it then progressed to its actual form in October of that same year. Late in December, the student volunteers started applying the seeds and flowers that would bring the float to life on New Year's Day.

One thing that happened this year, was that the float won the Pioneer's Trophy. This was awarded to the float which best portrayed the romance and heritage of California. Santa Ana chose the freeway at "rush Hour" to depict this. The characters were classic examples of a typical "Friday on the Freeway", as the float was also titled. A contest was held in Santa Ana to design a character that would bring out the cultural flavor of the city. After a long deliberation, the designers chose a rendition of a typical Santa Ana area car.

Even though the volunteers had to give up their vacation time, they all agreed that they really had fun working on the float. Otto Sheglez commented that, "Everyone had a lot of fun, and it was great meeting people from other schools."

The efforts of all the volunteers were greatly appreciated. Senior students involved were, Erin Breen, Marie Ann Dougherty, Christy Jewett, Brian Keen, Maureen O'Brien, and Michele Steinmetz. Juniors who volunteered were, Maura McGlinn, Yvonne Niggebrugge, and Brenda Schreiber. Finally, the sophomores who helped were, Laura and Lisa Frodsham, Kerry Owens, Julie Reed, and Otto and Krista Sheglez. A final comment from one volunteer was, "Everyone says we had a lot of fun, and we did. We not only met new people, but we met people from our own school who we didn't know that well."

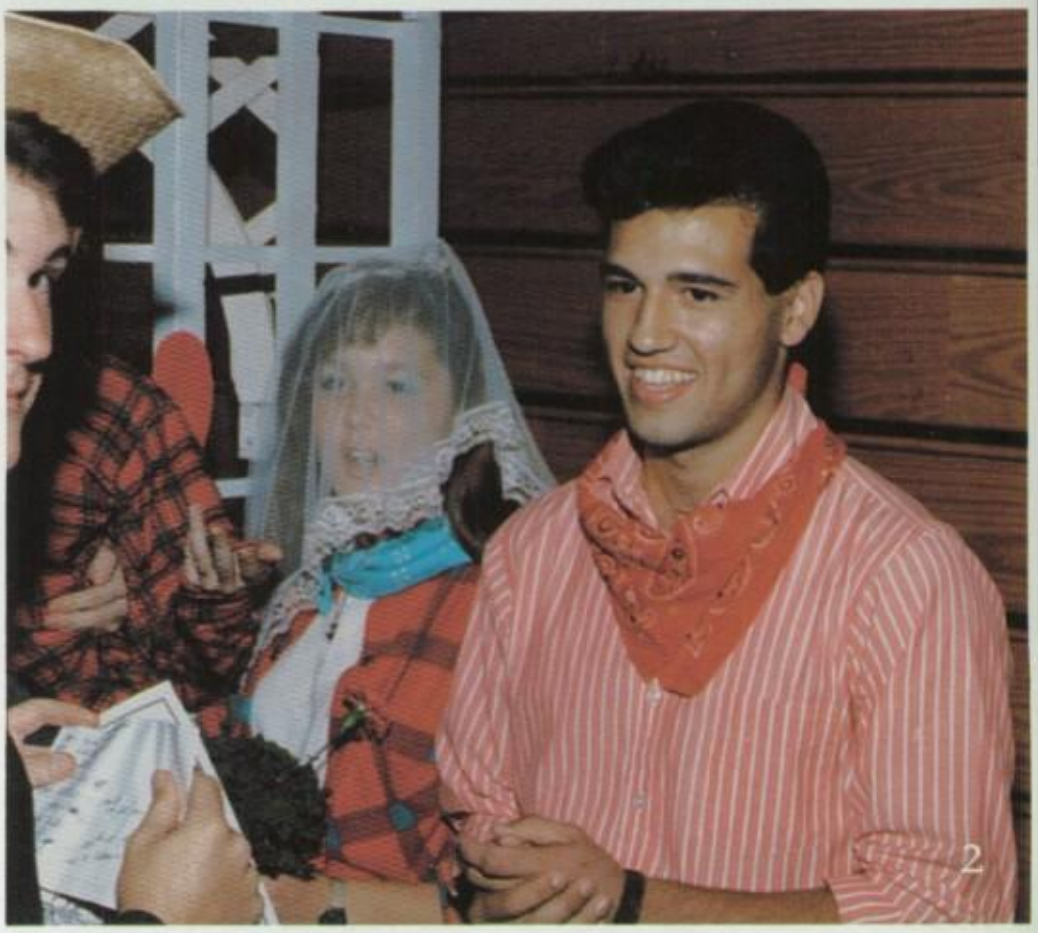
1. Before final construction of the float, a contest was held to design a scene that would depict some portion of Santa Ana life. 2. Depicting the scene, a painting was made of the float before bringing it to life for the parade. 3. The detailed work of a Rose Parade is eminent here, as flowers are applied to the surfer's car. 4. Not something seen on the freeways of California every day, this skateboarder adds a comical flair to the float.

It's Your Turn Gals Lasso That Man!

Springtime at Mater Dei neans Sadie Hawkins is on its vay. That's good news to a lot of eople. Especially the guys. Be- ause this time around it's up to he girls to conjure up the nerve nd do the asking. And the plan- ing. And the paying. Whew! Thank goodness jeans and Western apparel is the dress ode. That sure allows for some ood ol' fashioned fun.

Some of the fun comes from ll of the available activities at he dance. Wedding ceremonies vith marriage licenses are a big art of the fun. As is getting into nd getting others into jail. A erson who wants an "outlaw" o be captured pays to have the erson posted as "wanted". One or more) of the cheerleaders, who organize this dance, goes ut onto the dance floor to find he villian and round him up. The captured person is thrown nto jail for a certain time period. However, the real fun is getting evenge on those who have you ailed. Pictures are also available or the guys and gals who want a keepsake from the evening. It's a ommon sight to see several olks gathered around each other grinning broadly in front of a amera.

All of this is due to the hard work of the cheerleaders who nake Sadie Hawkins their annu- l fundraiser for their trip to Florida. The work they put into organizing the dance pays off in a lot of ways. Not only do they get to raise money, but also en- oy themselves while doing it. All of those who participated in he fun and in the planning of Sadie Hawkins would agree, it ure is one heck of a fun way to aise money!



1. Kristen Wilmot and her date show off the Western dress that was the dance's theme. 2. At the Sadie Hawkins dance, many couples "get hitched" in mock weddings. This couple just "I do-ed". 3. Robert Loughran tries to jail an unsuspecting "filly" while a friend, in turn, tries to jail him. The jail is one of Sadie Hawkin's most popular features.

"Let Me Be The One"

Every year around February, a subject frequently brought up among the girls is Co-Ed. Sure, it's another semi-formal, but this dance is pretty unique because it brings an unusual opportunity for the guys- to be asked to a dance instead of do the asking. Now of course it's becoming more and more common for girls to ask guys out, but this dance requires that it's done that way. And that makes most girls nervous. But, the nervousness disappears as soon as the night gets underway.

Most couples began the evening by going to dinner with a group to a favorite restaurant or someone's house. Then it was on to the dance. Pictures were usually the first thing taken care of after arriving at the Costa Mesa Country Club. Each couple also voted on the King and Prince of Co-Ed. Later on in the evening, Marc Redoutey and Mike O'Connor were crowned King and Prince, respectively.

As the clock approached twelve, the crowd of couples gradually dispersed taking their time to say their good-byes hoping to prolong the evening. After the country club was emptied, the echo of the memories was still alive. When school resumed on Tuesday, many memories were shared between friends about the wonderful time they had on Co-Ed evening, 1986.

MD "Little Red" 21 Years With Millard Crosby

Erasers flying with the greatest of ase. Fights breaking out at the drop t a white, blue-ribboned sailor's at. Teachers only barely managing o control a class of smart alecs.

This couldn't be an average day at Mater Dei, could it? Of course not! is merely a scene from the traditional play, "The Little Red Schoolouse," presented by the Senior lass as a token of welcome to the ncoming Freshman Class. There is ttle chance that Millard Crosby, uthor of the play, could have nown that his reation of wit nd clever humor would grow into a radition to be eeply rooted into he legacy of Mat- Dei. Yet, it has ecome an annual vent anticipated y freshmen and eniors alike.

As with all previous versions, he play centered around the harassed school-teacher, Miss Bronson played by Linda Basse), trying to ope with as motley a group of students as they come. The cast of pupils included such archetypical haracters as the school bully, Butch allahan (Mike O'Connor); the eacher's pet, Mayberry Flutter (Jaie Austin); and the would-be acress Hildegarde LaVerne (Margie loban). And what menagerie of students would be complete without a ratty tattle-tale? Karen Croteau provided such a character in the person of Marigold Talbot. It was strange to see the seniors in roles so unlike their real selves.

As it was obvious to all who saw the play, the cast put their all into the performance. They sacrificed a good portion of their free time (late summer days, nights and weekends) to keep the long-lasting tradition. Mr. Merino was impressed with the seniors' dedication and stressed that their focus was to "take the job seriously and to do their best."

> "I really surprised the audience when I walked out on the stage. Getting all those whistles and shouts, I surprised myself as well."
> Margie Hoban

The seniors themselves found the experience rewarding. "I got a chance to feel what it was like to perform and I liked working with the people," is how Kristin "Tessie Talent" Werve explained her feelings. Holly Hezmahalch, who played Clarissa Porter, echoed Kristin's sentiments, stating, "I especially enjoyed performing for the freshmen because I remember admiring the seniors who performed it for me when I was a freshman."

And finally, Linda Basse summed up the general feelings of the cast: "It was rad!"

1. "Slinky" is an accurate description of Margie Hoban's interpretation of Hildegarde LaVerne. Margie said that she had a lot of fun and her performance showed it. 2. The more than slightly spoiled character of Clarissa Porter was played by Holly Hezmalhalch, but Clarissa did have a lighter side. Said Holly, "It was a team effort that brought about our success."

1. Learning the songs and dance steps was the most difficult part of the play. Margaret Hoban and Mike Motherway get the chance to show off their polished performance in this particular scene. 2. When it comes to a production such as the senior musical, the behind-the-scenes work is just as important as what goes on the stage. The crew of Hello Dolly put a lot of work into the musical and helped make it a success.

Alas. After uncountable hours of practice and rehearsals, the moment had finally come. The curtain went up, the lights went on, and the eleventh annual senior musical began.

Hello Dolly was the play chosen for the 1986 year. The play that was to be performed was determined before the school year ended last year. Tryouts for the leads were during second semester finals and the leading roles were chosen in January, 1986. There were five leading roles for Hello Dolly, each of which demanded hours of tiring rehearsals, beginning in late January.

Equally demanding were the roles of all of the cast of the Senior Musical. Tryouts for the remaining parts were held in December before Christmas vacation. Although the rehearsals were time-consuming and the dance steps sometimes frustrating, most students agree that the musical was "the perfect way to finish out our senior year".

The wonderful choreography was done by Miss Gail Milby, Mater Dei's Drill Team Moderator. The hours she spent patiently teaching the cast the dance steps was part of a tradition she has helped to form. Mr. Merino directed the play, and like all who were involved in the play, spent quite a few late nights preparing for it. However, all the effort and time paid off. Everything managed to come together at the performances and the frantic last-minute preparations were taken care of and the play was smoothly executed.

Even though many of the cast members said they were "extremely nervous" during the performances, no traces of nervousness were picked up by the audience. Now this ought to prove that the cast did a superb acting job-superficially appearing to be calm, cool, and collected. This is the second time Hello Dolly has been used for the senior musical. The total number of seniors participating was 125. Mr. Merino remarked, "Hello Dolly was blessed with an extremely talented group of leads. They sacrificed much time a effort in polishing their perfo mance which lent a most profe sional touch to this event. The cooperation and willingness be directed made this musical success. All of the students pa ticipating in Hello Dolly eith on stage or behind the scen should be very proud of the pr duction and in the years ahe can look back on this productio with pride in what they accon plished."

Indeed, the seniors have a l to be proud about. The resoun ing opinion of the play was th it was the best in a long tim Unfortunately, all good thin must come to an end. But as t props were disassembled and t lights dimmed, one could almo hear the echo of the applau and the ringing of the voic singing, "We're so glad to ha you back where you belon ...". Ah yes, good things con to an end, but thoughts of goo times and good memories nev do.

Hello Dolly

1.Hello Dolly was a wonderful play and was highlighted by the waiter scene. The dance steps were particularily difficult, and, of course, performed perfectly. 2. The cast of Hello Dolly had many talents. Margaret Hoban was no exception, especially since she was blessed with a beautiful voice. 3. Enthusiasm was one of Hello Dolly's greatest assets. John Anderson and Jamie Austen are perfect examples of the kind. 4. Exhausted but extremely proud, these cast members take their final bows on closing night. 5. Shirley Munoz portrays the supreme talent that brought her a lead role in Hello Dolly. 6. Tiffany Hoover was also a major lead character in the play. The Senior Musical was blessed with many talent contributions this year.

"Oh no! Only five more days until Prom and I still don't have a date!" Not to worry-this is a common dilemma shared by both girls and guys alike during the Prom season, otherwise known as P.P.S. (Pre-Prom-Syndrome). However, we often forget that more important than having the best looking date, the biggest corsage, and the most extravagant dress, is to have a good time.

This year, on May 22nd, Mater Dei's annual Prom was held at the beautiful Disneyland Grand Ballroom in Anaheim. Set behind th hotel, the ballroom could be reache by a beautiful walk through the gar dens and lakes of the grounds. Al though overcrowded by tourists an spectacular light shows, it was pos sible for the average couple to find quiet spot by the torches or under neath the waterfalls.

After taking time exploring, cou ples began arriving for dinne around 7:00. However, many cou ples decided to dine out before arriv ing at the dance at a fashionabl later time. "It's fun to get all dresse up and act like you're older," exclaimed Tiare Ventura, "You get to party all night after you have a smashing time at the dance!" After having an exotic meal, couples spent time taking pictures or dancing to tunes ranging from The Cure to the trendy sounds of Wham! Soon it was time to announce the court of 1986.

The tension mounted as the names were announced one-by-one. Capturing junior attendant was Colleen Spates, followed by senior attendants Maureen O'Brien and Holly Hezmahalch. The crowd roared as Maria Martinez was announced Prom queen of 1986.

Patty Reyes commented on the most memorable events of Prom '86. "... going in a limo, the perfect dress, my date, my corsage ... Mike Thomas and Dan Sauer went in the full disco outfits!" Many students were very enthusiastic of the outcome of the Prom. Rosemarie Camanyag ended, "It's great to have a fun time with friends, dance, and get all dressed up-and it was my senior prom!"

Hats Off To The Class Of '86!

On the morning of May 31 at 0:30, Mater Dei High School raduated its Class of 1986. lugs, smiles, tears, and laughter ere all a part of the memorable norning. The five hundred sen- ors clad in their caps and gowns nade their way into Saint Co- umbian Church in Garden Grove, anxiously awaiting for he Commencement Exercises to egin.

Jamie Austin and James Lodin vere the co-valedictorians who gave speeches during the eremony. Both spoke of their ears at Mater Dei, but Jamie oncentrated on the past while ames concentrated on the fu- ure. Jamie spoke about his four ears at Mater Dei and joked bout not being able to adjust to life without dress code rules. ames' speech was looking ahead o the future — specifically to he turn of the century coming nly in only fourteen years. He vondered at what the future vould bring the Class of '86, and e wondered if "Century 21 Re- lty would change to Century 2".

The Reverend Monsignor Mi- heal P. Driscoll was present as a representative of Bishop Johnson. He handed out the diplomas to the graduates as Father John Weling, vice-principal, and Mr. John Merino, assistant principal, read off the names. The handball choir was playing during the ceremony, bringing beautiful music to all present. Graduates with a cummulative G.P.A. of 4.0 were sitting on the altar being honored for their academic acheivements. As it has been for the past two years, the teachers were dressed in their academic robes depicting which school they graduated from and what degree they acheived.

After the exercise was over, tears of jubilation and some sadness were shed. However, mostly there were shouts, hats thrown into the air, hugs, balloons, flowers and smiles. The feeling shared by most of the graduates was one of relief, happiness, pride, and a little fear of entering the world on their own. But for the moment, they succumbed to the overwhelming urge to laugh and throw their hats into the air.

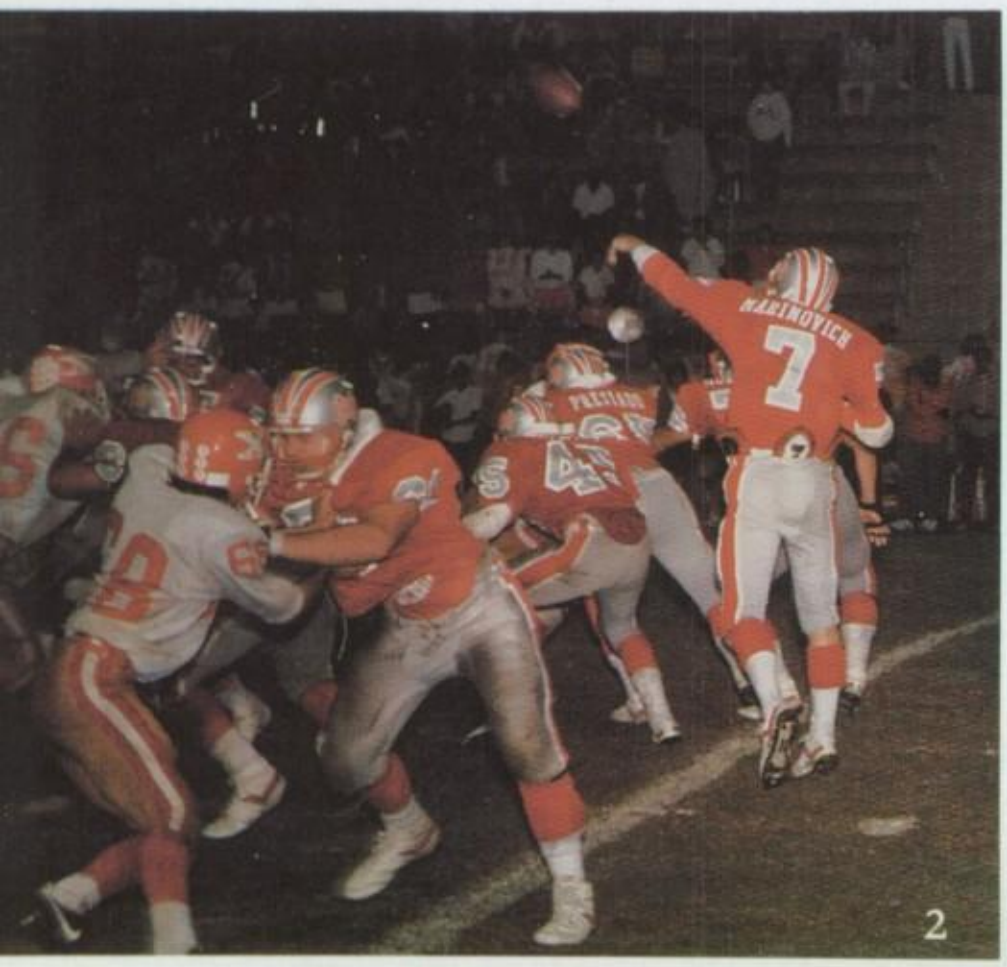
The Big Cat Is Back

Monarchs Fall

The opening game of the season pitted the Monarchs against the fth-ranked team in the county, Fountain Valley. With the score 7- Barons leading, the Monarchs drove the ball 64 yards to the ountain Valley 7-yard line. Quarterback Todd Marinovich dropped ack to pass and lofted the football into the end zone. But, because of communication mix-up, there were two receivers in the same area, nd one of the defenders stepped between them to intercept the pass. he score remained the same until the fourth quarter, when "Air lonarch" struck back. Marinovich hooked up with tight end Tony occo over the middle for a 21-yard touchdown pass to make the ore 10-7. Just as soon as the Monarchs gained the lead, they lost it, hen the Barons scored on the first play with an 88-yard touchdown ass. Later, the Barons scored another touchdown to make the final ore Fountain Valley 20, MD 10. The Mater Dei defense set a strong recedent for future games and the team proved it could compete ith the Orange County powers.

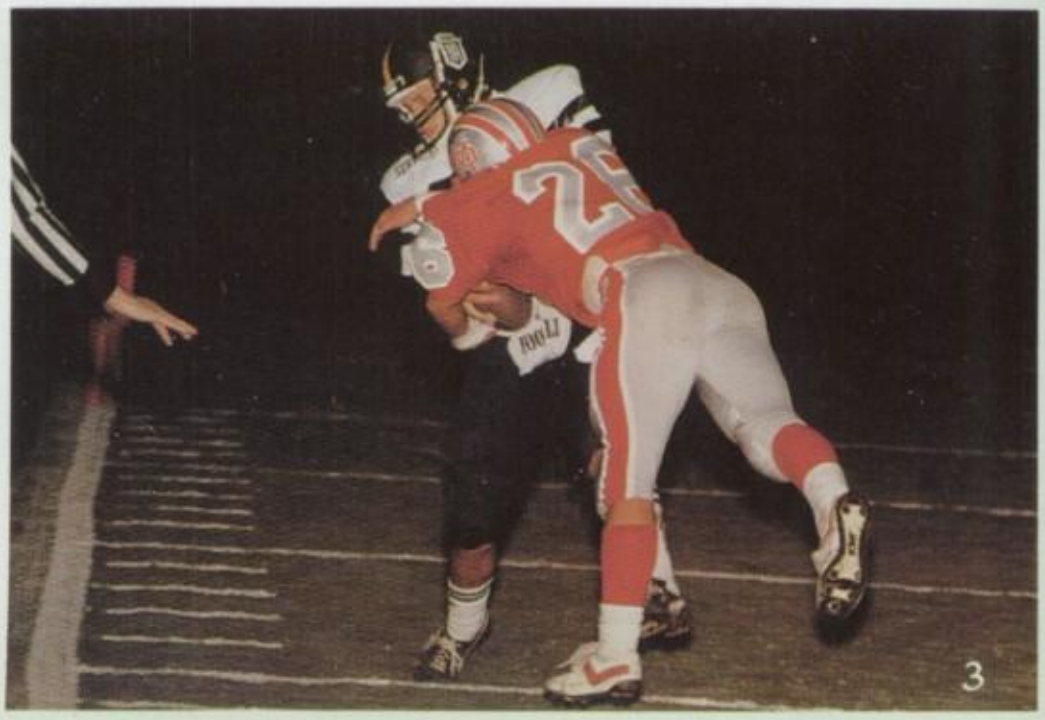
Defensive back Tim Haider picks up some big yardage following the interception. aider was honored for his efforts by being selected to the all-league team.



MD Outscores Valley

The Monarchs evened their record at 1-1 against the tenacious Santa Ana Valley Falcons. In a game the Monarchs wanted to dominate, they were given a scare. The opening kickoff was returned by the Falcons 93 yards for a touchdown. Late in the second quarter with the score 14-10 Falcons, defensive back Mike McGlinn turned the game around by making an exciting defensive play. He picked off a fumble in mid-air and ran 65 yards for the touchdown giving MD a 17-14 halftime lead. In the second half, the Monarchs dominated the game offensively and defensively. On defense, they held the Falcons to 0 yards passing including an interception. Offensively, a superior aerial attack was witnessed as Todd Marinovich threw for 220 yards and four touchdowns. Though the quick Falcons gave the Monarchs a scare in the first half, Mater Dei settled down in the second half and showed how they were capable of playing. The final score read Mater Dei 41, Santa Ana Valley 20.

2. Under great pass protection, Todd Marinovich is able to unleash one of his completions. Without a strong offensive line an offense is helpless. 3. Following the catch, Mike McGlinn makes the Servite receiver pay for his deed. McGlinn played tenaciously in the Monarchs defensive backfield.



MD Surprised In Bowl

At the end of the Mayor's Special Olympic Bowl, one team's ason was made, and the other's looked doomed. With a crucial ke punt play and a couple of long passes the Monarchs were efeated 20-14, by Santa Ana. The Saints playing desperately vercame a 14-6 deficit in the fourth quarter, to triumph. Turovers were a big factor in the final quarter. With the Saints unting on fourth down the Monarch return man fumbled the ir catch and Santa Ana recovered at the 48-yard line. The MD efense held, but on fourth down in punt formation, Santa Ana n around left end for the first down. A few plays later the Saints ored, but the two-point conversion failed so the score stood 14-. The Saints then intercepted a Marinovich pass in their terriry. Three plays later, the Santa Ana quarterback threw a short ss to his receiver who outran the Mater Dei defenders to the d zone. For the Saints, the victory was the highlight of their ason. For the Monarchs, the defeat was the low point because it ft their record at 1-2, with a tough game against Westminster e following week. The one bright spot for MD was the running me, as senior running back Charles Anton ran for 127 yards on carries.

Gliding through the hole, Charles Anton gains big yards. Anton provided the fense with some powerful running.

MD Thrashes Oilers

The Monarchs finished their non-league season with an imessive win over the Huntington Beach Oilers. The game was a od tune-up for league play as the offense and defense put forth rong efforts.

The offense gained over 300 yards, total, mostly without the rvices of running back Charles Anton who went down with a ee injury in the first half. Coach Gallo turned to 'Air Monarch'. uarterback Todd Marinovich completed 24 of 43 passes and had o touchdowns. The receivers were kept busy as Tony Rocco ught a touchdown pass, Jim O'Brien caught 8 passes for 100 rds and a touchdown, and Paul Cardenas caught 10 passes for 4 yards.

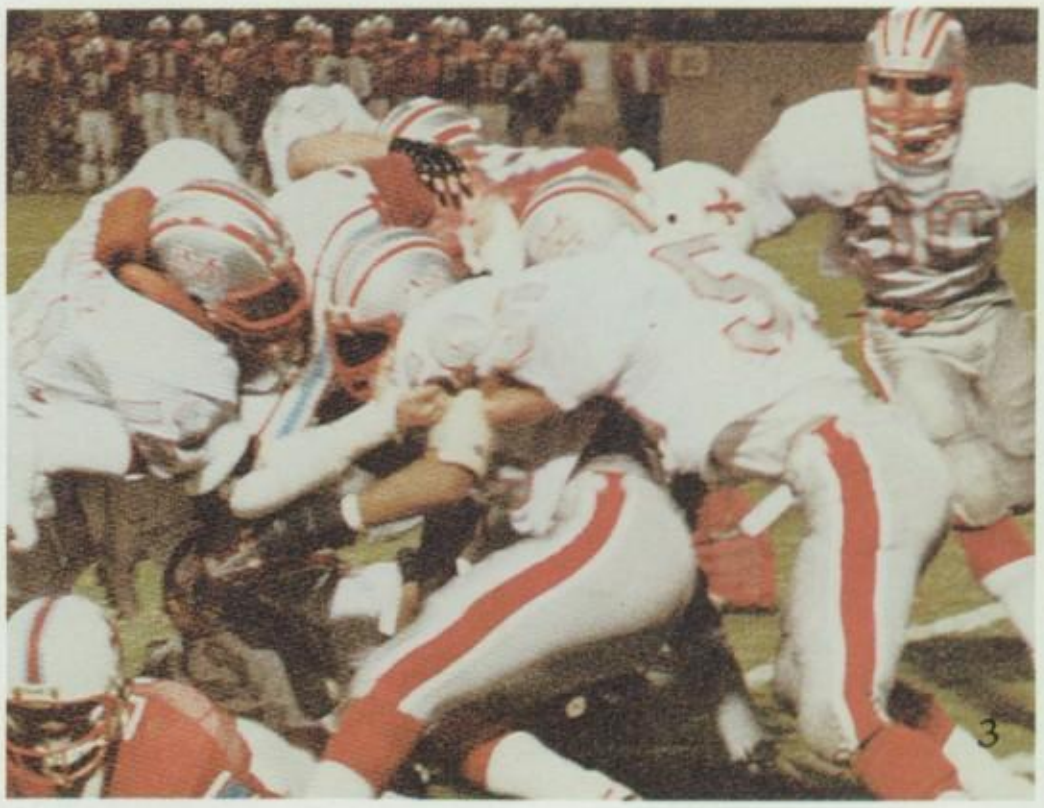
The defense was also effective as they held the Oilers to one TD til late in the fourth quarter and shut down the Oiler running me. The defense was led by the linebacking corps of Joe Hara, Howard Marinier, Mike O'Connor, and Mike Kelly. The al score was MD 29, HB 21.

Gang tackling is what the Monarchs do best on defense. Here, Mike O'Connor d Co. pummel a Santa Ana runner.

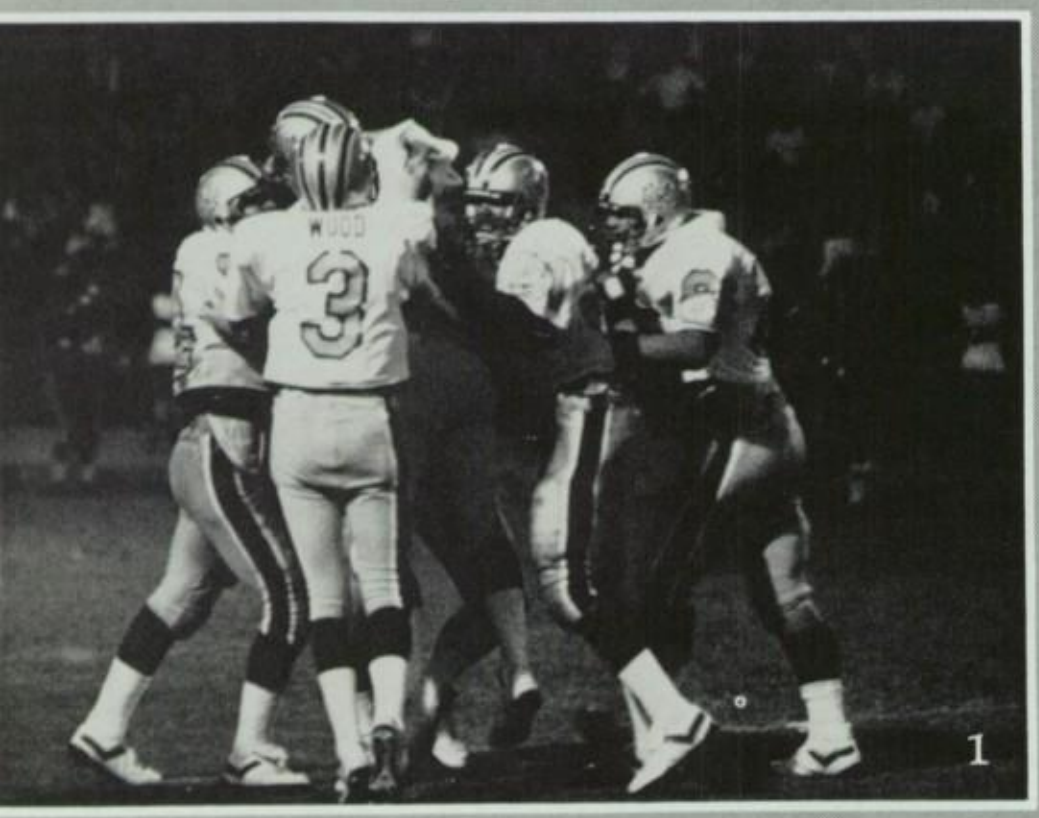
Lions Tamed By Monarchs

Going in with a 1-2 record, it looked like an impossible task for Mater Dei to beat undefeated Westminster. But, with a pressuring defense and the foot of kicker Gary Coston the Monarchs overcame the odds and upset the Lions 14-11. Westminster held an 8-0 lead until Coston kicked a field goal just before the half. To start the third quarter, the Monarchs drove down the field 60 yards, and scored on a 3-yard run by Charles Anton. Senior Jeff Thies caught a pass in the end zone to complete the two-point conversion and make the score 11-8. The Lions had the ball on the MD 9-yard line but were unable to penetrate any further, and settled for a field goal to tie it at 11-11. With 4:00 left to go, the Lions missed a field goal to set up the Monarchs final scoring drive. The offense moved the ball to the Westminster 22-yard line, using up most of the time. Tony Rocco caught 3 passes and Anton rushed effectively on the drive. This set the stage for senior Gary Coston. With a few seconds remaining, Coston booted a 39-yard field goal through the goal posts, and Mater Dei had turned its season around. Both defenses dominated the game, but Mater Dei's was a little stronger allowing only 3 FG's and a safety. Mike O'Connor was named defensive player of the game.

2. Three points is what Gary Coston is thinking on this kick, as Joe O'Hara holds. Coston was named to the ALL-CIF team.



Defense Overpowers St. Paul



In a crucial league opening game at the "Pit", before 8,000 fans, the real Mater Dei season began. The Monarchs had looked toward this game for a long time to prove themselves. As expected, the game was a hard hitting war fought in the trenches. The defense contained the explosive St. Paul offense, and the MD offense used a balanced offensive attack to keep the Swordsmen defense on its heels. The Monarchs first score came on the opening drive with a 9-yard pass from Todd Marinovich to Tony Rocco. St. Paul came back to tie the game, but before the half was over, the Monarchs scored again on an 8-yard run by Paul Cardenas. The defenses dominated the third quarter with no scores being made. Late in the fourth quarter on fourth down, St. Paul scored on a 5-yard desperation pass to even the score, 14-14. The onside kick failed, leaving Mater Dei with the ball at the 49-yard line. The offense drove the ball to the 29-yard line setting up a field goal. With 1:50 left on the clock, Gary Coston layed his foot into the ball which carried through the goal posts for the game-winning field goal. St. Paul mounted another drive, but it was stopped by an interception by Paul Padova. Monarch fans then poured onto the field and watched the "scarlet" and "silver" do the "Pride Drill", in honor of their beating the highly touted Swordsmen.

1. A host of Monarchs congratulate Gary Coston on his game-winning kick. Coston kicked two such field goals this season.

Amat Devastates MD

Mater Dei's next opponent was the Bishop Amat Lancers. The ancers had the reputation of being a strong running team and aving a lot of quickness. They had that and then some. On their rst five possessions they scored a touchdown and they led at the alf, 35-0. Most teams would bury their head in the ground and ope the game would end, but not Mater Dei. Todd Marinovich assed for three touchdowns and the special teams recovered an nside kick in a time span of 5:37. The score read 35-21 Lancers, with minute left in the third quarter. The special teams recovered nother onside kick and the Monarchs were on the move. The ffense drove to Bishop Amat's 38-yard line, then the Lancer defense me alive. They collected two sacks and caused a penalty to force ID to punt. Bishop Amat proceded to drive the ball 67 yards for the nal touchdown of the game. Eric Bieniemy, Bishop Amat's running ar, said of the Monarch defense, "They were the hardest hitting am I've ever played against in the second half."

2. Outrunning the Pius X defender, Matt Spence scores six points. Spence filled in dmirably for Charles Anton when he was injured.

Montgomery Is Stopped

On a chilly evening at Bishop Montgomery High, the Monarch defense rose to prominance. After the MD offense had fumbled the ball inside its own 5-yard line, the Knights had a chance to score. It looked as though there was a large gap for the Knight running back to run through, but Mike O'Connor plugged up the hole quickly with a devastating hit causing the back to fumble the ball to MD. At the end of the third quarter, MD led 6-0 behind a pair of Gary Coston field goals. In the fourth quarter, the Knights had a chance to take the lead with fourth down on the 7-yard line, but Albie Anderman threw the quarterback for a loss. A few minutes later, Tim Haider picked up a fumble and raced 33 yards for a touchdown. The defense gave up the shutout with 19 seconds to play on a touchdown. The final score was MD 13, Bishop Montgomery 7.

3. Pressuring the quarterback, Albie Anderman and Scott Harper force a bad throw. Tough defense provided many victories for the Monarchs.

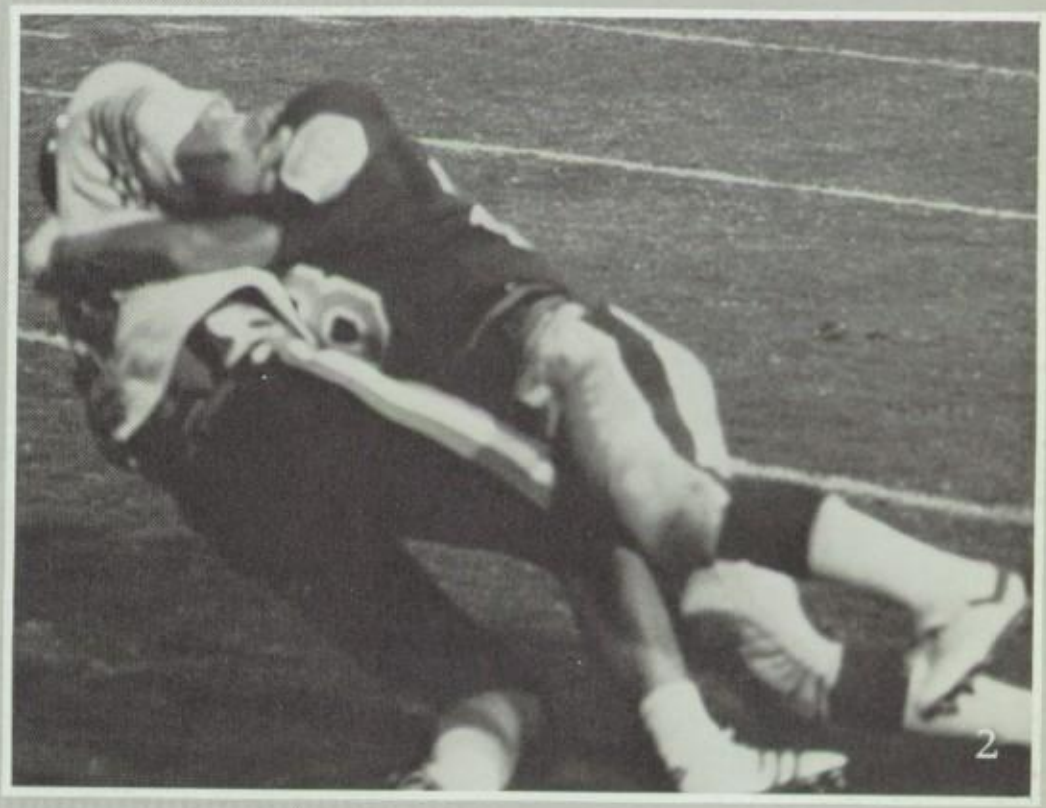
Pius Is Homecoming Victim

The halftime festivities were not the only excitement of the Homecoming game. Placekicker Gary Coston kicked three field goals and added an extra point for a total of 10 points on the night. That proved to be the margin of victory as the Monarchs defeated Pius X 16-6. The defense played tough for the second week in a row coming up with the crucial plays when it needed them. Cornerback Tim Haider had a fumble recovery to stop an early Warrior drive, and defensive captain Mike O'Connor came up with an interception. The offense was led by sophomore Matt Spence, who ran for 89 yards on 21 carries and scored one touchdown. Quarterback Todd Marinovich also threw some key completions. But the real hero was Coston who kicked field goals of 51, 49, and 25 yards respectively. The 51-yarder was the longest of his high school career. This game set the stage for a showdown with Servite.

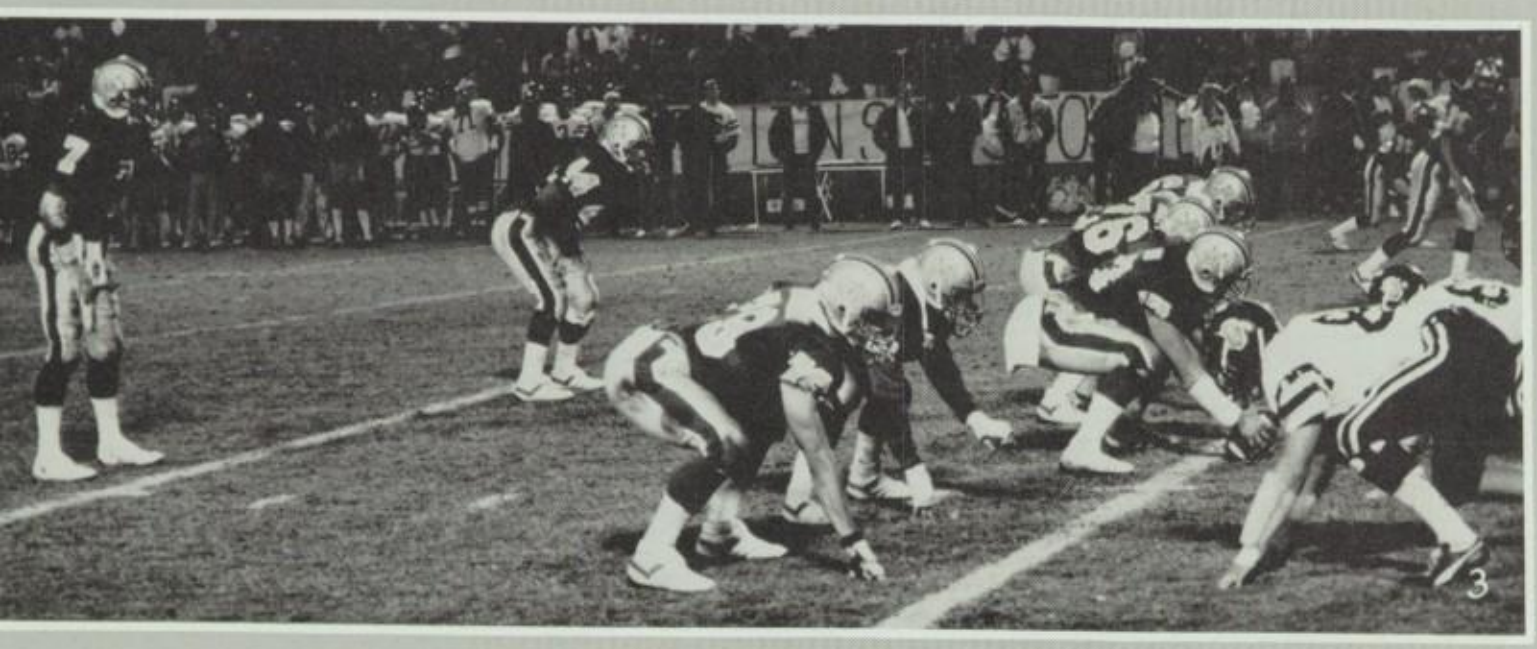
1. Defensive lineman Joe Atkinson catches the running back in the backfield. Atkinson made many big plays for the Monarches.

Emotion Is Victorious

The coach of Servite said that emotion would die out in the rst ten plays of the game. But, that same emotion and determi- ation lasted the whole game and pulled out a come from behind ctory for the Monarchs. For the first time since 1981, the Mon- chs defeated the Friars of Servite, and they did it with offense d defense. The offense was led by the Marinovich-Cardenas mbination. Trailing 12-0 at the half, the offense came out noking as Marinovich connected with Paul Cardenas on touch- own passes of 64, 29, and 35 yards to give the Monarchs a 20-19 ad. Early in the fourth quarter, Marinovich hooked up with arlos Prietto in the corner of the end zone from 16 yards out to ve MD a 27-19 lead. During this time, the defense was tearing e Servite offense apart. The Servite quarterback was sacked 7 nes, and they controlled the deep pass, which had burned so any other teams. The biggest play came with 54 seconds re- aining. Servite had just scored a touchdown to make the score -25. They went for the two-point conversion with a short pass their tailback, who took one step and was slammed to the ound by Tim Haider at the 1-yard line. Haider's tackle pre- rved the victory which gave the Monarchs sole possession of cond place in the Angelus League. It also proved that a hard ught, evenly matched game could be decided on emotion.



Flattening his opponent, Tim Haider makes a tackle similar to the game saver ainst Servite. Haider was the Monarchs hardest hitting defensive back. 3. The D offense lines up in the shotgun formation. The shotgun was an effective apon against the Servite defense.



Revenge Is Attained

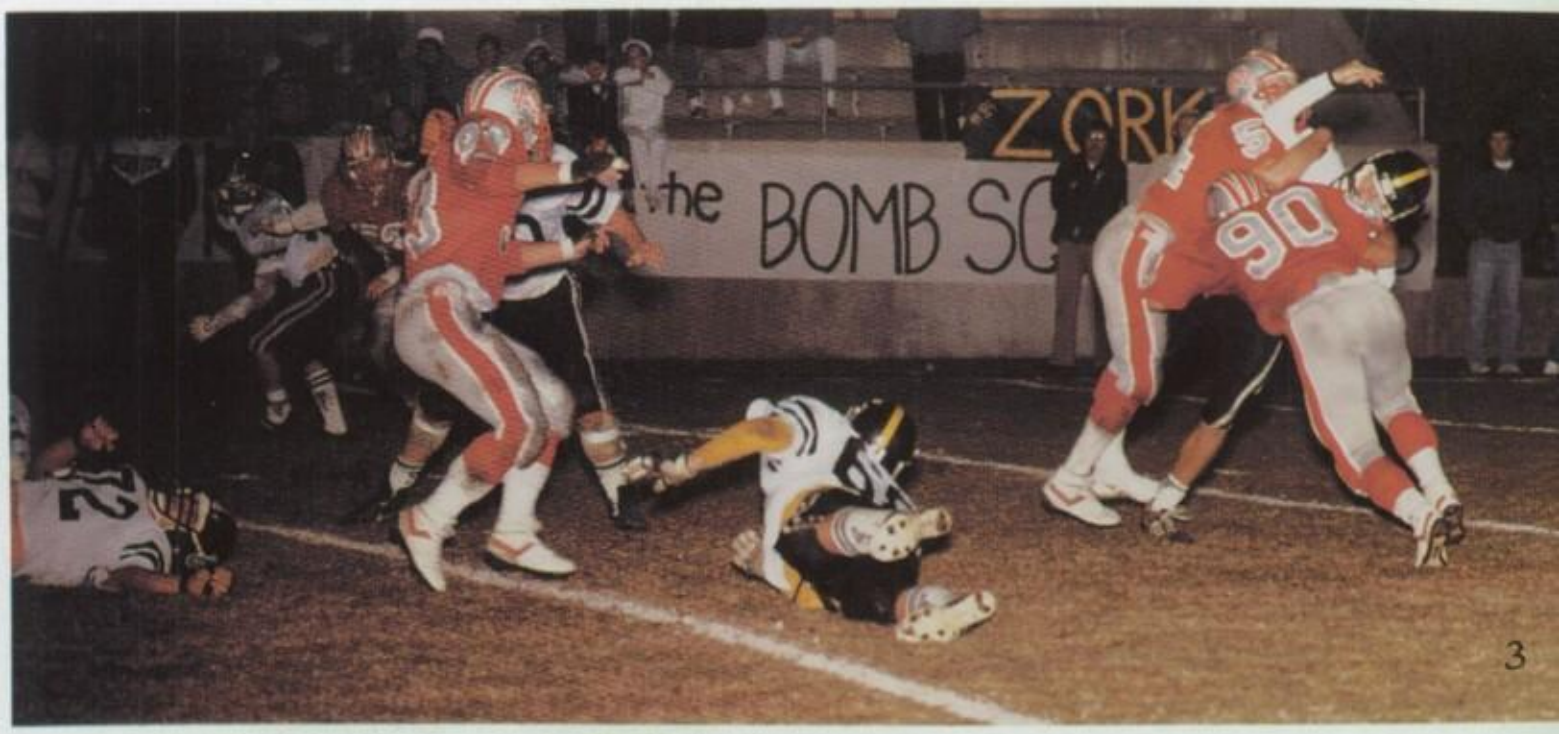
In a rematch of last year's first round CIF game, the Monarch faced the Braves of St. John Bosco. Unlike last year when MD los in OT, the Monarchs dominated this game. Again, it was th Marinovich-Cardenas combination hooking up twice for touch downs. Marinovich threw for 288 yards on 20 completions wit three touchdowns. Cardenas caught 8 of those passes. Throug the first half the game was close, MD leading 7-3. But the secon half was a different story, as the defense shutout the Braves an the offense scored 20 unanswered points, to make the score 27-3 This game was especially sweet for the reserves who had thei first real action of the year. Backup quarterback Mike Curtiu received his first snaps of the ball and moved the ball down th field effectively. Following the victory the Monarchs were set t play Westminster for the second time this year.

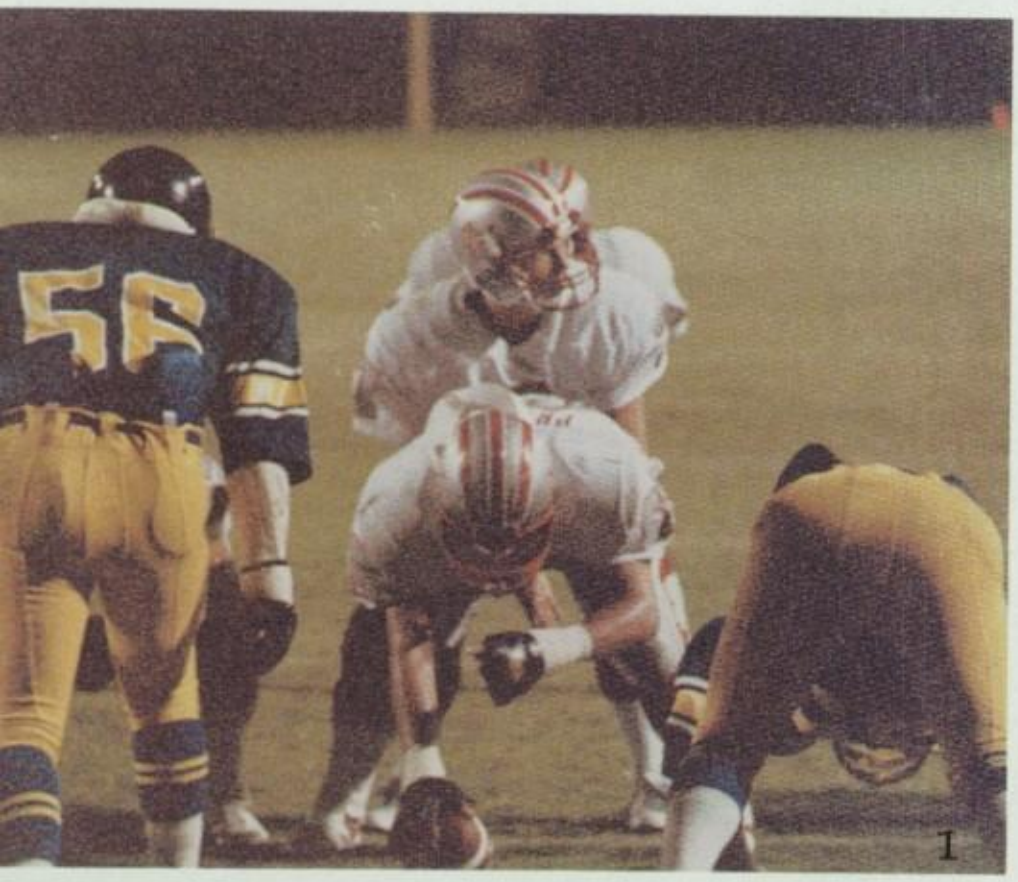
1. This over the shoulder catch by Paul Cardenas means six points for MD Cardenas led the Monarchs and was among the leaders in the county in recep tions.

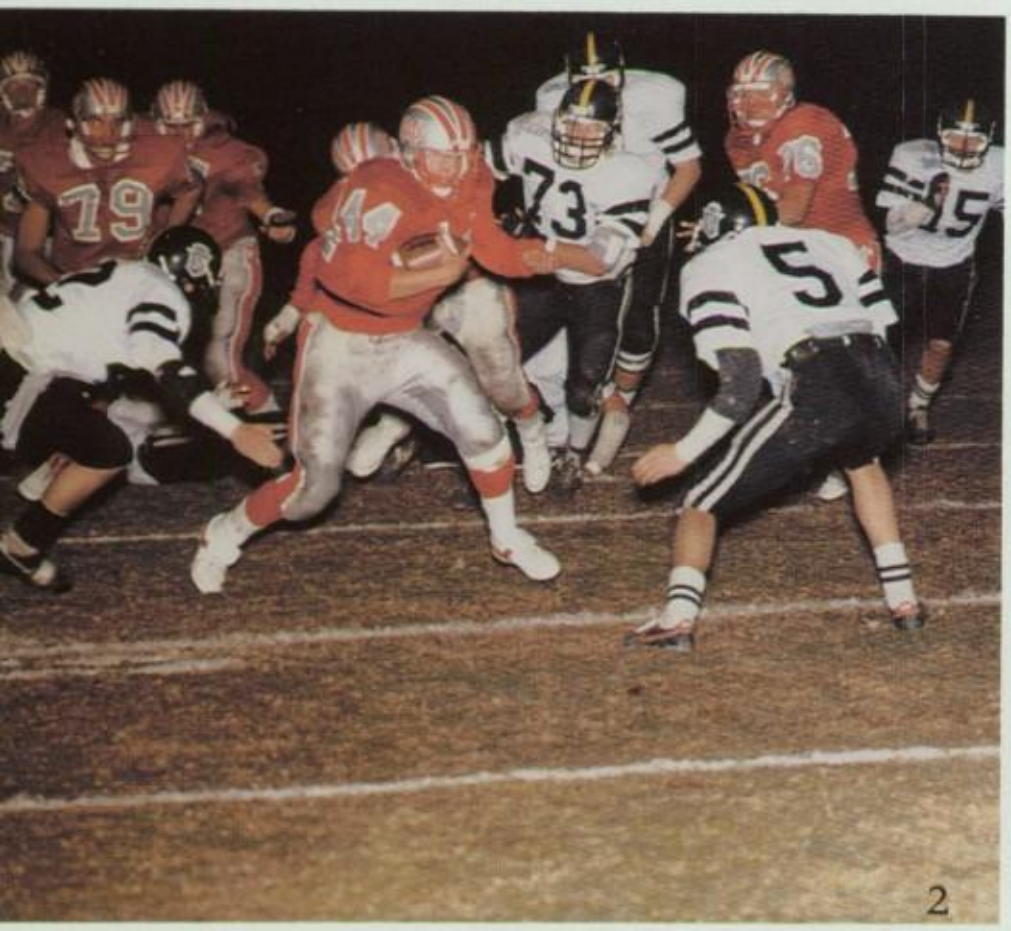
MD Eliminated In OT

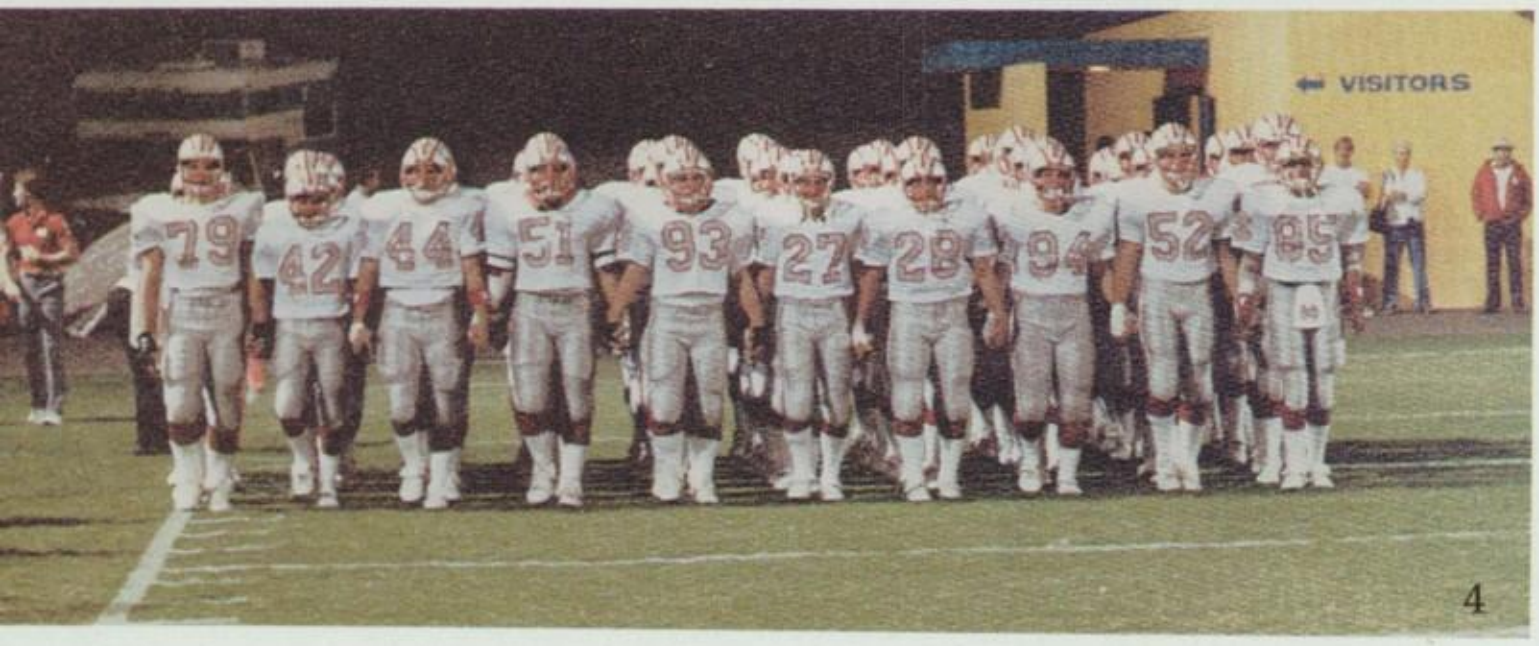
In the second round of CIF, Mater Dei was pitted against Westminster for the second time this year. MD won first game 14-11. On a rain soaked field at Orange Coast College, the Lions defeated the Monarchs in overtime. Poor field conditions did affect 'Air Monarch' as they committed four turnovers. That coupled with a ferocious defense that recorded 6 sacks and scored 6 points, frustrated the Monarchs. The Monarch defense itself was ferocious allowing only 7 points in regulation. Trailing 14-0 in the fourth quarter, the Monarchs scored 14 points to tie the game on two long scoring drives. This set the stage for the California tie-breaker. The Lions scored a touchdown on a third down pass play to make the score 21-14. The Monarchs then had their shot. After two incompletions, the Monarchs tried an option pass from Charles Anton but it fell incomplete. On fourth down, Marinovich under a heavy rush threw an interception clinching the win for Westminster. It was a tough loss for MD but the season as a whole was great. The 8 wins in a season were the most since 1966 and proved that, 'The Big Cat Is Back'.

2. Delivering the hit, Mike Kelly collects another tackle. Kelly was an important factor on defense as a linebacker. 3. Crushing a Friar, Albie Anderman and Joe O'Hara add another sack to their list. Sacks played a big part in the MD victory over Servite.









A Season Of Firsts

The class of 1985 endowed us with "The Legacy"! - the catalyst which has exploded into a veritable tidal wave, whose energies will ultimately result in the return of the Monarchs to their traditional position among the Orange County football elite.

. . . and the class of 1986 has gone out on the field and provided the foundation by which this dream has begun, to become a reality. It is beginning to happen! . . . the first time victorious over both St. Paul and Servite in the same season since 1966! . . . the most victories in a single season since 1966!

Relying upon the traditionally dominant, Monarch defense and an exceptionally strong kicking game to provide the impetus, a meticulously planned combination of design and young talent has begun to forge an offense that has commenced to produce points in barrages! - It is slowly coming of age through a baptism of 'fire'! The Monarchs have evolved from competitiveness to the brink of dominance! - and with the dominance, will emerge the new symbol of Monarch supremacy . . . Air Monarch.

The new era has indeed begun! The electricity is present in the atmosphere on campus - and it is fun for everyone! . . . and the class of 1986 has begun to make it happen!

Seeming to be destined with a disappointing season, the Sophomore Football team was 0-5-1 with three games remaining. They had been down on themselves after losing several close games, but they refused to quit and managed to salvage their season, winning their last three games. Their last game was a decisive victory over arch rival, Servite.

It was a tough beginning for the Lions. The team had an entire offensive line new to their positions. As coach Thornburg stated, "the offensive production and untimely mistakes cost us a couple of early games." However, as the season progressed, the Lions offensive line led by Rob Casola, began to play to their potential. The offense of the Lions was led by their quarterback, Greg Livernois, wide receiver, Jason Gasper and powerful tight end, Jon Galvan. Through hard work and coaching, the Lions began to slowly turn their season around.

The defense, according to Dennis Murphy, Phil Thornburg, and Mark Britan, performed admirably throughout the season. This defense, led by defensive lineman, John Coggins, free safety, John Math, and linebackers Tim Austen and John Hickey, helped the Lions stun rival Servite, by holding the Friars to eight points. This talented group of players should find their fair share of playing time of the varsity team next year.

Scarlet And Silver Teams Excel

Scarlet and Silver . . . These are the colors of royalty. Colors that our class of "89" freshman football players have earned and worn with pride . . . and their pride shows through.

Coaches Bob Avila, Tim O'Hara, and Ray Caraveo beam with pride at the "Scarlet" team, and it's no small wonder. The team had an overall record of 9 and 1 and its league record was 4 and 1. And yet it was neither just the coaches or the players who have made this team work, it was a combination of both.

All-in-all our players weigh more than the varsity team. By senior year our boys will average around 6"2", and weigh approximately 190 to 220 pounds," claims Coach O'Leary.

Starting off with a rousing 17-0 blow to Santa Ana Valley, the "Scarlet" team went on to beat Santa Ana 7-0, Westminster 21-0, Huntington Beach 20-14, and St. Paul 31-0. Although defeated 20-0 by Bishop Montgomery, they went on to overpower Servite in a triumphant 10-7 win to cap their great season. "It had to be our defense that won the game," states Coach Avila. With players such as James Kelly, who had three interceptions in one game, and team captain Jason Uhl, it's easy to see why Coach O'Leary feels that "When the team develops more, over time — with much practice, Mater Dei is going to have one awesome team, guaranteed by their senior year."

However, the "Scarlet" team is not the only one with something to be proud of. Mater Dei's "Silver" team and their coaches Harry Dudrow, Doug Williams, and Tom Link worked hard to make their season a winning one. They did not fail. Ending up with an overall - record of 8 and 1, Coach Doug Williams explains that, "Our team played with more of a balance. Offensively we tended to score in the beginning and level off toward the end of the game. It really depended on how the defense played. All-in-all, our defense played extremely well, and kept us in the games."

This proved to be true as the "Silver" team started off their season with a 22-13 victory over Damian and then moved on to beat St. John Bosco 26-6. Losing to St. Augustine 7-0 didn't waver the team, however, as they continued to sweep Alemany 16-13. The team then met up again with St. John Bosco and once more Bosco was beaten 12-6. Following Bosco came St. Augustine once more, but this time they were defeated 21-13 as the "Silver" team avenged their only loss of the season. Alemany was also unable to stop the "Silver" team as they lost 21-13, and finally Servite, who was beaten 10-7, topping the teams victorious season. The team, lead by team captains Adam Arce, Mark Odom and Nick Villacano (Otherwise known as "Quick Nick"), the "Silver" team definitely had one season to be proud of.

Throughout the years Mater Dei has seen its football players come and go and with them they carried the name of the Monarch proudly. This year the pride continues to be carried in the hearts of our "1989" "Scarlet" and "Silver" freshman football teams with a spirited love, strength and devotion that will continue to place Mater Dei and its players in the spot light for years to come.

The Tradition Continues . . .

Nobody gave Mater Dei a chance to enjoy as much success as Monarch teams had the past three years. Not the newspapers, not the coaches, not even some of the players themselves. But, why should they do so well? They lost two All-Americans to graduation, Tom Lewis and Mike Mitchell. The only proven scorer on the team was Stuart Thomas, but could he carry the team by himself? He didn't need to. Players like Tom Peabody, LeRon Ellis, John Mounce, Jim Dwyer, and Kevin Rembert did more than help out. Each made a different contribution so that the Monarchs came together and played as a team. For the first time in three years, Mater Dei was not ranked number one in the county to begin a season. The Monarchs fixed the rankings by running off victory after victory and soon were seen as the Monarchs of old, unbeatable.

The Monarchs opened the season with the annual Valencia Tournament. Lynwood and Esperanza were handily defeated. In the final, MD was challenged by a tenacious Valencia team, but still prevailed by 14 points. For his efforts, Tom Peabody was named the tournament's MVP.

Next up were two non-league games. Traveling to Santa Barbara, MD disposed of a weaker Dos Pueblos team. Then came the Vikings of St. Bernard. In the game held at Loyola Marymount University, it was a battle between two well coached teams. In the end, Mater Dei's height outlasted St. Bernard's quickness 61-58.

The real test was yet to come. A gathering of most of Southern California's top teams in the prestigious Tournament of Champions. MD was the top seed, but no one expected them to win it. It wasn't easy but they defeated three annually tough teams, Banning, Inglewood, and Fairfax. The final pitted the Monarchs against Santa Monica. The game was close throughout, but MD pulled through late in the fourth quarter on accurate free throw shooting and a stingy defense, 53-52, For the third consecutive year, Mater Dei was number one in the Tournament of Champions.

The winning streak continued as the Monarchs arrived at the Orange Tournament. MD dominated an outmanned LA Jordan team. Saddleback then gave Mater Dei a real scare, taking them to overtime before falling 53-51. Recovered from the scare, the Monarchs rolled over Santa Clara. Then came perhaps the biggest game of the year, No. 1 Mater Dei vs. No. 2 ranked Capistrano Valley. Before 2,500 fans at Chapman College, Capo Valley took the early leads, leading by as many as 12 points. Just before halftime, MD cut the lead to 2 points. In the second half, it was all Monarchs as they fast breaked their way to a 67-54 victory, and solidified their hold on the No. 1 ranking in Orange County. It was an especially sweet victory for the players because they played on summer league teams with many of the Capo Valley players.

Two close victories over Westminster and Long Beach Poly closed out the pre-season and set up the Monarchs for league play.

The Monarchs were expected to win the Angelus League title for the fourth consecutive season, and MD lived up to those expectations with relative ease. Except for a close 66-61 victory over Pius X, the Monarch winning machine continued to roll over league opponents by large margins. Mater Dei posted a 10-0 record in league and ran its record-breaking league record to 40-0 over the past four years.

This feat was accomplished for many reasons. Tom Peabody's leadership on the court, defense, and finding the open man to pass to. Stuart Thomas double-figure scoring and rebounding. LeRon Ellis inside scoring, shot blocking, and i timidation. John Mounce's hig arching jump shots, dribblin past presses, and acrappy d fense. Jim Dwyer's team leade ship, rebounding, and toug physical play. Kevin Rembe Eric Quigley, and Chris Patto providing instant spark off th bench. Even the magnificen seven who played the last tw minutes of each game and pro vided constant morale suppo for the team. The board (an body) bangers Mike O'Conno and Tony Rocco. Under the leadership of Coac Gary McKnight, the Monarch continued to win, achieving 111-5 record over his 4-year ten ure as head coach. Heading int the CIF playoffs seeded No. 1 the Monarchs record stood at 25 0, winning 54 games in a row dating back to last year's perfec season. On top of that, Mate Dei had moved up to numbe three in the country, and with CIF title had a shot at the nation al title.

Reaching For Higher Plateaus

The first round of the C.I.F. Big 5 ayoffs matched the Monarchs ainst St. Francis. St. Francis re-ained in the game with outside ooting, but they fell to Mater i's superior height 72-61.

The next game featured Mater Dei ainst St. Anthony's. In a game led with fouls and free throws, the onarch's depth and talent over-me the Saints, and came away th a 72-63 victory.

St. Bernard was the Monarchs op-nent in the semifinal game. The onarchs led the whole game, but st couldn't put the Vikings away. took some clutch shots and free rows in the closing minutes to se-re a 62-58 win for MD.

Waiting for the Monarchs in the I.F. title game was a short and eedy Serra team. It didn't take ng for the Monarchs to assess emselves, as they beat the Serra ess and pushed the ball into the in towers. LeRon Ellis and Stu omas dominated the game and mbined for 60 points. When the al second had elapsed, the Mon-chs had a 85-59 victory, and their ird C.I.F. title in four years.

In the first round game of the te tournament against Fresno ison, the Monarchs used a bal-ced scoring attack led by Stu omas' 31 points, to turn back Edi-son 81-74.

A vocal crowd of 12,400 at the L.A. Sports Arena, witnessed a hard fought game between L.A. City Champ, Crenshaw, and perennial powerhouse Mater Dei. MD found itself behind early, but battled back to within six points at the half. Fate was not with the Monarchs, as they sank only 50% of their free throws, and missed many shots within five feet of the basket. Withstanding this, the Monarchs were still able to fight back and send the game into overtime on two crucial free throws by LeRon Ellis. In the overtime, MD was down again. Behind by two points with time running out, John Mounce took an off-balance 15-foot jump shot, that rattled the rim and rolled out.

The Monarchs 59-game winning streak had come to an end, and for the first time in two years they experienced defeat. But, they had nothing to be ashamed of, after all, how many high schools can say their final record was 30-1?

Seniors Remember

The basketball team accomplished its goal, and had another championship season. The seniors, this being their final year of Monarch basketball, were asked what was one of the many 'memories' they had at MD. Their responses were:

ete Daleiden: "I remember on the J.V. team, Coach McKnight making us go out into the rain and do pushups, bear crawls, and sprints before practice, then taking showers in our uniforms to get clean."

m Dwyer: "This year's C.I.F. Championship was the most memorable, because it was the first one with the seniors being in the program together for four years under Coach McKnight."

ohn Mounce: "I remember in the first game of C.I.F. in 1985, Coach McKnight ripped his pants during the game, and gave the halftime talk in the locker room with only his underwear on, while 'Spook' sewed his pants."

like O' Connor: "On the J.V. team my junior year, I was kicked out of the St. Paul game for fighting, and almost kicked out of the gym except my father talked the referee into letting me sit with him in the bleachers."

om Peabody: "What I remember most was at the 1984 Awards Banquet. Matt Beeuwsaert cried when he had his jersey number retired."

ohn Peterson: "I remember all the times Coach McKnight studdered when he got frustrated and mad."

larc Redoutey: "In the C.I.F. quarterfinals, we had to ride to the game in a road converted OCTD bus. As we drove through Santa Ana, people stood on the corners hailing us down for a ride. I could not believe it."

harlie Schmitt: "Many of my memories were from the players and coaches sitting around after practice in the office, telling stories of past MD basketball events. Especially the Mike Fielder stories."

tuart Thomas: "One time Coach McKnight said, 'You're not even hustling. We're going to the track, you will die!' I also remember all of the hard-work and championships."

The Junior Varsity Dominates

Winning in basketball at Mat- Dei is contagious. With the emendous success of the bas- etball program in the last three ears, one could expect that the ccess could continue. Well, it d! The Junior Varsity team nished their season with a 22-2 cord, with a 9-1 record in the ngelus League.

The Monarchs started their ason with victories in some of e most prestigious tourna- ents in Southern California. ey won the Long Beach Jor- n Tournament and the Pomo- Tournament. Their only non- ague loss came against a tough los Verdes squad in the final the St. Bernard Tournament. fter a successful pre-seas on, e Monarchs went to league as e heavy favorite.

With such players as sophomores Mike Hopkins, Char Ruppel, Todd Marinovich, and junior Richard Politiski, the J.V. team won the Angelus League title. Led by experienced Coach Craig Thornburg, the Monarchs crunched most of their opponents, including two victories over Servite.

With all of these tremendous players on the J.V. squad, there is no doubt that the winning tradition in basketball will continue.

Sophomores Finish Undefeated

An undefeated season of basketball is a rare occurance. However, the Sophomore basketball team, under the coaching of Darren Payne and assistant Tim O'Leary managed to stage a 22-0 season, capturing the Angelus League title.

The season began with the Monarchs capturing three tournaments: the Westminster Tournament, the San Clemente Tournament, and the Verbum Dei Tournament. This excellent preseason prepared the Monarchs well for league action. Led by guard Mark Ramstack, and forward-center Chuck Roghair, the Sophomores pummelled their foes and went 10-0 in league. With these impressive figures, the basketball program at Mater Dei should be a force in years to come.

The freshman basketball teams also had successful seasons. The "Red" team, coached by Pete Toomey, finished their season 18-5 and took second place in league. They were led by leading scorer and team captain, Tony Pena. The freshman "Gray" squad compiled a 12-10 record under the coaching of Phil Thornburg and Jim Nielsen. The team was led by team captains Matt Luckey and Jason Uhl. With a solid, winning performance by both squads, the Sophomore and Junior Varsity teams should be excellent next year.

Time Of Transition

Following in the footsteps of a team that attained a ranking of number one in the United States, the varsity baseball team figured to have their work cut out for them to duplicate last season. The obstacles proved to be insurmountable and led to a fourth place finish in the Angelus League, and not qualifying for the C.I.F. playoffs.

The difficulties were headed by injuries. Injuries plagued the team as some players were lost for much of the season and this proved to be a severe handicap. This point was magnified when Coach Bob Ickes pointed out that he never started the same lineup twice during the season, which caused players to play out of position occasionally. Also a major problem on the team was chemistry. No, not a science class, but the ability to get along together smoothly on and off the field. "Players didn't get along with players, and players didn't get along with coaches," Coach Ickes said.

Though there were problems on the team, the season was not without its successes. The Monarchs finished with a 14-9 record overall, winning five out of its last six games. Mater Dei also placed third in the Santa Ana-Newport Mesa Tournament in non-league action. Hard luck bit the Monarchs; in nine losses, they had eight lead ins. The highlight of the season was a 5-2 victory over archrival Servite in an Angelus League contest at Servite. The Monarchs were spearheaded by a fourteen strikeout pitching performance by Steve Watson, and home runs hit by Mike Kelly and Jim Zaccari. Valuable experience for next year's team was made possible because of injuries. Many underclassmen played during the year and in the last few games the Monarchs had seven underclassmen starting. Players like Mike Balsamo, Dave Randell, Jim Zaccari, and Jim Austin gained precious experience from playing and from tips from the senior members of the team.

Coach Ickes foresees a successful season for next year because of the varsity players gaining experience and the younger teams having great success this season. Although the team did not finish on top of the league, they placed numerous players on the All-Angelus League Team. These players were seniors John Dworzak, Mike Kelly, John Mounce, Jim Oldham, and junior Jim Zaccari.

J.V. And Frosh Soph Teams Play Well

As usual, the Mater Dei Ju-or Varsity Baseball team had nother tremendously success-l season. Led by coaches ayne Young and Steve Brady, e team compiled an impressive cord. The highlight of the sea-n came in the Serra Varsity urnament, where the J.V. team ached the finals. However, ey 5-3 to Serra in a battle. ayers such as, first baseman ch Tetrault and sophomore att Spence were major factors the success of the team. With is excellent team, there is little ubt that several of these play-s will be on Varsity next year. With a large percentage of eshmen on the Sophomore am, there were many inexperi-ced players on the team. How-er, through the leadership of teran coach Bill Matthews and oach Robert Soto, the team anaged to stage an 8-12 record.

Led by freshmen Chip Packard, Joe Flynn, and Jeff Martinez and sophomore Steve Concialdi, the team defeated such good teams as Loara, Bishop, Montgomery, and Whittier Christian. The Monarchs also split a double header with Elsinore. These young players should develop into excellent players in the coming years at Mater Dei.

The Freshmen baseball team enjoyed an extremely successful season, compiling a 22-4 record. Coached by Coach O'Connor, the team defeated Irvine, Loara, and Servite, to name some of the fine teams they defeated. Robbie Ickes, Bill Brockschmidt, Aaron Briones, Jason Kirver, and Jeff Cicarella were some of the outstanding players on the team. However, it was a team effort that led to another fine season from the Freshmen baseball team.

1. Relaying the ball into the infield is sophomore right fielder John Math. 2. This junior varsity baseball player makes sure he has a solid grasp of the ball. 3. Sophomore Matt Spence, who was one of the J.V.'s leading players is shown sliding into second base.

Running To The Finish

You can see the finish line in the istance, and can feel your opponent lose by. Pushing yourself, you be- in to pick up the pace, while he eems to move right along with you. ou begin to wonder "Is he tired, ill he have anything left at the nd?" Suddenly he begins to make is move, and all these thoughts merge from your mind. Weeks of ard work and training come back ow, and you feel it begin to happen . you're passing him. You sprint ut the last hundred yards, pulling your deepest source of energy, nd head for the line. As you finish, ou're dead tired and feel faint, but e first thing you do is to congratu- te him, and this is what makes you Mater Dei Cross Country runner.

Before the Cross Country season er began, a majority of the team embers practiced regularly roughout the summer at Hunting- n Beach's Central Park, running nywhere from three to ten miles at time. During August, the team embers attended a four week cross untry camp at Mater Dei, involv- g three weeks of running and eight lifting, combined with a one week trip to Lake Tahoe, which promoted physical and mental fitness and endurance, playing a major role during the teams three month season.

The Varsity team, led by seniors Mark Butala and Matt Meyer, including juniors Ed Burke, Eric Skier, and Freshman Eddie Lavelle, combined their determination and self motivation to continue a 52 year Angelus league winning streak. The Frosh-soph and Junior Varsity teams also displayed developing talent and endurance, while consistently dominating their opponents.

All three levels had exceptional seasons, and plan to continue Mater Dei's "winning tradition" next year, when the younger runners get a shot at running Varsity on the best team in the league!

Ladies Run For Glory

The girls' cross country team's victories equalled the boys' this year, if not exceeded.

The girls' Varsity destroyed any and all competition, while, not wanting to be outdone, the Junior-Varsity team followed closely on their heels.

As with the boys' Varsity, the girls Varsity had a new freshman "star" on their horizon. Laura Doering, a newcomer to the Mater Dei team, ran her way up the ranks to finish close behind top runners, such as Mary Yost, Debbie Hughes, and Dede Maher. Other runners, including Katie Gallivan and Karen Croteau, also had successful seasons.

Coached by Karen Frank, the girls ran at a new home course for the first time this year. Though the area was different, and the course a bit slower, the team never slowed, often running to shut-out victories over the competition.

While not running a race, most of the girls could be found cheering on the rest of their teammates. Said one runner, "Everyone always says that you have to build up your own strength. That may be true, but having others there to cheer you on always seems to help you."

Another Winning Season

After losing five out of eight ayers to graduation, the Boys' nnis team would seem to be in ebuilding year. However, with e arrival of freshman Dax Pe- rson and strong performances om the returning players, the onarchs staged a 17-4 record. aying strong singles through- t the season was junior Dan nkins. Dan had an overall nning percentage of 70% and presented Mater Dei in the CIF dividual Championships. Jen- ns played well, but lost to sec- d seeded Mike Briggs in the st round, 6-2, 6-3.

Playing number two singles the Monarchs was freshman x Peterson. Dax played ex- mely well during the season mpiling the highest overall erage of 86%. However, it was ring the playoffs when Dax ayed his best. He won eight of nine sets and beat several od players. At the number ee position was Greg Reda. A nior, "Shishkabob" Reda ayed solidly and had a win- ng percentaged of 62%.

In doubles action, the num- one team of junior Pat Har- tt and senior Tim Page proved be a strong one. With a 23-1 ord, Harnett and Page ad- nced to the round of 32 in CIF d swept all of their sets in the yoffs. At number two was the m of junior Dan Curren and nior Mike Thome. The two yed well together at times, d played very well against po Valley. The number three m consisted of junior Mike nnson and freshman Kevin rren. They started to play bet- together during the playoffs and managed to get two sets against Los Amigos in the Monarchs first round win.

The Monarchs reached the quarterfinals of the 3A CIF Championships before losing to Capo Valley. In the first round, Mater Dei defeated third ranked Los Amigos, 10-8. The second round match against Burbank was closer than most thought it would be. Mater Dei received sweeping performances from Peterson and Harnett-Page, to defeated Burbank 11-7. Unfornuately, the Monarchs had to face rival Capo Valley who was responsible for two of the team's regular season losses. Mater Dei lost a tough one 9-9 and lost on games.

It was an excellent season for the team; one that Coach Doug Williams did not expect. This team is losing only one player to graduation and if the players improve to their ability, the Monarchs should be contention for the CIF title.

The Junior Varsity team had another successful season, posting an 11-5 record. Led by early season varsity players Jeff Guiltianan and Jeff Chamberlain and MVP freshman, Joey Sinacori, Coach Mike Olson had great talent to work with. The Monarchs had some excellent wins over Capo Valley and Fountain Valley. Doubles specialists Brian Schaefgen and Bill Little proved to be clutch performers against Servite and Indio. With the abudance of underclassmen on the team, the tennis program at Mater Dei should be strong for years to come.

Swinging Into A New Season

Crack! A small round ball soars igh overhead. Cheers are heard in ie background, and someone cries safe!" The crack that was heard was robably one of the players hitting ie high and long. With an overall cord of 19, 7, and 1, that sound hould be ringing in their ears for a ng time to come!

Led by coaches Cathy Quesnell d Mike Hassler, the girls varsity ftball team played in two major urnaments during the season, do- g exceptionally well in both. The am received a consolation in the ypress tournament, while earning h place in the Canyon tourna- ent. In league play, a record of 7 ins, 2 losses, and 1 tie brought em to a second place position just ehind St. Josephs, and then on to I.F. play. Normally playing a sev- -inning game, the team battled it ut against Foothill in 1st round I.F., finally winning in the 12th ning, 2-1. During the second und however, they lost 5-2 in a ven-inning game against Fountain alley, a formidable opponent.

What makes an outstanding am? Outstanding players, such as oelle Manfre, Karyn Rice, and ebbie Wagner, who were all select- d to first team all league. Three oth- players, including Dana Fite, Geri ainey,and Carrie Sullivan, were all lected to second team all league, n outstanding achievement for any ayer.

Debbie "Awesome catch" Wagner, voted the best defensive player of the season, led the team with 5 doubles, the most stolen bases, and the most sacrifices, while Karyn Rice, most valuable player, came in with 13 RBI's and 4 triples. Dana Fite, the best offensive player, dominated the offense with the highest batting average while Noelle Manfre's persistence paid off with 19 runs and 12 walks — the most on the team. Beth Lomeli and Carrie Sullivan were the teams two pitchers. Beth finished with an 11-3 record and an earned run average of .96, while Carrie finished with a 2-3 record and an earned run average of .48.

At the end of the season, nothing makes a coach prouder than sending an athlete to college on a scholarship, so coaches Quesnell and Hassler have nothing to worry about. Catcher and most valuable player of the season, Karyn Rice, received a "full ride" softball scholarship to Crayton cellege, and will continue to play there.

During the season team unity was stressed by coach Quesnell who, as an incentive to her players, offered "game winning hit" prizes. The season turned out much better than she'd expected, and she hopes to continue the winning next year, though she'll have a few gaps to fill after losing such fine senior players.

Batting Away!

16, 3, and 1. The season record tands for itself. The league record, , 2, and 1, also stands for itself. What more can be said but to describe how these feats were chieved?

Six times during the season the .v. softball team 'shut out' their opponents. Four times they held them o only one run, and twice the competition was held to only two runs.

The teams success can be mainly ttributed to coach Clancy Habich's olicy ... everyone plays. Every layer had to be good enough to fill n a position at any time, and they vere! In discussing her team, Coach Habich had these words to say, "I ust think they're a terrific group. They really work well together. There isn't one girl on the team who lidn't try her best in all the games. They knew what to do, they knew ow to do it, and they did it."

Assistant coach Kathy Jameson vas also highly praised by Coach Habich. "Kathy really knew what he was doing — I learned a lot from er." Obviously the team worked together, and worked well. During the season, the team only played in the Cypress tournament, yet they placed second after an outstanding performance. The team earned three awards during the tournament. Lee Ann Moeller was named best overall pitcher, Tanya Oviedo received the outstanding player award, and Jean-Marie Edward had the most hits.

Toward the end of the season, three players, Julie Cline, Gina Diesto, and Mary McCarthy were moved up to the Varsity team for C.I.F. After the season finished, coaches Habich and Jameson awarded three trophies at the team banquet. Sonia Fernandez received the "most improved player" trophy, Jenny McCabe received the "coach's award" for hitting 4 homeruns during the season, and Carrie Haupert received the "best all-around player" award for playing all positions except for pitcher and third base.

Coach Habich looks forward to next season. "If we're as good next year as we are now, we'll go 20-0."

Electrified With Enthusiasm

Dedication and close friendips carried the Girls' Varsity asketball team successfully rough their season. Coached Mrs. Carolyn Campbell, the dy Monarchs finished undeated in their league for the ird consecutive year. They ominated their league with an erage of sixty-two points per me to their opponents' thirtyo. They also placed sixth in e Artesia tournament, second the Savanah tournament, and urth in the Marina-Edison urnament.

Pre-season coditioning contriuted to the strength of the am. They endured "Hell eek," a week of concentrated nditioning, in addition to a urteen hour marathon pracce. Before league games had en started, the Varsity had ayed seventeen games in one onth.

Senior Noelle Manfre led the am athletically and emotionally, and as Coach Campbell said, "electrified her teammates with her intensity." Junior Debbie Wagner came in as sixth man, and was instrumental in firing up her teammates on and off the court. When the pressure was on, Geri Gainey came alive and took control of the game.

Together the team worked hard to overcome their main handicap, which was their many injuries and illnesses. By the second round in league, the Lady Monarchs were playing as one unit, and "very fluid on the court," according to their coach.

Coach Campbell pointed out that a special feature of this team was the way that they supported each other. She added that "they were a very happy team," a quality which was a key to their success. Besides their hard work and much pain, the girl's support of each other helped to make the Lady Monarchs number one.

A Word From The Wise

One way to get a feel for the spirit of the Girls' Varsity Team is o listen to the girls themselves. The Lady Monarchs not only worked hard, but had fun as well. Each girl had something to say vhich captured the spirit of the team.

Hallie Formaneck: "Unforgettable, and full of surprises."

Debbie Wagner: "D.J.'S and friends, our times we'll never for-get."

Geri Gainey: "Don't stress over the situation cause grandma is all over that U-turn, to get a red burrito."

Kerrie O'Brien: "Noelle do you have any friends? . . . or maybe cookies? . . . Hallie do you have any more books?"

Kim Ellerman: "Party is at my house! Lenny will love you forever and always. Don't bungle."

Stacey Mounce: "Hey guys, I had a great seat from the bench, you all did great! Totally awesome season . . . with bigger and better things to come."

Annalee Andres: "I STILL have it! What was I supposed to do? I'll get it when we do it!"

Janet Baddon: "Awesome season! Good Luck to next year's team . . CIF all the way!"

Noelle Manfre: "D.J., your shots are always official. Special Olympics forever! Love, The Bud."

Janet Rensing: "Ladies! Yes Kerrie, we do have friends. It's been fun girls!"

Theresa Lawrence: "With Air Jordans under our feet, we rule the court and we cruise the streets! Thanks for all the memories, love the Tree."

"Cardiac Kids" . . . Determined To Win

With many come-back victories in the final minutes of the game, Coach Cathy Quesnell dubbed her Girls J.V. basketball team the "Cardiac Kids." The J.V. team had an overall record of 20-1, and a league record of 10-0. Not all these were sweeping victories, though. In their pre-season games, the girls beat Fountain Valley by a close two points, and Edison by a mere three points. J.V. captain, Kerry Callahan, found that a significant factor which pulled the team through was their "determination to beat both Edison and Fountain Valley," and that they were "mentally prepared for their games."

The J.V. team was credited with many talented players including point guard, Mary McCarthy, a "smart heads up player," according to her coach. The team also featured strong defensive player, Kerry Callahan, and dynamic rebounders, Kelly O'Brien and Wendy Dumblton. The team was further balanced by captain Jennifer Swander whose consistent jump shot added points to the scoreboard.

As a whole, the J.V. team worked hard to achieve their victories. Coach Quesnell summed up the season by saying, "The kids played really well, and strived hard to beat the other teams. They motivated themselves, and all twelve of them contributed to those wins."

34 GIRLS' J.V. BASKETBALL

Winning Tradition Is Alive

As the first year of coaching at Mater Dei, Coach Mark Thomas was proud "to be a part of the winning tradition of the basketball program." His frosh-soph team certainly kept this tradition alive. They finished with an overall record of 16-4, and a league record of 12-2, placing them second in league. The girls had a winning streak where they won eleven out of twelve games. Their defeat of Fountain Valley was the highlight of the season, because they gave Fountain Valley, the first place team, their only loss.

According to the coach, Most Valuable Player, Susan Eggleston was "the glue which held the team together," as well as a strong defensive player. Sophomore Christie Matthews was a good outside shooter, scoring over twenty points in at least six of their games. Most Improved Player, Michelle Rakiey, and sophomore Judy Hudson were among the players who were instrumental in the success of the frosh-soph team.

However, Coach Thomas stressed that each girl was a vital part of the team. He referred to them as "a great bunch of girls, who were very supportive of each other."

The frosh-soph team is the foundation for the J.V. and Varsity teams. The girls have the chance to develop their skills, preparing them for bigger and better things. The frosh-soph team lived up to their expectations, and proved that the winning tradition is alive at Mater Dei!

MD Soccer Alive And Kicking

"Mater Dei Soccer 1976-1986 . . and still kicking." The quote s from the soccer posters, which are found hanging around cam-pus. For ten years Mater Dei soc-cer players have worked hard to achieve their victories and recog-nition. Many fans can be seen cheering on the team at all their games, perhaps because soccer is such an exciting sport to watch. But more importantly because the players are intense and have team spirit, which motivates ev-eryone.

They ended their season with a 14-4-2 record. It was a trying season, but they answered the call by defeating Servite twice in the last two regular season games to clinch a second place CIF beth. "We felt like we were playing against twleve men in-stead of eleven all year and with some questionable decisions, but we pulled together to have an outstanding season," said Mike Recupero.

The team was coached by Mike Young, who has coached at Mater Dei for the last four years and has an excellent running re-cord. Through strong leadership from captains Mike Recupero and Rich Huntington, the team accomplished their victories. They hope to be even better in the future years and the three sophomores players will prove to be a stronghold for the team.

Striving For Excellence

Mater Dei's Junior Varsity occer team proved their excel-ence again by having an unde-eated season. Coached by Curt auer, the team ended their sea-on with a 19-0 record. They ushed all their opponents, aking themselves number one. layers who helped the team ac-omplish so much were Mike apper and Dan Jenkins, the am's highest scorers. Captains, George Garcia and Matt Escenberg, demonstrate their leadership and team spirit. "We have so many strong players and so much talent as a team, we should dominate next year on the varsity team," said Jason Burgess. The teams' outstanding season record shows they work hard for their achievements and they strive for excellence.

The Value Of Competition

The Frosh Soph Grey Soccer am performed well this season, th a 9-0-2 record. Coached by eil West, the team pitched rd to win their victories. Otto hegetz and Peter Duynstee, e team captains, helped the am with their spirit and leader- ip qualities. The players orked together passing, shoot- g, and catching the balls — and having a good time, especially after their victories. "Playing soccer is a fun, educational sport, which teaches the importance of team work, and the value of competition," said Marcus Garcia. The team will hopefully be the champions of tomorrow, and a powerhouse in the years to come.

Kicking Off A New Season

The girls varsity soccer team played another long yet successful season this year, only to be stopped by overpowering teams in the C.I.F. tournament. The team was youthful, yet energetic. Coach Marty Breen had this to say of his athletes: "This year's team continually strived to reach their potential both on and off the field. Due to their overall youth, it was important that they quickly played together as a team." Play as a team they did, only surrendering to defeat two times during the Angelus league's season.

Generally, there were no players who excelled with individual skill — the team played as one, as a whole. When they played as a team, they were unbeatable, particularly evident during the team's two games against Bishop Montgomery, the 3-A C.I.F. champion. During the first game, played at Bishop Montgomery, the girls played hard and earned a 1-0 victory. The second game, however, resulted in a tie, 1-1, and was played at Mater Dei.

Coach Breen discussed the C.I.F. playoffs, "During the first round of the C.I.F. playoffs, they (the team) struggled to reach their playing level that they demonstrated during the games against Bishop Montgomery. Unfortunately, they were not ready to handle the pressure of the C.I.F. tournament."

Four of the players made spe cial teams throughout the seaso this past year. CeCe Braun, graduating senior, topped o her senior year by being selecte for three teams: 1st team all An gelus League, 2nd team all C.I.F and 2nd team all Orange Cour ty. Three of CeCe's teammate Erin Breen, Susan Hower, an Kristen Snell, joined her on 1s team all Angelus League.

Predictions

This years "youth" has learned a lot over the past season. They've listened to, watched, and played alongside with some of the older and more experienced athletes, and have "learned the ropes" as they say. Next year they will be the "Old Pros" of Varsity soccer, and with good cause. It's then that they'll be the teacher, and the new players will look to them for new information on how to play the game. The Varsity team lost many of its finer players to colleges this year, and next year it will be up to the younger (but now experienced) players whether or not the team does well. New players will be on new teams, and the process of playing as a team will somewhat begin again. Next years team should have an excellent season if all goes well.

Crowning The Season

Volleyball. To everyone else, may seem like the most femi-ine sport . . . and the easiest. ut ask any of the Mater Dei irls Varsity Volleyball players st how easy it really is and ou'll hear another story. From e beginning of the season to e end, the coaches and the girls ave worked hard, with many ours of practice, to perfect their chniques. Their long hours ost assuredly paid off. Ending e season with an overall record 14 and 2, a league record of 9 nd 1, placing them as Angelus eague Champs, and a final rat-g of 8th in the CIF Big Five, the oaches and the girls definitely ave something to be proud of. The girls are coached by Bar-ara Zamora, Assistant Coach arren Utterback and Manager heresa Laurence. When asked n how she felt the team was oing, Coach Zamora had no esitation in expressing her easure of the teams perfor-ance. "They're all really great this year. I've felt no hesitation at all in using any of the girls. It's sad that we will be losing five good players, but I know next year will be just as good because I see alot of promise in many of the new girls."

This year awards went to Cyndy Kuhter and Laura Fort of the First Team for the All Angelus League, Karyn Rice of the Second Team for The All Angelus League and the Orange County Championships, and to Erin Bloch of the Second Team who won the all Angelus League Award. Congratulations!

The spirit and pride of the Mater Dei Monarch has forever been carried upon the shoulders of its' athletes since M.D. has first opened its' doors. This years Girls Varsity Volleyball Team is no exception. It wasn't just the coaches that made the team, and it wasn't just the players . . . it was a combination of both, the team, that has once again put M.D. in the spotlight.

Studying the competing teams, Coach Zamora, Mo Flannigan, and a supporting end see if they can pick up any new techniques that might help them in their game. Varsity team: Cyndy Kuhter, Heather Mead, Erin Bloch, Laura Fort, Carrie Sulli-n, Mia Richely, Mo Flannigan, Holly Langston, Lorie Smith, Karyn Rice, Debbie uam, Head Coach Barbara Zamora, and Assistant Coach Darren Utterback. 3. uring a quick pep talk, the girls don't forget that they are #1. It is this support that s made the team the All Angelus League Champs.

1. J.V. team: Nicole Smith, Moonie Castillo, Sonja Becker, Andrea Abril, Kara Eberhart, Mary McCarthy, Lisa Miccio, Nancy Huntington, Joli Eberhart, Andrea Byrtus, Lainie Spence, Wendy Dumbolton, Head Coach Cathy Quisnell, and Assistant Coach Darren Utterback. 2. Known for her hitting power, Laura Fort is about to serve the ball for M.D. It is her spirit and talent that has made her the Varsity Team Captain.

They've Got What It Takes

Team work. It's what has once again put Mater Dei's Girls J.V. Volleyball Team into the eyes and interests of all the competition. This years' "85-86" volleyball team has pulled together from the beginning of the season to the end, showing all the trust, dedication, confidence and spirit they share among each other.

Coaching Mater Dei's J.V. team is Cathy Quesnell and Assistant Coach Darren Utterback. Watching the games, it was quite obvious that Coach Quesnell was rather content with this years team, as she seemed to have no objections to using any of the girls in the games. The team ended their season with an outstanding league record of 10 and 1, and an overall record of 14 and 0. The girls placed 1st at the San Clemente and Huntington Beach Tournaments.

All the girls played well, but a few were chosen for the tournament, most valuable player and most valuable coach awards. It was Kara Eberhart and Nicole Smith who won the Most Valuable Player Award along with two more awards for a sensational performance in the San Clemente and Huntington Beach Tournaments. Congratulations to you two, and to the rest of the team for a spectacular season.

It takes work, dedication and alot of individual and team spirit to make a team work together . . . M.D. has shown once again that we've got what it takes to make . . . a team.

Lady Monarchs Rule The Court

Tennis at Mater Dei is not one the most recognized sports, ut the Girls' Tennis team is oving it is one of the most suc-ssful. For the second time in ree years, the Girls' Tennis am has reached the 3A CIF Fin-s. They also went undefeated league, capturing the Angelus ague title for the seventh raight year.

In pre-season action, the Lady onarchs competed against me of Orange County's peren-al powers. They pummelled guna Beach 16-2 and swept st Edison, 13-5. With these o convincing victories, the dy Monarchs boosted their nking to number four in the unty, going undefeated into gue action.

The Angelus League competi-on was not very strenuous on e Lady Monarchs. In twelve atches, the team outscored eir opponents, 179-20. Bishop ontgomery scored ten of those enty points in their two atches, scoring five each time. The main reason for the suc-ss of the Girls' Tennis team s their incredible depth. Play-g number one for the Lady onarchs was four year varsity ayer, Shannon Lavelle. In the mber two singles position s an outstanding freshman, Vicky Cordova. Finally, in the number three position was Lisa Cimini. The doubles line-up was as formidable as the singles. The number one doubles team of Sabrina Burke and Laura Spinner were named to the All County team and played well throughout the season. The sisters, Lisa and Jenny Smith, teamed together to play the number two position. Rounding out the team were Loretta Fleming and Kelly Krause, playing number three doubles. With only one senior on the varsity team, Miss Allec should have another great team and maybe, another shot at San Marcos.

The Junior Varsity team had another successful season under the coach Patty Dreyfus. They also went undefeated in league and finished 15-3. Leading the team were sophomores Lynn Hagan and freshman Babette Francis and Amy Dreyfus. With some early season victories over Katella, Laguna Beach and Edison, the Monarchs were on their way into league. As usual, the girls cruised through their competition and went undefeated. With this tremendously deep tennis program, the Lady Monarchs may be undefeated in league for years to come.

Champions Of Tomorrow

In its fourth year at Mater Dei, he swim team has grown from a here thirty members to an awe-ome one-hundred-and-thir-een-member crew. The team vas coached by Jim Robison, Miss Carr, and John Kuri. Coach Robison has been head coach ince the teams' beginning in 983.

Not only has the size of the eam increased, but also the trength and dedication has rown tremendously. The team ad ten swimmers compete in IF finals. Among them were he teams' powerhouses: Brian reen, Peggy Burns, Kris Berry-man, Michele Hartl, Sonja Steiner, Gail Markert, Jacque McCarthy, Maureen Daly, and Heidi Assigal. The two alternates were Susan Morin and Amy Clarke.

The girls medley relay took first place in their league finals, and went on to capture eleventh place in CIF. The team's captains led the team to victory and hard work. They were: Kris Berryman, Maureen Daly, Brian Breen, and Hansi Assigal.

In the future we look forward to seeing the Mater Dei Swim Team rise to the top and become the Champions of Tomorrow.

Running Strong And Running To Win

The boys track team suffered major loss when the seniors graduated last year, yet they still an an exceptional season, with ecords of 6 and 2, 5 and 2, and 5 nd 1, for the boys Varsity, ju- ior Varsity, and Frosh-Soph eams, respectively.

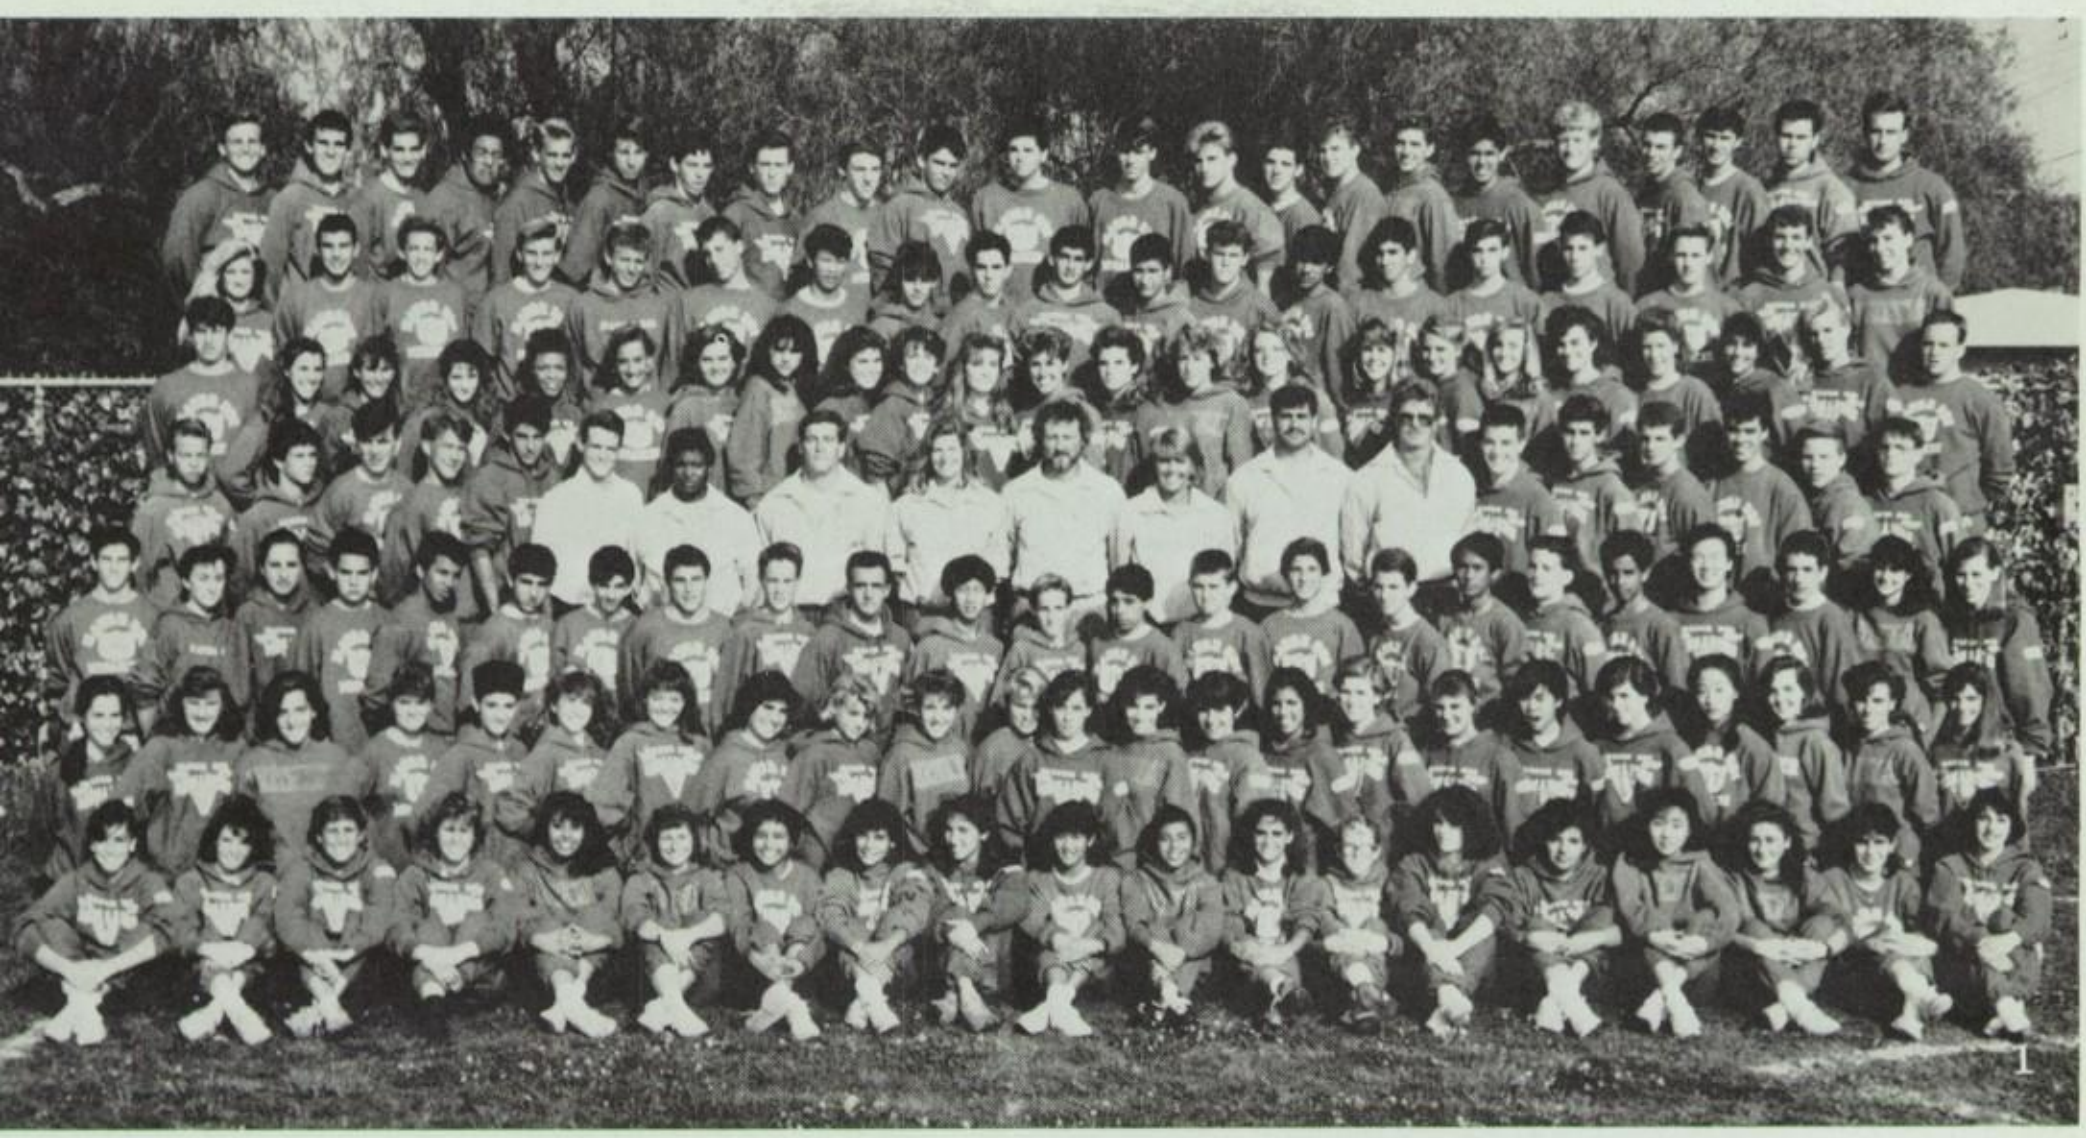
To add to the team's loss, nany important runners sus- ained injuries. Bill Wagner, a uarter-miler, pulled his ham- tring before the season began, nd George Lynch, a hurtler, ulled his leg in the Orange County Championships.

And yet the season had its ighlights. In the dual meet gainst Bishop Montgomery, Coach Callahan recruited four unners to run the boys varsity ile relay, and they won! Mike Monge was on his third jump at he high jump at the high jump it, competing for second place . . and the meet. Surrounded by is teammates, Mike jumped his wn personal record, winning econd place and the meet. Dur- ng qualifications at the O.C. Championships, Servite dropped the baton on the third leg of the 4 by 110 relay and Mater Dei won the race. After a protest by Servite (due to the lane they were in), the race was run again, and once again the Monarchs dominated.

Two athletes, Chris Conrad and Eddie Lavelle shone throughout the season. Conrad, a junior, qualified for C.I.F. prelims and finals in the long jump, after winning the O.C. Championships. Lavelle, a freshman, though not qualifying for C.I.F., is expected to become a top long distance runner within the next three years.

At the track banquet, Chris Conrad was awarded the boys Varsity trophy for best individual performance, jumping 22.1 feet in the long jump. Eddie Lavelle received the coach's award for his performance this season, and Chris Manriquez and Rob Finn were awarded a plaque designating them team captains.

1. Ray Duval, a sprinter, runs the beginning of a 220 at full speed, not slowing down until the race is over. 2. Concentration is a major factor in running Track. This runner will stay in front of his opponent for as long as long as possible. 3. Eddie Lavelle, a freshman distance runner, stretches out his stride as long and as fast as possible.



1. The boys and girls 1985/86 track team, including Coaches Page and Hartigan (shotput), Frank and Callahan (sprinters), Full (long jump), Varisco (high jump), and Coach Zeitler (long distance. 2. Rob Finn, team captain and shotputter, displays his team spirit. Even though injured, Rob attended every meet to cheer on his teammates. 3. Striding out, this runner is all alone and headed for the back strataway during a meet.

Girls Go The Distance

The girls team was expected to go the distance in Angelus league this year, and they did. With a record of 6 and 1 overall, and 3 and 1 in league, they were practically unbeatable. The one loss this season was to Pius X, when many of our girls weren't running.

Last years freshmen were now sophomores, and all the more experienced. With freshmen and sophomores running varsity, the team dominated Angelus league. At the O.C. Championships the freshman and sophomores ran incredibly, dominating other teams.

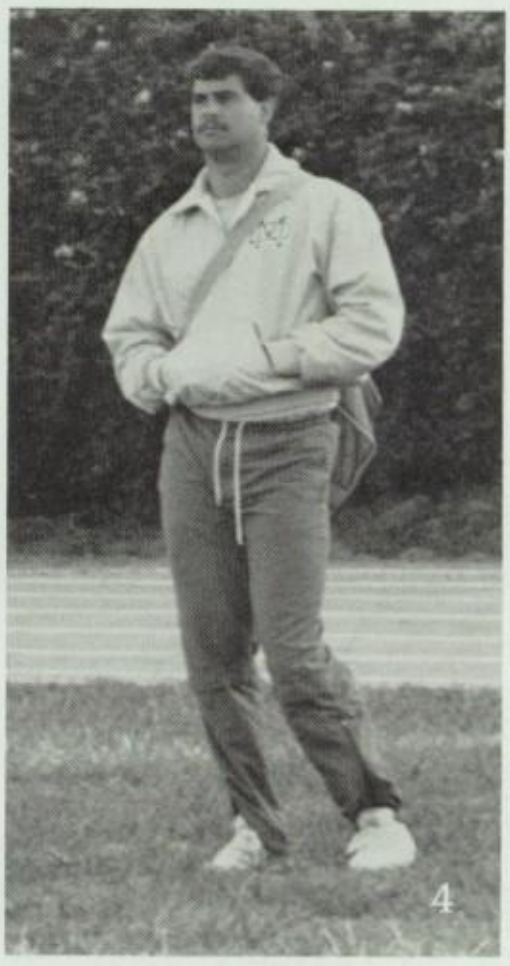
The four person teams played a major role in the outcome of a meet. The varsity 4 by 110 relay team was comprised of three sophomores, Claudine Moreno, Susan Eggleston, and Samantha Toomey, and one freshman, Amy Fritz. The mile relay included Claudine Moreno, Kara Grandolfo, Michelle Moreau, and Lynn Hagan.

Tiffany Felix was one of the few senior girls this year to go to C.I.F. Tiffany qualified in the 100, the 110 low hurdles, the mile relay, and the 4 by 110 relay. Just after prelims she pulled her hamstring, and couldn't run in finals.

Two shotputters, Mary Meuller and Susan Eggleston, both went to C.I.F., along with Laura Doering, a freshman who ran the 1600 and 3000, and Lynn Hagan, a sophomore, who ran the 800. Samantha Toomey took 5th in the 400m finals, and 4th in the long jump finals.

During the Banquet, two trophies were given out for most valuable player. Mary Meuller took it for the field events, while Tiffany Felix won in the running events. Lynn Hagan and Susan Eggleston both received coaches awards, while Laura Doering took best individual performance. Most inspirational went to Marianne Baker, most improved to Nicole Dennick, and the Monarch of the Year award for track went to Claudine Moreno.

1. Tiffany Felix displays her "awesome" form running the hurdles. Tiffany qualified for finals but was hurt. 2. Mary Meuller picks up speed towards the end of the runway. Long jumping took complete and utter concentration, which Mary always had.



1. Kara Grandolfo takes the lead in the relay during the O.C. Championships. The relay team went on to win this race. 2. Coach Frank and Angela Theriault watched the races from a comfortable viewpoint. 3. Karen Crouteau passes a St. Paul runner during a race. Most of the time, runners could only pass on straitaways, yet in moments of need, there was always an exception. 4. Coach Varisco, the high jump coach, looks on as a race is being run at the other end of the track.

Driving Towards A Title

With no seniors on the varsity olf team, Coach Craig Thornurg did not know what to exect from his team. The team ut these thoughts to rest as ney had the most successful eason ever for Mater Dei Varsiy Golf.

The Monarchs won the Angelus League championship by efeating Servite on their course. inishing the season with only ne loss, and a title, the golf eam advanced to C.I.F. In the .I.F. playoffs, the Monarchs inished fifth in the Southern Regional and came only five trokes away from advancing to he C.I.F. Finals.

This was truly an amazing eason for the team. They lost nly one game, won a league tile, advanced to C.I.F., and all of his came from three juniors and ive sophomores. The varsity vas also successful on an indiidual basis.

Sophomore Dan Corral won the Angelus League Individual Tournament by two strokes, and he was named Angelus League Player of the Year. Corral, along with junior all-leaguer Mark Pazdur, advanced to the C.I.F. Individual Tournament. Sophomore Cathy Cordova was able to qualify for the SCGA State Girls Tournament. The other varsity players that contributed greatly to the team's success included sophomore Doug de Heras, junior Matt de Heras, sophomore Joe Foley, sophomore Jeff Smith, and junior Mike Smith.

Varsity golf can look forward to even more success in future years with no players graduating. With this kind of young talent, and the coaching of Coach Thornburg, the team has nothing to do except improve. As enthusiastic golf fans, we can look for Mater Dei Golf to rise to the top.

. Sophomore Doug de Heras drives the all down the fairway. De Heras was one f five sophomores on the team. 2. With ntense concentration, Matt de Heras utts the ball into the hold. Smith was known for his play on the 'green'. 3. 1986 Varsity Golf Team: Mark Pazdur, Jeff Smith, Matt de Heras, Joe Foley, Doug de Heras, Cathy Cordova, and Dan Corral. Not Pictured: Mike Smith.

Outstanding Athletes

Pride plays a major factor in Mater Dei athletics. The following individuals have taken great pride in representing Mater Dei to the best of their abilities and have attained such high honors as All-Orange County and All-C.I.F. for the 1985-1986 season in their respective sports.

Gary Coston - Football. Gary was selected to both the All-Orange County and All-C.I.F. Teams as a placekicker. He holds the Mater Dei field goal record. He earned a 4-year scholarship to the University of Arizona.

Mike O'Connor - Football/Basketball. Mike was chosen to the All-Orange County Football Team. He was the leading tackler at the linebacker position. He also played on the Monarch Basketball Big Five Championship Team.

Tom Peabody - Boy's Basketball. Tom was selected to both the All-Orange County and All-C.I.F. Teams. He was among the county leaders in assists and led the Monarchs to a 30-1 record and a C.I.F. Championship. He earned a 4-year scholarship to Rice University.

Stuart Thomas - Boys' Basketball. Stuart was chosen to both the All-Orange County and All- C.I.F. Teams. He powered the Monarchs to two consecutive C.I.F. titles. He earned a 4-year scholarship to Stanford University.

Steve George - Boys' Soccer. Steve was chosen to the All C.I.F. Team. He led the Monarchs in goals scored and was instrumental in the team's success.

Cece Braun - Girls' Soccer. Cece was selected to the All-C.I.F. Team. As well as her play on the field, she was the emotional and spirit leader on the team.

Mike Kelly - Basketball/Football. Mike made the All-Angelus League Team and was one of the leading catchers in Orange County. Besides baseball, he was named to the All-Angelus Football Team too. He hopes to play collegiate baseball.

Dear Monarch Family,

The theme of this book is Royalty. Much of the experience of Mater Dei is caught up in this noble tradition. We are the monarchs. Our mascot is the lion, the king of beasts. Our patroness, Mary, the mother of God, is Queen of heaven and earth. This yearbook is named for her crown. Our Lord and Savior is Jesus, the Christ, the King of all creation. We are all, by our baptism, members of the royal priesthood of Christ.

The pages of this book chronicle our royal experience. We remember the joys and sorrows, victories and defeats, laughter and tears of the past year. Most of all, we will remember the love and friendship which have sustained us during our journey.

I would like to thank the Crown staff who have worked so hard on this project. Their labors will provide warm memories for many years to come. I am also deeply grateful to our wonderful senior class, whose leadership, spirit, and generous love have added majesty to our experience.

Mary received the crown of sainthood by living her life with faith and love. It was in her everyday life that her greatness was felt. It is this everyday life of faith and love which is pictured in this book. We hope to continue to follow her example, and thus win our crown of victory.

Jesus is a King who wears a crown of thorns. This clearly shows that the authority of the Lord is expressed in sacrifice for others. He came to serve and not to be served. Let us love others as Jesus has loved us. As a royal priesthood and a people chosen by God, let us measure our success in what we have given to make the world a better place. Those who follow Christ the King look forward eagerly to that day when they will hear that regal voice whisper to them, "This day you will be with Me in paradise."

In Mater Dei,

Fr. Michael A. Harris

School Day Memories

As we reach out our hand
The diploma we grasp,
while we think of the memories
Of the years in the past.
Tears fill our eyes
Because it's all gone,
We're starting a new life,
We have to move on.
We hope friends will keep in touch
As the years pass us by,
Although it hurts inside
We'll try not to cry.
We think of kindergarten
And our first day,
Now we've reached the end
We are going away.
How do you say good-by
To friends who mean so much?
Will there be time
To sincerely keep in touch?
You'll always have the memories
Of your school years from day one,
Don't think of school as ending-
Think a new life has begun.

Shakin' It Loose

As a school tradition, the class picnic can be a source of fun and relaxation for all who attend. Held at Mile Square Park on a Sunday afternoon, the day is started with frenzied activity.

Mid-morning can find Mrs. La Rosa and members of the student council arriving to prepare for the festivities. They begin by setting up for mass with Father Harris and put the net up for a possible volleyball game. Soon, the students begin to arrive and friends greet each other with hugs and excited talk.

After most everyone has arrived, Father Harris begins mass. Mass always seems to bring out the special closeness between students and faculty. Members of student council read the liturgy, and choir members provide the music.

When Mass is over, the students and attending faculty members each find a place to sit and eat their lunches. They might choose to sit by the small pond, on the lunch benches, or on the grass. The lunches usually range from the usual mom-made brown bag to the fast food lovers hamburger. At the picnic, lunch is not just a time to eat, it's also a time to enjoy conversation with old friends and maybe meet some new ones.

When lunch is finished, some boys start a football game, and other girls grab the volleyball. An extra "tradition", that becomes a full scale WAR at times, is the water fight. Using cups, coolers and sometimes, if they're properly prepared, water balloons, students soak each other (not to mention the faculty members)!

Finally, at the end of the day, everyone helps clean up the area. They will return home wet and exhausted, but best of all, with good spirits and rememberances of the day.

The Dreaded Driving Test

At one time in almost everyone's high school years (maybe more for some) one takes what is known as the driving test. Take Danny Driver for instance.

Danny wakes up one morning with a funny feeling in his stomach, then he realizes why. Today is the day that he takes his driving test, for the third time. Danny has had his permit for almost a year so he thought his mom would be used to his driving, but as he pulls out of his driveway and onto the street he hears his mom give him all sorts of instructions. "Slow down, turn off that music, keep your eyes on the road, look over your shoulder, use your mirrors, stop, go, turn left, turn right, change lanes, stop swerving!" all of which is to be done at the same time! But Danny is so used to it by now that it doesn't bother him.

Now that he has mastered driving with his mother, here comes the real challenge, driving with the D.M.V. instructor. As he pulls up, he is silently praying that he doesn't get one of the ones that he has already had. As he sees her walk toward the car, he breathes a sigh of relief. She's a new one. She gets in the car and Danny is ready. Through his mind he is trying to remember all the helpful hints his friends at school gave him. "Don't drive too fast, don't do 'California rolls' through stop signs, don't hit the curb when you back up, look over your shoulder, use your blinkers and all other sorts of things. By the time Danny got through all that he was so nervous he could hardly start the motor. Somehow he managed to do it and they were off! When it was over, the instructor looked at him, smiled and said, "You passed!" Danny was so excited that he didn't even think about what will happen when he gets his first ticket.

Let's Do Lunch

st casually glancing around the uring the lunch break, the main goal f course, eating lunch. This can be eved in many ways, ranging from le brown bags, to the convenient, ic Monarch Den, to elaborate ads of fine cuisine. The variation of hes is second only to the variety of le.

e means to that end are also assort-Sunny weather being prevalent in ght out and everyone gathers in the lle of the lunch shelter. Even better, times the gym is opened and lunch lowed inside where students can warm and dry.

ting lunch is not the only activity common to the lunch period. Of course, it is the perfect time to keep up on the latest dirt on you-know-who, or find out how hard last period's test was. Lunch also presents the chance to study for next period's test or complete that last minute homework. Occasionally, an impromptu game of catch will start up with various items. These, though, are usually cut short by the deans or the owner of the item, as abruptly as they had started.

A day can't go by without a birthday celebration for someone. These are the best reasons for bringing out extra treats for friends. Often times, gifts, cakes, bouquets of flowers and balloons can be spied celebrating someones' special day. Because of the unique friendships formed at Mater Dei, gifts of love and best wishes always accompany the cards and presents.

But, alas, all good things must end. Luckily, with the introduction of the chimes, no more of the annoying clamor of the bell: when people hear the soft tones that signals the end of lunch, they head off to their next class with ready minds and full stomachs.

Breaking Bread Together

What do you get when you combine 900 pounds of pancake batter, 60 cases of syrup, and months of planning? It all adds up to the Mater Dei Family Mass and Pancake Breakfast which was held on October 6th. The breakfast, sponsored by the Mater Dei booster clubs, successfully brought together the students and their families, its main purpose. It was an opportunity for the booster clubs and other groups around school "to have a chance to work together on one project." As a result of their combined efforts, 4,573 tickets were sold, and an estimated 3,600 people were served.

The day began by a 7:30am mass which took place in the quad. It was followed by the breakfast served in the lunch area. To accomodate the large numbers attending, a second mass was held at 9:30am, and once again followed by the breakfast which lasted until noon. Students from eleven different teams and groups participated by working at the breakfast. Their jobs ranged from serving food, to singing at the mass, to selling raffle tickets. For example, girl's athletic team me bers and cheerleaders served cof and juice, while boy's athletic te members cleared and re-set the bles. In return, the proceeds of breakfast were distributed amo the teams and groups.

The Mater Dei Family Mass a Pancake Breakfast turned out to "a huge success." It accomplish the original goal "to increase spirit and unity of Mater Dei," well as raising funds for school tivities.

The Chimes Have Chung

Augghhh!

It's 8:19 and you were frantically trying one last time to open your jammed locker. Suddenly you looked up and realized that the halls were deserted. You started running across the quad at the same speed Carl Lewis would have, and slid into section as the chimes were sounding. Wondering if you were tardy on the first chime or the fourth, your teacher confirms it was the first by handing you a pink slip.

Many students have flashbacks of different situations when they hear the chimes. For instance, some think of their favorite (or least favorite) department store. Others are reminded of the flashing seatbelt sign on their last plane trip. Another vision people have is of being on the elevator at the doctor's office. When asked what they reminded him of, a student claimed that hearing the chimes reminded him of his microwave oven.

Although the initial reaction to the chimes was unfavorable, most students welcomed the change. In addition, the chimes proved to be a more pleasant sound than the old jarring bell.

The tone has added a new figure of speech to the Mater Dei campus, "The Chimes Have Chung".

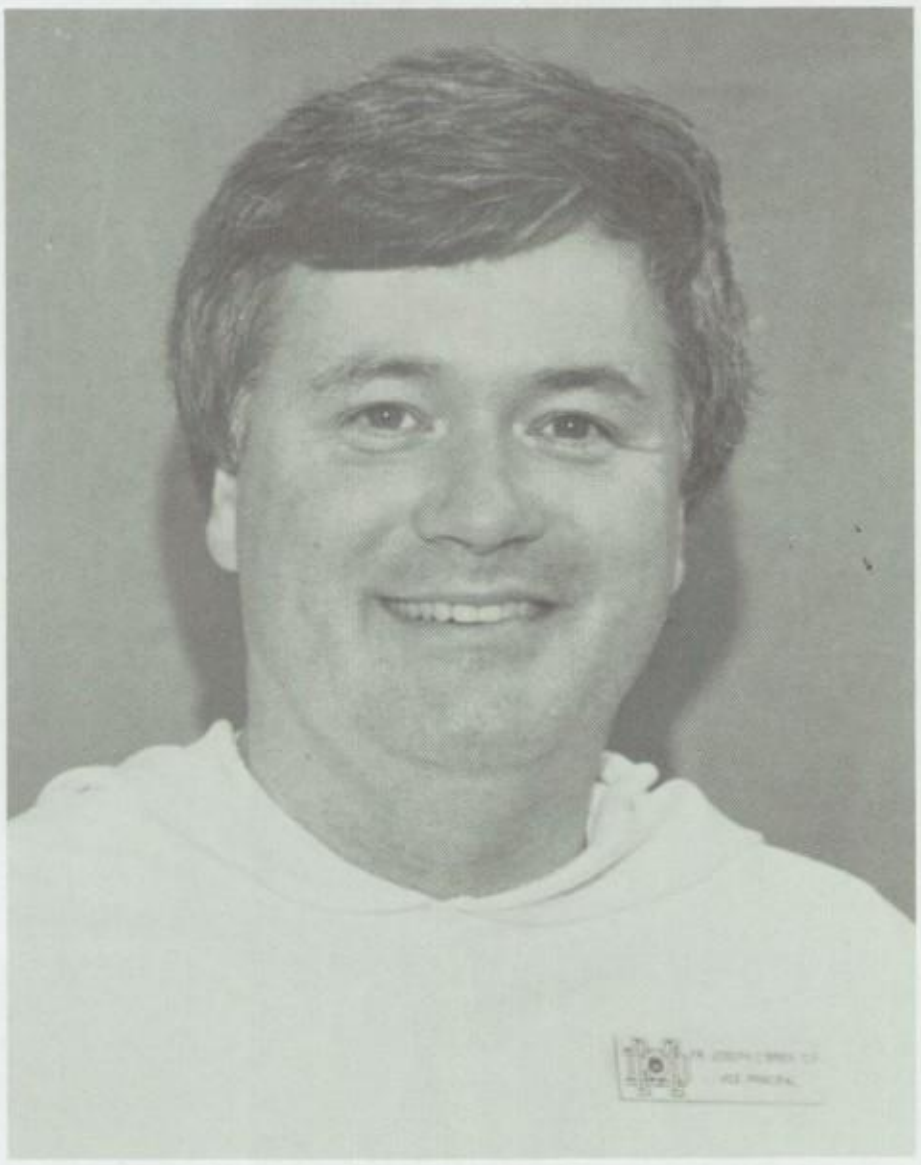
FACULTY

Dedication



In saying goodbye to Father Joseph O'Brien, O. P., we bid farewell to a great man. His presence among us has been a benediction because through Father, the Lord has accomplished great things. Giving everything he has of energy, enthusiasm and hard work, he has brought forth many wonderful programs here at Mater Dei.

It is not possible to list all his achievements, but I would like to name a few.

As Coordinator of Fine and Peforming Arts, he has assisted our Pageantry Corps in years of unprecedented success.

As Vice Principal he has contributed mightily to the growing academic excellence of our curricular programs. He has worked to see that special recognition be given to those students who are academic achievers.

As "organizer par excellence" he was responsible for the development of our Activities Calendar.

As Choral Director he has made possible our outstanding Chamber Choir,Concert Choir, Freshman Choir, Jazz Ensemble and Handbell Choir. These groups have contributed mightily to the Mater Dei experience and have brought international recognition to our school.

As priest he has ministered above and beyond the call of duty to all of us. In his goodness he has given to us the faith, love and hope of the Gospel.

As friend he has been a source of support and encouragement in the good time and in the bad times. Because of his many gifts, he has created many wonderful and enjoyable times for us all.

The great music of his soul rises to heaven. The song of his heart has brightened our days and given glory and praise to almight God. Mater Dei thanks him. Mater Dei loves him. May Mater Dei, the Mother of God, rise like the evening star before him and guide the journeys that lie before him.

Goodbye, dear friend. Know that you always have a welcome in this heart and at Mater Dei.

Fr. Michael Harris and the Mater Dei Family.

Here's Looking At You, Mr. Cou!

Many people wonder what the real Mr. George Cou is like. One thing everyone knows is that his class is hard, but students always learn a little more than just Spanish.

Born in Cuba, Mr. Cou arrived in the United States in 1961. His grandfather was Chinese, and it was through the Chinese embassy that he and his family were able to escape the problems in Cuba.

Mr. Cou started his teaching with a P.E. assignment in an elementary school. This seems incongruous to some. As he puts it, "Some people think Mr. Cou just sleeps in his suits." He enjoys teaching and has completed his sixth year at Mater Dei.

When he first started at Mater Dei, Mr. Cou was also a baseball coach. His first impressions of the school were extremely favorable. He states, "I was ready to teach and really into the Christian attitude of the school." Now, he teaches his native language in Spanish I and IV classes. He also moderates the Debate and Photography Clubs. If he could teach anything else, it would be history, his real first love.

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, one can find Mr. Cou in the classroom again. This time, not as a teacher, but as a student. He attends classes at California State University in Long Beach; there he is working on a master's degree in comparative government and international relations.

Teaching Spanish and attending his own classes doesn't consume all of Mr. Cou's time. Any free time he has is spent biking, playing tennis, or backpacking. Another favorite pastime of Mr. Cou's is watching old movies, especially Humphrey Bogart ones. Often he attends Bogart film festivals, and has seen every Bogie film. Last year, he chaperoned the Mater Dei trip to Europe, which he really found enjoyable. "It was really beautiful there, and I hope to go back soon."

The person whom Mr. Cou admired most was his father. The reason: "My father came here with a wife, three children and nothing; he had lots of determination even to attempt something like that."

In the future, Mr. Cou would like to become involved in some sort of job with the government. For now, though, we are lucky to have him as teacher and friend.

Committed To Life

Total commitment is what head varsity football coach and geometry teacher Chuck Gallo is all about. He was committed in the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, where he earned his Bachelor of Science in engineering. He then spent three years in the Army. After that, his commitment to education led him to a Master of Arts in Physical Education at Columbia University.

Coach Gallo's true commitment and love is for football. Besides teaching math, Coach Gallo has been coaching football for twenty years. Over this period of time, he has earned an impressive record in addition to coaching some now-famous football players such as Turk Schonert of the Cincinnati Bengals.

Two years ago, Mr. Gallo was seeking a head coaching position in the Orange County area. This led him to Mater Dei. He feels that Mater Dei is tops in all aspects of the school. He "ad mires the tradition of exce lence" here and feels that th level of competition is the bes

Almost all of Coach Gallo time is dedicated to the Monarc football team. His players per ceive him as a great motivato They also sense that Coac Gallo understands school an family problems and helps ther work these out through footbal

The '84 season proved that to tal commitment was well wort the effort. With a win over Ser vite, a victory over St. Paul at th Pit and making it all the way t the second round in CIF demon strated that Mr. Gallo als gained the total commitment o the team.

Family is extremely importan to Coach Gallo. He and his wife Anne, have a daughter who i now attending U.C.L.A. As on can see, Coach Gallo is not onl dedicated to football and family but to life.

1. The force is with us. The mental force behind the physical force of the football team is attributed to Coach Gallo and his assistant coaches. 2. Generosity: A Way Of Life

e of two people with first and name working in the C.Y.M. gram this year (the other is leen M. O'Connor). This year proved not only confusing fun in identifying the two r the telephone or in person.
e is the director of the C.Y.M.
vice Program; the other is an glish teacher and C.Y.M. re-at organizer. The latter's es are filled by Miss Colleen O'Connor.

Miss O'Connor is a southern ifornia native who has been Mater Dei for four years. The est of seven children, she nes from a very close family.
decided to come to Mater
, in fact, because her two sis-s were alumnae of the school because she had heard so ny good things about it.

Before college, Miss O'Con-
faced a dilemma in choosing a path for her future; she had to decide whether to teach or to work as a missionary or social worker. Opting for teaching, she majored in English at St. Mary's College in Moraga, California, then went on to San Francisco State University for her teaching credential.

Her involvement in Campus Youth Ministry while in college set a sound foundation for Miss O'Connor's work at Mater Dei. She instigated many weekend and day-long trips to Mexico to feed the poor as well as many visits to the Santa Ana soup kitchen. Throughout her four years, she has strongly encouraged students to get involved in helping the needy.

Miss O'Connor feels that by assisting the poor, students will use their talents wisely while growing as persons. She urges students to realize that everyone isn't as well provided for as each of them may be. Campus Youth Ministry is, in her words, "a link in the education of the students."

To further echo her thoughts about the poor of this world, Miss O'Connor shares her experiences of visiting her sister, a missionary in Papau, New Guinea a few years ago. That trip educated her on the plight of Third World countries and further strengthened her commitment to the needy.

When not involved in school or C.Y.M., Miss O'Connor enjoys entertaining friends, cooking, playing tennis, and jogging on the beach. She hopes one day to enter a teaching program in special education, even more evidence of her generosity towards less fortunate people.

"From Shakespeare To Cosby"

Little did the young Mollee MacIlhany know that she would grow up to become one of the best-liked teachers at one of the foremost private high schools in California.

Ms. MacIlhany was born the second of six children in Charleston, West Virginia. When she was nine, her family moved to Palos Verdes, California. Here, the family lived on a small farm complete with horses, sheep, chickens, ducks and a cow. She still remembers using butter made from their cow's milk and today still has a blanket made from one of their sheep's wool.

Ms. MacIlhany attended high school at Marymount Catholic High School in Palos Verdes. She found this extremely competitive, and was in the lower half of her 26-member graduating class. While at the University of Dallas, she was in the top half of her class.

Ms. MacIlhany had not always planned to teach. She knew that she wanted to work with people, but was unsure of what exactly she wanted to do. Majoring in English in college, she discovered that what she truly wanted to do was to continue learning. The best way she found to do this was to teach.

Her teaching career started in Virginia, at a boarding school of about a hundred students. She then came back to California to teach at neighboring Rosary High School, after which she came to Mater Dei. When comparing Rosary to Mater Dei, Ms. MacIlhany stated that each school has its own strengths and weaknesses. Currently, she is also teaching English courses at Orange Coast College and Fullerton College.

Her classes here at Mater Dei include Advanced Placement English on the senior level and Comedy and Humor, also a senior course. Her A.P. English class is structured as a general preparation for the A.P. exam facing the seniors at year's end. Her comedy course analyz style and techniques of come and studies comedy write "from Bill Shakespeare to B Cosby."

In her free time, Ms. Mac hany enjoys backpacking a biking and has made numero extensive bike trips. But her r passion is for reading. Just as naturally occurs to some peop to watch television in the eve ing, Ms. MacIlhany natura settles down with a book.

Her attitude towards toda youth and teaching them is b summed up in Henry Dav Thoreau's Walden: "I desire th there may be as many differe persons in the world as possib but I would have each one very careful to find out and pu sue his own way and not his ther's or his mother's or h neighbor's instead. The you may build or plant or sail, or let him not be hindered from d ing that which he tells me would like to do."

1. Referring to his oft-used copy of To Kill a Mockingbird, Mr. Katnic discusses t mystery surrounding the reclusive Boo Radley. Mr. Katnic is a varsity baseball coa as well as an American Literature teacher. 2. Sergeant Timons entertains Sr. Tere and Sr. Marie during their preparation period. The faculty cafeteria is the backdrop much faculty interaction. 3. While offering sage advice to Theresa Lawrence about h choice of colleges, Ms. McIlhany mixes fun and business when sharing a story college hi jinks. Ms. McIlhany is an excellent resource person for her seniors wh wish to know more about college.

A Vital Part Of Mater Dei

The warm personality and unmaterialistic lifestyle of Miss Rebekah Allec seem to be patterened after the saying, "Live simply so that others may simply live." Miss Allec is very devoted to her position of girls athletic director, p.e. coach and tennis coach. Yet, she still finds time to enjoy life.

A vital part of Mater Dei, Miss Allec recalls that in retrospect, her first day at the school made her feel "excited as much as a little scared." That was nine years ago. Though initially overwhelmed by the size of the school, Miss Allec has since come to enjoy the support of the faculty, the students' spirit, and the cooperation between the girls' and boys' athletic programs. Miss Allec believes her freedom to teach Christian values in a Christian atmosphere is a significant feature of Mater Dei.

Miss Allec constantly reaches out to assist others. For many summers, she has worked with the handicapped children, an experience she hopes to share with her students. She was instrumental in organizing the Special Olympics track meet this spring, which she feels was an enormous success. In addition, she has helped the YMCA by taking public school students on overnight camping trips.

Since her summers are left free, Miss Allec spends much time traveling. She has been to Europe with the Mater Dei group, and to Australia and New Guinea with Miss C.A. O'Connor. When her sister Cosette was a Catholic Lay Missionary in Samoa, Miss Allec visited her many times. From this experience, she learned that, among other things, "there are other options in life, than how I live here."

Miss Allec balances her time by pursuing her outside interests. Not only is she a dedicated jogger and swimmer, but she also loves to read, work in her garden, go camping, and play her piano. Of course, she always treasures her time with family and friends.

Miss Allec has found that the key to a happy life is simplicity and spirituality. Like most people, she has special dreams for the future. For right now, she focuses on "doing the best job I can while I'm here, and being the best person I can be." She keeps herself open for change in her life, and, as Henry David Thoreau would say, "...steps to the music which she hears, however measured or far away."

A New Beginning

Friday, April 18, 1986 will alys be a special day in Diocese Orange history. This was the te slated for the groundbreakg ceremonies at the site of the w high school located in Mis-on Viejo. Santa Margarita tholic High School is due for mpletion in the fall of 1987.
For many future students,
nta Margarita is a blessing.
rrently, many students who e in Mission Viejo and the rrounding south county com-unities spend almost as much ne traveling to school as they attending it. For quite a few ars, Mater Dei has been the gest co-educational Catholic gh school west of the Missis-ppi. Now, with the initiation Santa Margarita, students will t have to travel as far and ater Dei will not have as ex-nsive a waiting list as it has in e past.
The groundbreaking ceremo-es began with the Air Force nior R.O.T.C. color guard and g bearers entering the tent at had been erected for the oc-sion. Tom Fuentes, the okesman for the Diocese of range, opened the ceremonies th a few comments about the ture of the school. Mr. Fuentes en passed the microphone to shop Johnson, who said that e project "is very exciting for e, and very dear to my heart."
e thanked those people who nated the land, time, and nds for the project.

One of the main donors was Carl Karcher, founder and president of Carl's Jr. restaurants. Mr. Karcher once again showed his generosity and philanthropy to the Church community through his donation. Archbishop Clavell then proceeded to bless the grounds and say a short mass in honor of the new campus.

Then it was time for the formal ceremonies. Bishop Steinbock participated wholeheartedly by finding a designated spot, donning a hard hat, and digging the first shovelful of dirt. The Santa Margarita building project was underway!

The band was on hand to play, and Fr. Joseph directed the choir in songs which included the national anthem. Performing a variety of popular songs and movie themes, the band was directed by Mr. Corrigan who commented that the festivities were "very exciting" and that the band and he were "privileged to be able to perform at such an occasion." Also included in the event were the members of the Tall Flag Squad.

As one current Mater Dei student commented, "I felt that the whole atmosphere at Santa Margarita was really new. The surroundings are really beautiful; it should make a great spot for a school." The groundbreaking ceremonies were just the beginning of this great project, with pride as the cornerstone.

1. Mrs. Monge assists a student on one of the many IBM computers that are available in the computer lab. 2. Security

Keeping Us Safe!

One of the newest additions to the Mater Dei family is the security guards. Randy Schickler, Mark Reminiskey, and Robert Pedroza (who is also MD equipment manager) take turns protecting the school grounds, faculty, students and their property.

The security guards are on campus from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. They work in conjunction with the deans under the guidance of Mrs. Dominguez. After school, it is not uncommon to find one of these men assisting students with dead car batteries or keys locked inside of cars. They not only supervise everyday activities; they also are on duty at football games and other school-related events.

As many know, the past few years have brought a rash of thefts as the number of car break-ins has mounted. However, the presence and watchful eyes of these three men have helped to lessen the crime rate by 50%.

All of the guards have had experience either in the military or in other security jobs. Not only do they protect the campus, but their familiar faces have helped to make all at Mater Dei feel safe and protected.

1. M.D.P.D.: Randy Schickler, Robert Pedroza and Mark Reminiskey comprise Mater Dei's security staff. 2. Mr. Schickler and the other security guards use bicycles to help them move about campus quickly. 3. Before changing security shifts, Mr. Pedroza checks with morning guard Mr. Schickler about the day's activities. The men share a walkie-talkie, which is based in the deans' office, for any emergencies that may arise. 4. Siblings Mr. Reminiskey and Mrs. Dhuyvetter (of the English Dept.) enjoy working together.

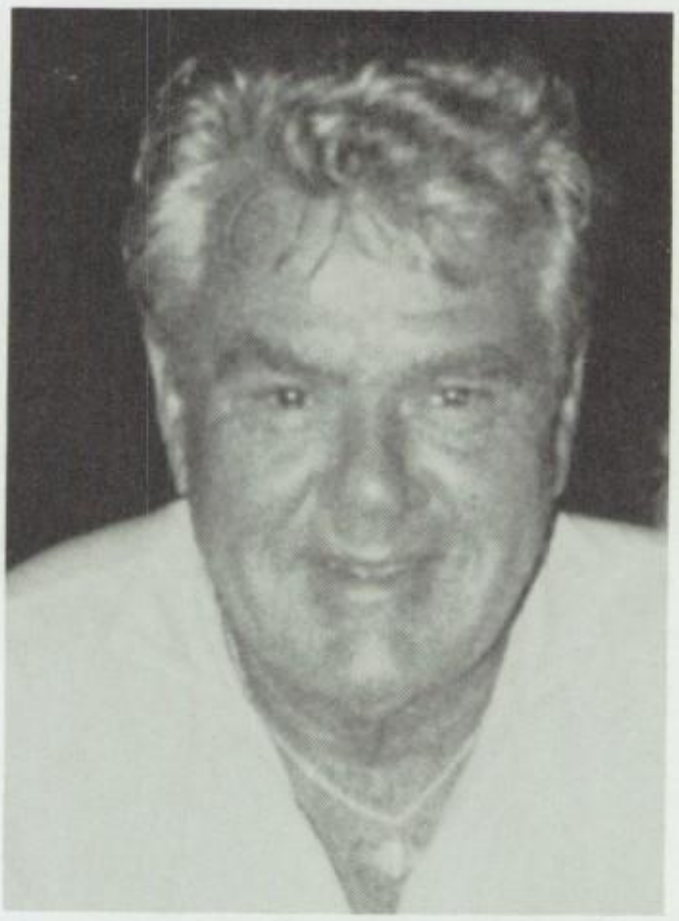
In Memoriam



Jim Slate's association with Mater Dei goes back many years. He and his good wife raised their family in Orange County and sent their children through Mater Dei. Their love and faith were never more evident than when they fought the long battle of cancer with their youngest son, Chris, who died before his junior year. At that time a memorial fund for Chris was established to aid in the development of our library and media center.

Sometime after Chris' death, Jim joined the staff at Mater Dei, where he expressed his dedication, hard work and devotion. After he lost his beloved wife, the Mater Dei family continued to be Jim's family and the school was like his own. He would labor above and beyond the call of duty to see that everything was in order.

He held in his heart a great love for Mary, our Blessed Mother. In every respect he was a true son of God and of Mary. The Lord has called Jim from this life to Himself. He joins his wife and son in paradise. Having known Jim, I am confident that Jesus has welcomed him with open arms and with the blessed words, "Well done, good and faithful servant. Come now into the joy prepared for you from all time."

Athletes Of The Mind . . .

The Orange County Academic ecathlon program consists of : written tests, three demon- rations of communication ills, and a Super Quiz which is eam event that takes place be- re a large audience, and dis- sses current issues.

Beginning in May of the pre- ding year, Mrs. Fairbanks, the am moderator, selects the embers to represent Mater ei. Three levels of competition e established in order to recog- ze all levels of intelligence. ne teams begin to study for the mpetition, which takes place November, at this time and ntinue to study through the mmer as well. Once school s resumed they will have nchtime classes in order to epare more extensively. Many achers gave up their valuable ne to assist in the training of e students.

The actual day of the decath- n is long and strenuous. It be- ns at 8:00 in the morning and lasts until 4:30 in the afternoon. Team members were split up as they each went to their respective testing areas. After many hours of testing, tension mounted as the scores were posted and competitors were able to see how they did.

This year Mater Dei placed fourteenth out of sixty-five schools. There were many individual awards as well. Seniors Craig Larson won second place in economics and Dave Smelzer won a second place in science. The juniors faired well also as Paul Rinder captured a third place in social science. Micheal Frayne won a third place in science and a third place in language and literature. Geoffry Atchinson was awarded first place in mathematics and a second place in language and literature.

It is obvious that their many hours of truly time consuming and dedicated hours of study and preparation paid off. Congratulations!

C.S.F. Officers: Susan Hall, Brett Munson, Christine Cwiertny, Finola Halloran, James Lodin.

The most vital aspect of Mat- r Dei life is academics. Because f this, the California Scholastic ederation is an organization on ampus that gives those that ex- ell in academics a club where ney are honored and have an pportunity to share their nowledge with others.

To be a member of C.S.F., a tudent has to attain ten points vhich is calculated by giving our points for every "A" and a oint for every "B" in semester cademic courses.

The members of C.S.F. attend- d monthly meetings which en- bled them to listen to speakers n several varied topics. There re also special trips offered to ne members such as a special ight at Disneyland for the outhern California region of C.S.F. The members also enjoyed the fun-filled annual trip to Catalina.

There were a total of 255 members in the fall semester and 271 in the spring. There were also sixty graduating seniors which qualified to be sealbearers. They became sealbearers after belonging to C.S.F. for four semesters, one of which was in their senior year.

C.S.F. allowed many opportunities to research future goals with college and careers as well. It sponsored college days, parent information nights, and honors assemblies.

C.S.F. provides a valuable service for many students. It is truly worthwhile to be involved in such an organization.

Members listen intently to the guest speaker. Even teachers attended meetings during their free periods.

We looked back and remembered the happy times,
Feeling the rewards of hard work and dedication.
At other times we felt all alone,
Isolated in the midst of a crowd.
Our existence was one of constant new beginnings
And continuous endings that filled our lives and our memories.
It was our year, molded by the vast and diverse character
Of who we were and had become.

TOMORROW'S OUTLOOK:
140 Degrees Plus

No, we're not talking about the weather. We're talking about the more than 140 educational degrees that Rancho Santiago College offers to help make tomorrow's future bright.

At Rancho Santiago College you have as many options as there are changes in the weather.

You can choose from two-year transfer programs, occupational education, certificate programs, professional growth and development classes, and adult education.

And to make sure that your college time is not just spent blowing in the wind, Rancho Santiago offers support services that include counseling, tutoring, financial aid and scholarships.

Don't be left out in the cold. START YOUR FUTURE TODAY.

Love from Dad, Mom and Heather

To Scott King: Always be you—you have so much to offer. Don't let the world rob you of the spirit. It is bright, and positive, and wonderful. Good luck!
To Dianne de la Riva: Sorry for all of the times when the madness intruded on our talks. You are and will be in my thoughts. I know college awaits you with challenges that you CAN face. You will succeed, friend.
To Bob Demmond: a gem-mond! You, too, I will remember. Thanks for stopping by with an occasional hello to brighten my day. Keep your good humor and please keep in touch.

Beam Us Up Scotty!

Mrs. K. (Car-knee)

As you can see, I haven't been burned at the stake yet, but before I am I wanted to praise your superior and intellectually stimulating courses. Your liking for sentence diagrams perfectly coincides with ours. Your extensive grammar assignments were enjoyable to say the least. And finally, your cultural events featuring fluffy animals slippers was simply a stroke of genius. I really had fun in sophomore English; you're the only person I know of who can make English seem fun and interesting.

Your Devoted Pupil,
Christina Walsh

Auntie V.

Thank you for giving us the joy of friendship, the love of Literature and elephant slippers with pink tu-tus. I will always remember your devotion to grammar and vocabulary. May Lady Luck and the Leprachauns always smile on you, dear Auntie. Please always remember you have left me with a vast treasure for which I can never repay and am eternally grateful.

Thank you,
Paula Breitweiser

P.S. Theresa and I are still conducting experiments in mental telepathy.

Auntie V,

Ireland? I've heard of needing a change of scenery, but . . . Do you still have your elephant-with-tu-tu-slippers?

Memories:

"Well, today we're doing chapters 1-20 in grammar" (we hated it, too)

"This is just like the Star Trek episode when . . ."

"Don't worry about doing The Great Gatsby questions" (WAIT-we stayed up all night the night before trying to do the summer assignment)

"Sorry, I can't take the test today, 'cause Paula's not here" (she's still got custody of the right half of the brain)

You were the first English teacher I had who made the class interesting!

Thanx,
Theresa Baumgartner

What the heck are "elephant slippers?" Keep the spoon away from your teeth! Everybody wants to rule the world, especially millionaires$$$Bovine is beautiful. Kirk lives. Diagramming is against my religion. How many points is this worth? Why are we here? What is normal?! I always liked German weddings. St. Paul will fall. When Irish eyes are smiling. 'ld 'ome-land.MDHS 1986. You've got to love it. The turning of the Screw??? Through it all, thanks for everything. — Love the Tree

Ms. K. You're the greatest. Sincerely Nick Carraway, Jay Gatsby; the parents of the deaf child; Jem Scout and Atticus Finch; John and Elizabeth Proctor; Art Dimmesdale, Roger Chillingworth, Hester and Pearl Prynne; Flora and Miles, Miss Jessel and Peter Quint; Jim and Antonia; J.A. Prufrock; Pepe; Granny Weatherall; Bigger Thomas; Robert Cohnian; old man and his sea; Roy Hobbs; Huck and Jim; Antonio, Bassanio and Shylock; and finally Celliope, Clio, Terischore, Euterpe, Melpomene, Erato, Polyhymnia, Thalia and Urania.

"BEAM ME UP SCOTTY . . . AND QUICK!!!" Obviously, the captain has spent too much time in seventh period, '83-84' — or not enough. Once upon a time this guy from West Egg walked upon A Worn Path and found himself looking eye-to-eye with The Bear. Even though he was Great, he took out a Tamed Shrew and subjected the poor beast to re-runs of Miamie Crucible (and thus is Jim "Most likely to succeed" Lodin vindicated) while watching Granny Weatherall (Weatherbe, Weatherfield) get jilted. Meanwhile Bernice is being held for questioning. She was apprehended leaving a house with a suspicious looking bob in hand. Not knowing that Pearl didn't drown, Hetser plans an alternate life style. Vulcans wearing fuzzy pink elephants in tu-tu's are landing everywhere (and "V" is too a legitimate and original science-fiction masterpiece)! They keep mumbling something about "to serve Man." So why are we here? And Prufrock gets a superiority complex (he was wandering around in the Wasteland when a mermaid waved). DON'T BITE THAT FORK!!!

Love,
Opus Limekiller, der Schwartz Chevalier

P.S. OK. So how many points is this worth, anyway?

Lisa, thanks for all those words of . . . encouragement as we worked side-by-side on that blankety-blank prop table ("hey, we need that piece of paper back!") Andrea, STAY GOLD . . . and stay "thundering handclapping . . ." BENNY HESTER 4 ever!!! Alycia . . . GOPHERS? sorry, I mean, GERBILS? And always remember: blonde is only root deep. And Becky — by the way, I don't know why, but I always want to spell it "Beaky" but I guess that that would be dumb. Oh well — Becky, Becky, Becky. Thanks go to my favorite big/little sister in the state. Happy Kindegarten. Well, now it's time to say good-bye to all our company . . . K is for all the kinda weird people . . . R is for all the really weird people . . . U is for you if your're weird . . . and E is for every Weird person. Until next time: PARTY AT DENNY'S!!! Skittles welcome. [have you noticed that that's a combination of "Danny" and "Kenny?" Oy vey!]! MIKE

To the whole KRUE, especially Mike, Deniece, Becky, Lisa, And Alycia. Thanks for all your help and support! What am I going to do next year without you? Becky — you have cute cheeks, Too!

Actually, it was fun. There was the team mascot — Ralph — and his trusted side kick Bugger Smurf. And what a team, huh? 1 undefeated season. What more could you want for your dollar: Tour guides at the peak of health — nice cough . . . A tour of St. Mark's. Not many words were understandable but a good Fr. Guido impersonation, Stop and Drops, Gee rolls for breakfast — what a surprise, Bed check yes there are still 2 beds in this room, today we are going to Lugano it's 280 miles away and will take 5 hrs to get there, the fourth of July — Hello What Your Name; this is Olivia, she is very good girl, Does it always rain on bands in Switzerland? Hey. look guys — a foot bath. Today we are going to Lugano it's 280 miles away and will take about 5 hrs to get there; okay, how's about some batting practice? Strausberg some fun huh guys? I got it from Agnes . . . BEACH WEEK, the party, the bus, the hijacker, how could you forget the "pizza" at the rest stop. Every meal was a game of how simply no English word quite gives it justice . . . Pull over sabies buck teeth are a floating. ANOTHER church tour . . . Today we are going to Lugano it's 280 miles away . . . A special thanks to those of you who had the slumber party in my room, for the water fight the mess you made of my room, helping with bed checks as well as making sure I got as little sleep as possible. Let's see what have I forgotten? The mystery meat was pigeon, the snow fight was an interesting turn of events, roll calls, beach toys. The Pope; I still want to know why half of you were taking pictures instead of playing. So for every dollar I give them they give me 100,00 of their Monopoly money. German families — no, you can't make me go . . . Ya I know there was lots more but I'm too poor to use anymore space. Little Roo ... you thought I forgot you. Sorry, but no. I owe you one. For those times I thought you were Monique. Let's see hows about your attempt to drive my bus? Or did you hear a thump followed by a definite shutter? The wimpy burgers, do you EAT that fast when you're with dates? Has anybody ever told you you're as flexible as Gumby? Drill team, leave me with nobody to pick on, telling me we play fight song too fast. But most of all, for the hugs and a smile. That is something I've always loved. Seems I could always count on you for a hello and a smile. Kid, it always brightens my day. As your sisters before you, you are truly unique and a very special lady. So, kid, come back and visit; Make My Day. Good luck and remember you've got a friend in me. By the way, did you catch your phone number in last year's book?

Promise yourself to be so strong that nothing can disturb your piece of mind. To talk health, happiness, and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true. To think only the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best. To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. To wear a cheerful coutenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. To give so much of yourself that you have no time to criticize others. To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

I Love You All!!! Michele

To My Family: Dad, Mom, Jeanine, Ed, Craig, Grandpa, Monica, and Darren: I cannot even begin to express all of my thanks and gratitude for all of the love and support that you have given me in the last four years (especially this year!) You will always be in my thoughts and prayers. Thank you for being the GREATEST family any person could ever wish for.

To all of My Very Special Friends: Thank you for adding so much fun and good times to my four years at Mater Dei—the memories will last FOREVER-Denny's-chocolate cake and super saver coke; CoEd 1986-Club 33, "No we're from Iowa", stolen ash trays, Mickey Mouse ears, and Denny's again; Football games, Farrell's; Baseball games doodadoodadoodadoo, Ow Baby; What's a happenin' hot stuff?; Senior Retreat #1; Staying up all night to finish yearbook deadlines; A.M./P.M. at 1:00 in the a.m.; "Watch out for the Poncho Villas in life"; Party Porks; leave me alone I'm sleeping (I know we're in class!); and all of the many, many, many other memories—may there be many more to come. Don't become strangers, I don't know what I'll do without any of you

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the following people who have put so much time and effort into Crown 1986.

-Mrs. Tanya Dhuyvetter, for not only being an advisor but for showing guidance, loyalty, and patience to the entire staff. Also for contributing her expertise on the ads and faculty sections.

-Buzz Ponce, our Josten's representative, for guiding us through the year and reminding us of our deadlines and progress.

-Kim Robinson for answering all the questions and reassuring us when things seemed hopeless.

-Dianna and all of the photographers, especially Gordon, of Albert and James, for taking pictures whenever needed.

-Main Photo, for turning out quality pictures in short amounts of time.

-Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Bangert in the main office, for handling the shipments to and from the plant.

-Steve Concialdi, Collin Kenney, and Debbie Young, for giving us many pictures.

-Mrs. Dominguez, our administrative advisor, for her speedy approvals, support, and encouragement. Without her the staff would have been lacking the final touch.

-Our parents and friends for coping with us during rough times.

-The section editors, Christy Jewett, Chris Wiper, and David Evans for putting in so much extra time, effort and leadership into their jobs. Also Terry Taughes for doing a super job as photography editor.

-The Crown Staff of 1986 for overcoming great odds and pulling together to create a quality 328 page yearbook. Their effort and dedication will be remembered always.

With my deepest gratitude,

Michele R. Steinmetz

Intensity is a quality greatly used by football players, and Ray Duval expresses this quality perfectly.

Showing love and friendship is what being a student at Mater Dei is all about, especially at a class picnic.

Hi Ed,
Ive had lots of fun sittin next to you in English / I'm really glad I° met ya! ♡ hope to see you next year!

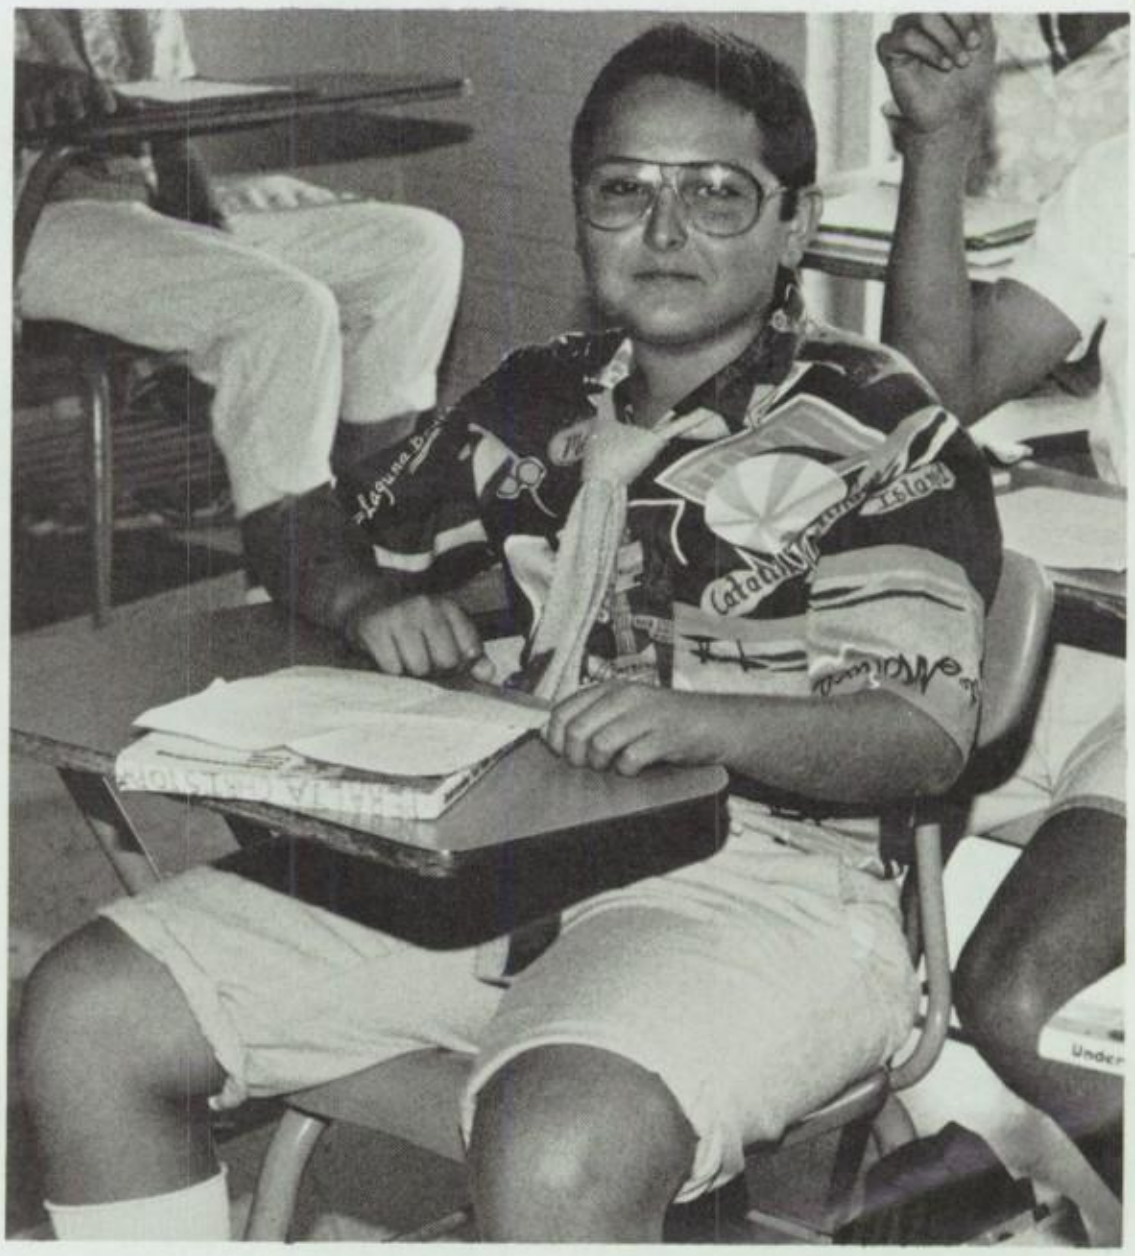
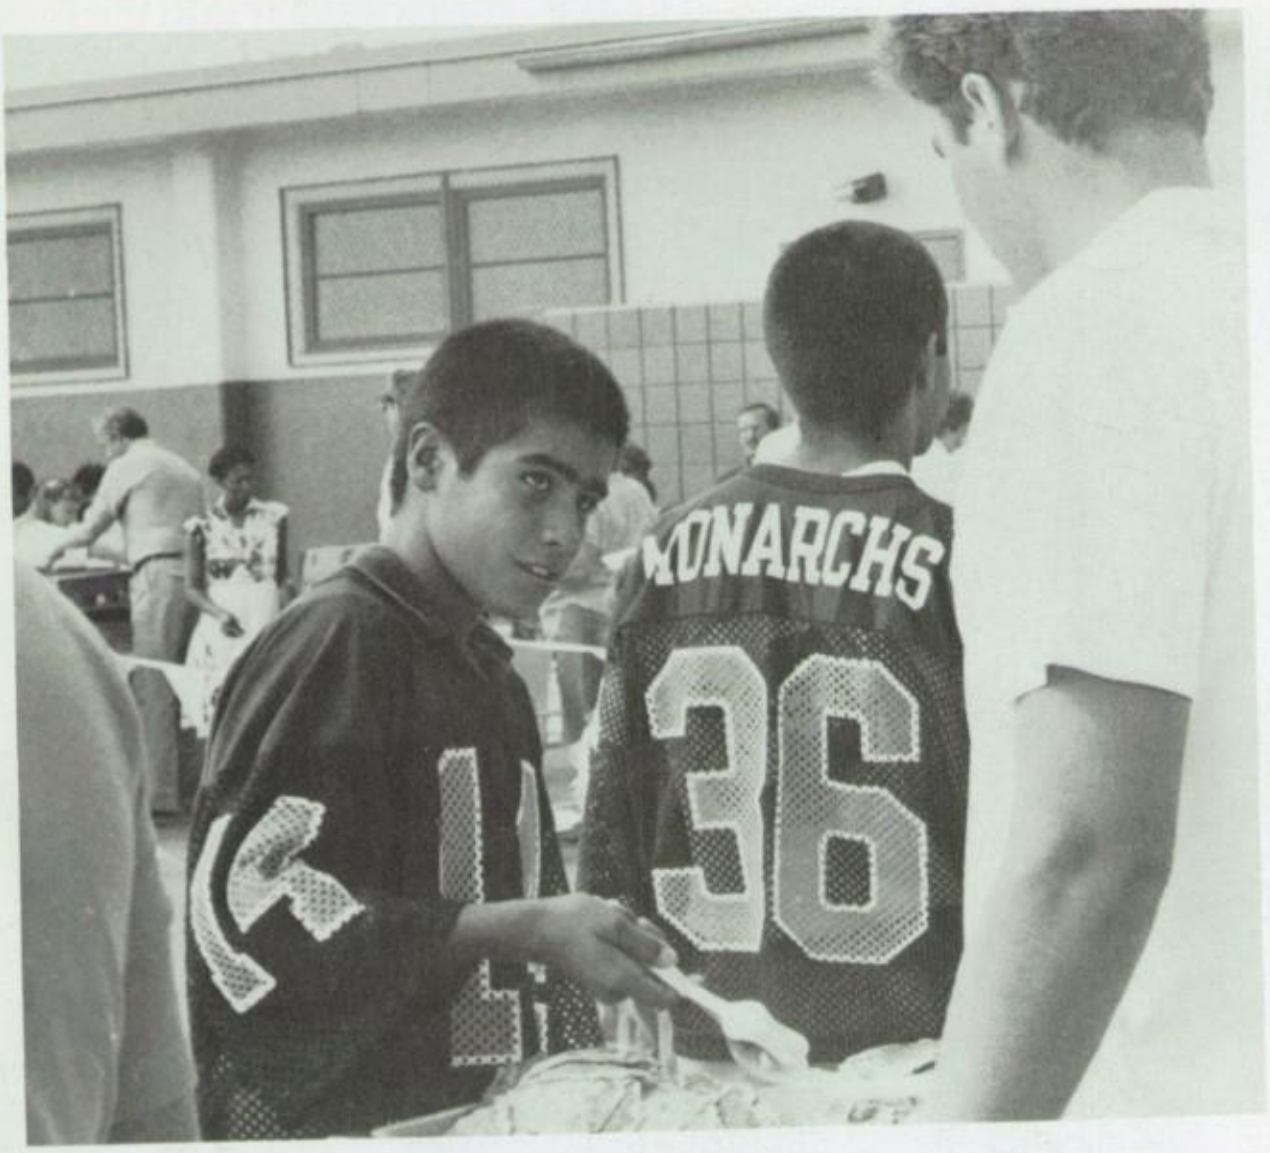
Football is a popular sport at a class picnic, and all Stacey Blodgett needs to do is open her eyes.



The new freshmen dress code? Not likely, Chris Peralta is only showing his class spirit.



"You want how many?" asks Rick Zimmer. The football team played a major role in making the pancake breakfast successful.

Eddie, Hey Dude!!
Algebra has been a blast! (Ha-Ha-Ha!) I'm glad I was in it with u - You made me feel almost smart!
Hope 2 have "Basic

FRESHMEN any more! Ya, 2
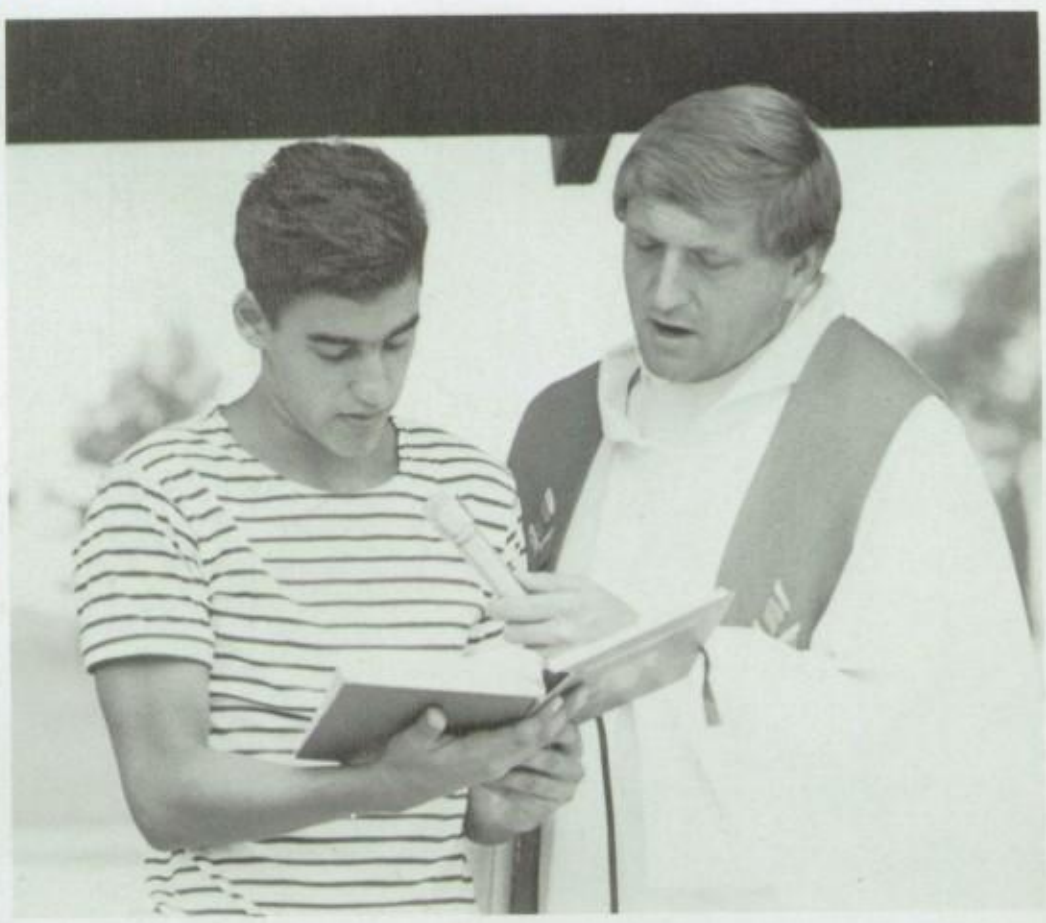
Shar!



Father Harris loves to get students involved. At the junior class picnic, Jimmy Canterella reads from the bible.

"Look they're taking our picture" says Joe Bell to his date.

Edbabie!
Its been mega
fun sittin' with ya

Nick Collins shows interest in a possible dance partner.

Ed
Hey! Have a really exciting summer. Looks like already picture perfect. See ya for it. Great next year
Love ya,
Jessa

During spirit week, these freshmen show off their dancing skills in the hula contest.

Having fun at the Thanksgiving Dance, Erin Blackman and friend demonstrate the latest steps.

Eddie,

It's been great having you in section, Spanish & Art! I hope I get some classes w/ you next year! You're a great friend! #

The year is almost over so have a blastin' Summer! But don't over due it!

Ed ;
what's up?
Not much here.
I'm real glad that we are friends. You are a blast to have in algebra! Have a terrific summer!

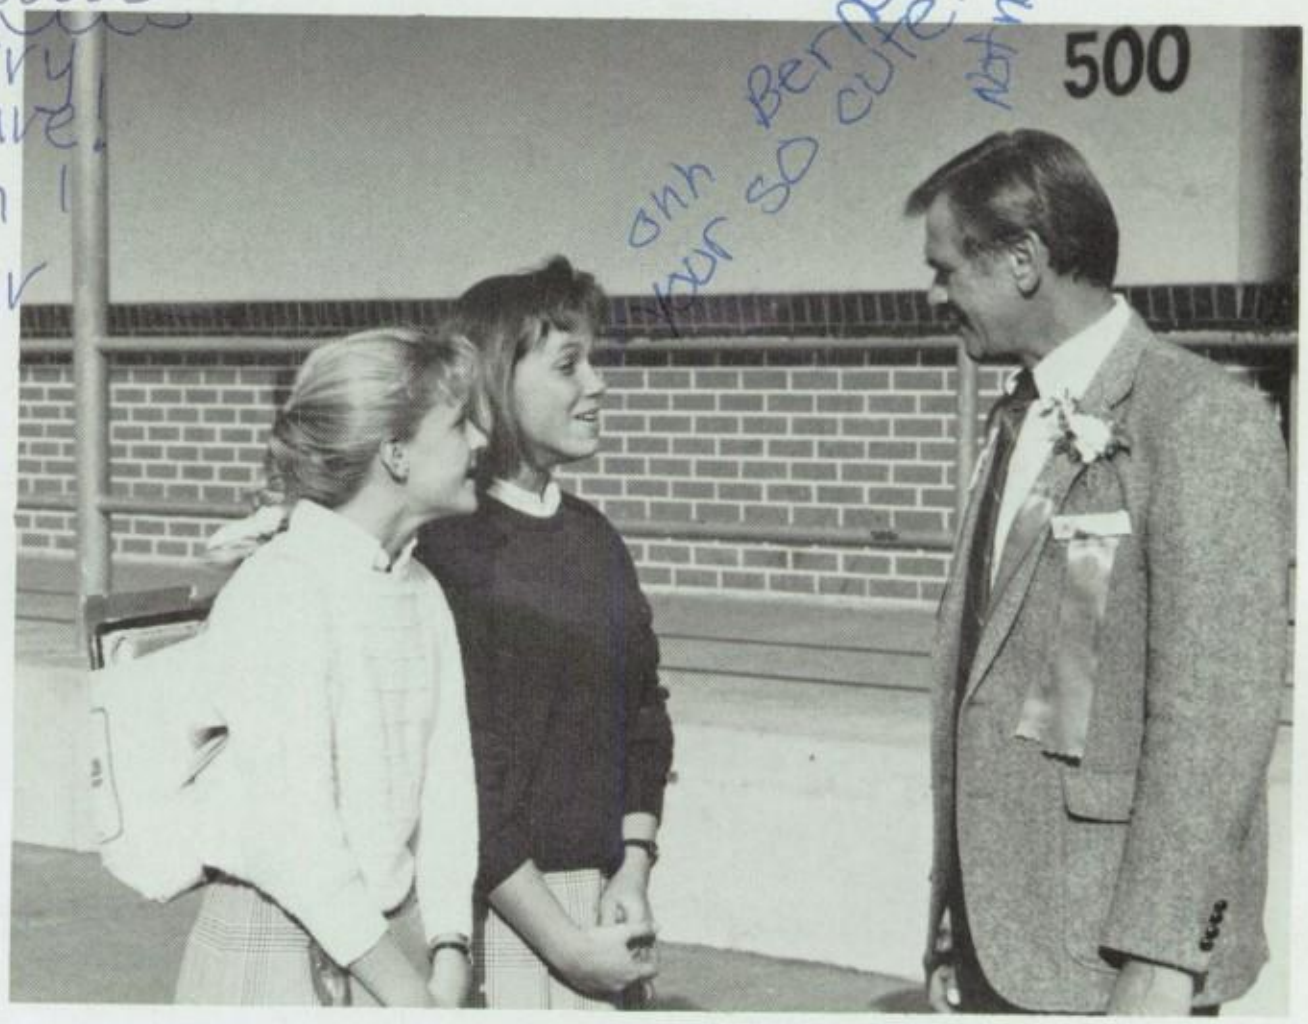
Tom Peabody concentrates to the fullest as he attempts a free throw.

Carrying on with cheer and enthusiasm, Christy Jewett and Mary Mesmer pose for the camera.

ED,
Spanish is soooo boring! I'm sorry about my picture. remember when I lost it? This year is almost over. I can't wait until summer! I'm glad we're friends!

Jenny Smith!



Amazed at how many spirit ribbons he is wearing, these girls stop to chat with Mr. Balsis.

Annalee Andres and Heather Nalle display what true friendship is all about.

Studying diligently, this student ponders over a difficult homework question.

Enjoying themselves at the senior picnic, Mike Kelly, Ingrid Harle, Leann Vanderhorst and Debbie Weight show the unity and love in the senior class.

Ed,
Hows it goin? That's good.
It's been really fun sittin in front of U in section (ever since Donald left). U r a really nice guy and I hope U have a really good summer. See Ya next year.
Luv ya

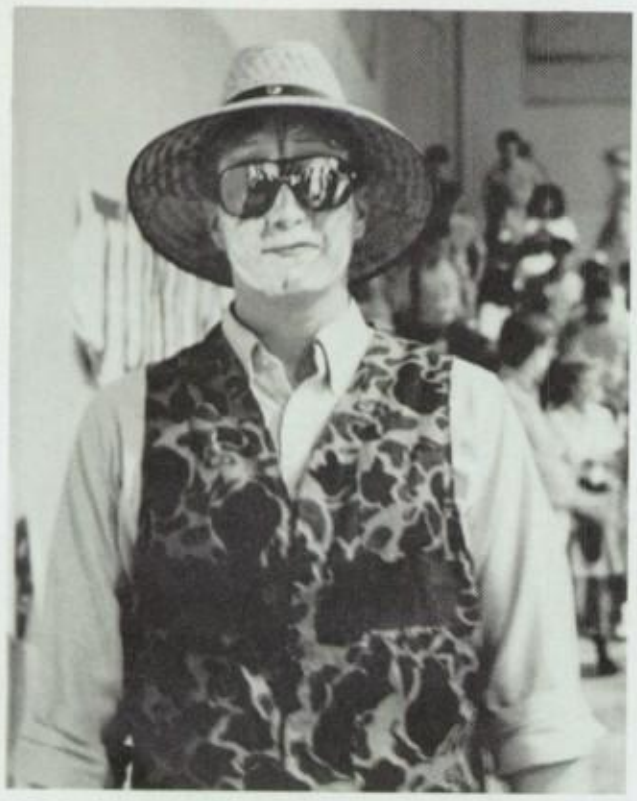
While celebrating senior spirit week Marie D'Hulst, Janet Baddon, Kami Brown, and Tiffany Felix pose in front of the Servite Friar.

Tina Thull is caught unexpectantly by the camera at the welcome dance.



During Junior Spirit week many juniors show their enthusiasm by dressing up.

Eddie,

It has been an extreme pleasure sitting next to you in (shh!) Spanish class. (Shh!) You have enlightened me (shh!) on interesting aspects (shh!) of this language. (Shh!) I hope that you have a great future and a good time at 'ole M.D.

Your friend, class of '86.

At the Senior Picnic, Maureen O'Brian shows her natural athletic ability while playing softball.

The freshmen spirit week was concluded with a limbo contest.

These students represent the close friendships which develop at Mater Dei.

Gina Ingram and Lisa McKenna, while at the senior picnic, show the unity and love in the senior class.

Tanya Downey and Alejandra Cerna laugh hysterically when they are surprised by the unexpected picture.

The freshmen spirit week was concluded with a limbo contest.

Gina Ingram and Lisa McKenna, while at the senior picnic, show the unity and love in the senior class.

Tanya Downey and Alejandra Cerna laugh hysterically when they are surprised by the unexpected picture.

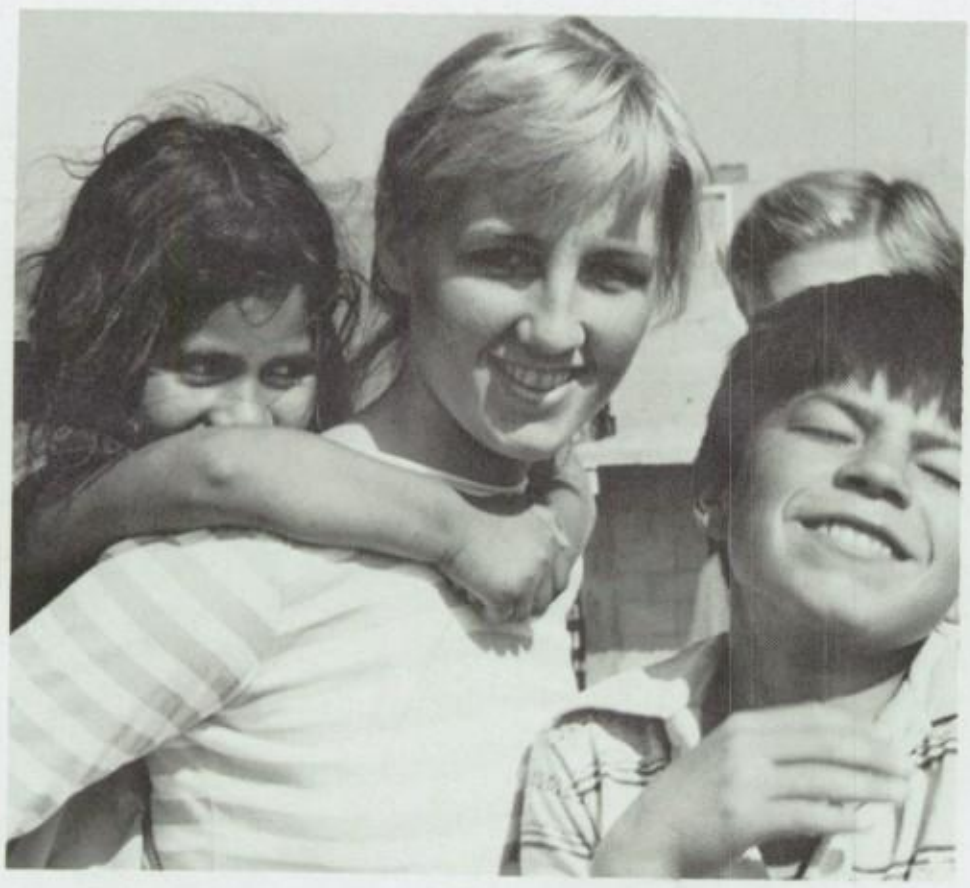
At the ever popular Sock Hop, Albie Anderman and Erin Blackman dip to the cool tunes of the 1950's.

Theresa Taugher and Christine Langer prove that support from a friend can be beneficial as is shown at the Junior Retreat.

Showing their enthusiasm at the Thanksgiving Dance, Father Gabriel and Miss Harrison dance to the beat of the music.

Unity is displayed at the sophomore picnic by the happy faces of Linda Sanchez and Martha Cisneros.

These senior-freshman section reps show their spirit and enthusiasm by participating in a tug- of- war at a rally.



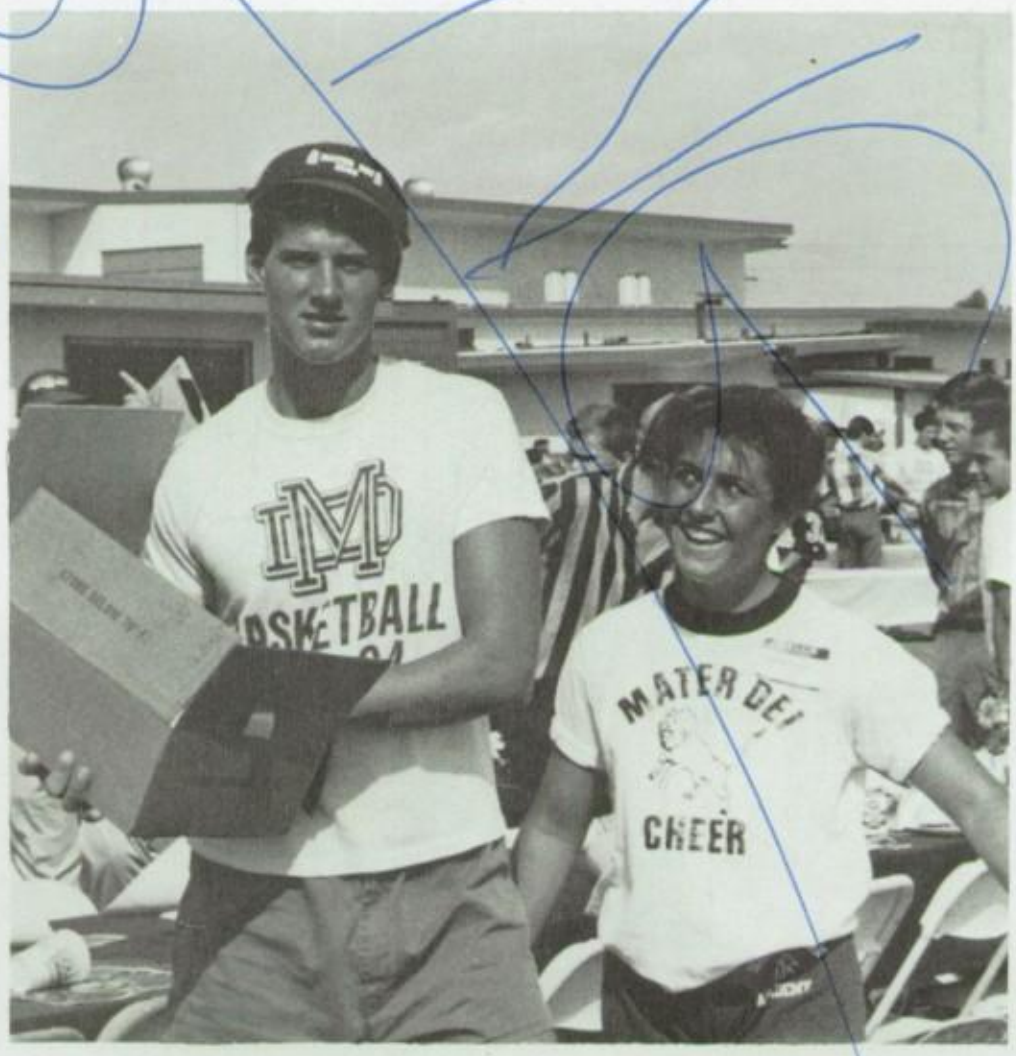
Participating in community service, Janette Wall gives a free ride to a poor Mexican girl in Tijuana.

Giving it her all, Laura Fort serves the ball in a volleyball game.

Dear Ed;
Aloha! How goes it?
I'm glad I had the priveledge to meet you. You're such a studly art student. I'll miss your unreal bubbles of gas! (B/K)
Love Ya
Lisa

While Maureen Daly gazes off in her own thoughts, Debbie Weight gives a big smile to the camera at the senior picnic.

Unity and closeness is an evident facet of Mater Dei as shown here by Lisa Oberly, Michele Steinmetz, and Marie Ann Dougherty.



Doing their part to make the pancake breakfast a success, Erik Quigley and Chris Somes help out on one of the serving shifts.

Hey Ed,
This year was great. I'm glad we're friends. Our section wouldn't be the same without you. Have a good summer. I'm sure I'll see ya around.

Trying to manuever his way out of a tight spot, this Servite Friar realizes too late that powerhouse Tim Haider is about to take him down.

Friends are an important part of student life at Mater Dei as Kurt Leyson, Michelle Dougherty, Nick Blankl, and Karen Rogan would agree.

-Eddie-
So how's Mrs. Elliott? I'm glad I got to know you this year! Maybe I'll see you during the summer! We've had a rad year!

Every year, Little Red Schoolhouse is shown to the freshmen by the seniors. Mayberry Flutter, played by Jamie Austin, shows his pleasure when Tubby Fink tells a funny joke.

But he's sooo cute!

Seniors Steve Morehouse and Bart Monge enjoy each others company during schooltime.

For their 1986 edition of Crown, the yearbook staff chose the theme of Royalty. This theme truly reflects the spirit and character that is prevalent at Mater Dei.

Our mascot, the Monarch, typifies the strength and persistence that is present in Mater Dei's athletic teams and other competing organizations. In the county, as well as the nation, our school is renowned for its achievements.

The name given to our campus, Mater Dei, extends to the royalty of God's kingdom with Mary as queen. It is in the unity of this kingdom that we grow spiritually, academically, and physically.

This supplement is just the beginning of Crown '86. As a preview of the yearbook, it serves as an autograph book to be inserted in August when the yearbooks arrive. We hope that you will enjoy it.

One of Mater Dei's new additions, Mrs. Diaz shows her spirit by participating in a toilet paper - wrapping contest at a sophomore rally.
